Future Queen of Denmark Visiting Here Two Days

Princess Margrethe, future queen of Denmark, and her husband, Prince Henrik, were due to arrive at Victoria International Airport at 2:25 this afternoon.

The royal couple will be guests of Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. George Pearkes at Government House during their two-day visit.

Talented and vivacious, the 27-year-old princess is visiting Victoria as part of a royal visit to Expo 67 and Western Canada.

A keen archaeologist, she is also a scholar in philosophy and political scence. Her family is the oldest royal line in Europe, descending from the Viking, Gorm the Old, who died about 950 AD.

The princess and her husband were married at Copenhagen last June. Prince Henrik was formerly Count Henri de Laborde de Monpezet, a French diplomat.

The royal couple were to be greeted at the airport this afternoon by Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. Pearkes and Attorney-General and Mrs. Robert Bonner.

At 10 a.m. Tuesday, the couple will drive to the Legislative Buildings along Rockland to Vancouver, Vancouver to Burdette and Humboldt and along Government to Belleville.

At 10:25 a.m., they leave for the City Hall via Belleville, Douglas and Pandora. At 11 a.m. they return to Government House by way of Pandora, Government, Fisgard, Douglas, Fort, Cook and Rockland.

They will leave Government House at 12:15 p.m. to attend a government luncheon at the Empress Hotel and will travel along Rockland Avenue, Quadra, Burdett, Douglas and Belleville, entering the hotel through the main entrance on Government.

At 2:10 p.m. they are to leave for the airport for their trip to Vancouver. Later they will make a flying trip to Tahsis on the west coast of Vancouver Island.

Mexican City in Danger From Rio Grande Flood

HARLINGEN, Tex. (UPI) — The Rio Grande, bearing "one of the greatest floods on record," smashed out dam after dam today along the diversion channels designed to hold in its banks. Mexican officials said the city of Matamoros could be "totally flooded" in 36 hours.

The mighty river, swollen to three times its normal size with the rains of Hurricane Beulah, smashed out a steel-and-concrete dam Sunday night in the Harlingen area and flooded a normally dry diversion channel.

Another barrier gave way today south of Mission, Tex., west of Harlingen near Anzalduas Dam.

THOUSANDS FLEE

Mexican officials at Reynosa said the dikes burst there early today and drove 10,000 persons from their homes. Federal authorities warned that Matamoros downstream could be "totally flooded" within 36 hours.

Ninety blocks of Reynosa, across the border from McAllen, Tex., were flooded. Lowlying farm fields in a 30 mile area from Harlingen to Mercedes, Tex., were flooded Sunday night when the Arroyo Colorado, normally a trickle, erupted into a raging torrent when the Rio Grande smashed through the dam.

The second dam gave way today, imperiling an area about four to five miles wide. Thousands of persons fled their homes in the two Texas areas.

CAUTIOUS FORECASTS

The Rio Grande was going down at Rio Grande City but the weather bureau said it "will experience one of the greatest floods on record during the next few days"

The levees at Brownville, 23 feet high, had been expected to hold, but officials began wording their predictions more cautiously, and the weather bureau said the Rio Grande would crest at Brownsville at between 20 and 21 feet Saturday.

All residents between the levees and the river were warned to flee for miles up from the gulf in case water spilled over the top.

DEATH TOLL 40

The Rio Grande was flowing at 161,000 cubic feet per second, compared with 50,000 normally, and six other Texas rivers were carrying record or near-record floods to the gulf for 200 miles up the Texas coast, ravaged for five days last week with Beulah's hurricane winds, tornadoes, and floods.

The death toll stood at 40—11 in Texas and 20 earlier in Mexico and Caribbean. The damage total was expected to approximate $1 billion and was still growing. Hundreds of thousands

Wrong Village

SAIGON (Reuters) — North Vietnamese living in a village four miles north of the demilitarized zone were mistakenly warned to leave the North or risk death in raids by American B-52 bombers, informed sources said here today.

A U.S. military spokesman said 240,000 leaflets were dropped Sunday by U.S. aircraft over the inland village of Ben Quang.

They told the inhabitants to save their lives by reporting to the nearest South Vietnamese outpost.

But the sources said the leaflets appeared to have been designed for dropping in the wake of B-52 strikes in South Vietnam and probably had been used in error in the North.

PM Admits Separatism Now a Major Concern

NEW SESSION BEGINS

It's New Look In Parliament

OTTAWA (CP) — A new-look Parliament reassembled today with John Diefenbaker, J. W. Pickersgill and Guy Favreau gone and Robert L. Stanfield guiding the Conservative Opposition from the galleries.

A rich legislative plate is being served for the occasion by the minority Liberal government, hoping for a new opposition mood with Mr. Stanfield.

Mr. Pearson told a press conference Sunday a statement on housing, a major problem because of lack of mortgage money, may open business.

A couple of minor bills probably would follow, then a few days on departmental spending estimates, with revision of broadcasting legislation to be introduced next week as the first big job.

ESSENTIAL LEGISLATION

With 44 sitting days available before the Christmas recess now set to begin Dec. 22, Mr. Pearson has set out 25 "essential" pieces of legislation he would like dealt with.

Among them are bills on divorce, abortion, birth control and capital punishment, with free votes to release MPs from party loyalties.

Standings in the Commons: Liberals 131; Conservatives 94; NDP 22; Creditistes 8; Social Credit 4; Independent 3; Vacant 3—Total 265.

OTTAWA (CP)—Parliament resumed after a summer recess today with a quick Conservative opener seeking an emergency debate on housing.

George Chatterton (PC — Esquimalt - Saanich) told the Commons there is a "deepening of the grave crisis" in housing.

There was laughter and sadness as the Commons picked up where it left off July 7.

There was sadness when the prime minister and other party spokesmen paid tribute to the late Mr. Favreau, former Liberal justice minister.

There was laughter—and loud Liberal applause—a few minutes later when H. A. Olson, MP for Medicine Hat, crossed the floor from his Social Credit seat to join the Liberals.

Mr. Olson said he had resigned from Social Credit and been accepted by the Commons group which supports the government.

"Which group is that?" an unidentified opposition MP shouted.

The seat of deposed opposition leader Diefenbaker remained vacant.

Mr. Stanfield watched the proceedings from the opposition gallery with Gene Rhe-

THANT ON VISIT

Navy Crew Dismantles Expo Bomb

By BORIS MISKEW

MONTREAL (CP) — Secretary - General U Thant of the United Nations ended a weekend trip to Canada Sunday night and showed more concern for the international situation than the discovery of a bomb during his tour of Expo 67.

The bomb — dismantled six minutes before it was scheduled to go off — was found near Expo's 15-nation Africa Place which was on the secretary-general's itinerary.

U Thant's visit to Africa Place was cancelled.

The bomb, consisting of a 3.5-inch rocket launcher projectile, was found on a canal bank about 20 feet from Africa Place and was dismantled by a Canadian navy bomb disposal unit.

A report that a second bomb had been planted at Expo was checked by police and proved to be false.

The report said a bomb would go off at Habitat 67. U Thant had been the guest of Pierre Dupuy, commissioner - general of Expo, who has an apartment at the futuristic urban housing project.

U Thant did not touch on the bomb incident during a brief statement to reporters at Montreal International Airport before his departure for New York.

GREATEST DANGER

The secretary - general said the H-bomb is the greatest danger facing the world today.

"This is the tragedy of our times," he said. "The moral development of man has not been able to catch up with his scientific development."

He praised Canada's support of the United Nations and her achievement in making Expo a success.

"I've been tremendously impressed with Expo," U Thant said, "not only with the exhibition but also with the theme, Man and his World."

The secretary - general visited a number of pavilions during his 28-hour stay in Canada,

. . . As Some Squeeze Others Are Biting

BELO HORIZONTE, Brazil (Reuters)—Antonio Silverio, 63, served a three-day jail sentence here for biting a mini-skirted girl. On his release Friday, he told the judge: "Pope Paul was right when he considered mini-skirts dangerous." Silverio said he could not resist the temptation to bite her thigh when the girl crossed her legs beside him on a bus.

IN HOUSE

Starr Named Interim Tory Leader

OTTAWA (CP) — Michael Starr has been named interim opposition leader, Robert Stanfield, new Conservative leader, announced today after a caucus of Conservative MPs.

The 56-year-old former labor minister who was a candidate for the Conservative leadership will also act as House leader for the Conservatives.

Mr. Starr will be interim opposition leader until Mr. Stanfield finds a Commons seat. He will run for the Commons in the Nova Scotia riding of Colchester-Hants in a byelection called for Nov. 6.

Mr. Stanfield might win the seat by acclamation on nomination day, Oct. 23, if no other candidates oppose him.

Mr. Stanfield told reporters that he proposed to the caucus that Mr. Starr, MP for Oshawa, be interim leader.

UNANIMOUS CHOICE

Caucus chairman J. Waldo Monteith said the decision was unanimous.

Mr. Starr said the overseeing of the operations of various government departments had been distributed among several Conservatives so that he would not always be in the forefront in questioning of the government benches.

Issue Discussed 'Very Seriously'

By VICTOR J. MACKIE
Times Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA — Prime Minister Pearson voiced grave concern over separatist developments in Quebec following a federal Liberal caucus here Sunday.

The caucus spent much time discussing how best to challenge separatism and strengthen the bonds of confederation.

"I was struck by how very, very seriously this is being taken," said Mr. Pearson at a press conference. He said he would be making a statement soon on the problem to Parliament and the nation.

Mr. Pearson bluntly pinpointed the Quebec issue as a "major matter" of concern to "the caucus, the cabinet, parliament and the country."

He forecast it would occupy a "great deal" of the time of Parliament over the next month to six weeks. It was obvious that the Liberal members of Parliament at their two-day sessions in advance of today's resumption of the centennial sessions of Parliament spent much time arguing over French-speaking problems and the danger that Quebec may split away from the other nine provinces.

Caucus chairman Russel Honey (Durham) said there was a general agreement on the course the Liberal party should follow. Progress had been made although a consensus hasn't yet been reached.

Strain and Worry at Caucus Meet

The press conference was held Sunday in advance of a reception for Liberal members and senators. The end of the weekend saw an easy relaxed atmosphere replace the strain and worry of the caucus, but the prime minister's concern showed through.

The press conference was called by Mr. Honey, but he only handled the questions until the subject of Quebec separatism came up.

Yes, he said in reply to a question, there had been "concern" expressed over Quebec.

(Some members confided later that there had been some highly emotional debates on the subject of Quebec.)

Mr. Honey said the Quebec discussion was a "continuing debate." He believed some progress had been made. He suggested that the mood of the caucus had been one "generally supporting" the position of Justice Minister Pierre-Elliot Trudeau that a "particular status" for Quebec couldn't be the solution to the problem.

It was at this point that Mr. Pearson intervened to handle reporters' questions about the Quebec discussions. He did not quite accept Mr. Honey's interpretation of the mood of the party's caucus. However he did not explain how they differed.

"All are concerned," said Mr. Pearson "over some of the statements" that have been coming out of Quebec.

He explained that this concern involved not only the caucus but also the cabinet and predicted it would take up much of the time of parliament in the next few weeks. He added:

"When we have crystalized our views in the light of still continuing developments, then I think it will be up to me as prime minister and leader of the party to make a statement."

Such statement might come within the next couple of months, he suggested, and he spoke of wanting to await further developments.

Asked when he would make this statement in Parliament Mr. Pearson replied: "I don't know . . . perhaps before long . . . perhaps there will be a full-dress debate on it in Parliament."

Then he said he would prefer to await the outcome of the November confederation conference of the provinces called by Premier John Robarts of Ontario. Ottawa will assign some top ranking "official observers" to sit in on that conference.

Mr. Pearson would also like to see what happens at the federal-provincial conference he will be calling in January or February, to write into the Canadian Constitution the Bill of Rights. It will direct the use of

New Minster For Cabinet

OTTAWA (CP) — Charles Granger has resigned as Newfoundland's minister of Labrador affairs and will become minister without portfolio in the federal cabinet, Prime Minister Pearson announced today in the Commons.

He will become Newfoundland's representative in the cabinet, succeeding J. W. Pickersgill who resigned as transport minister last week upon his appointment as the $40,000-a-year president of the new Canadian Transport Commission.

Mr. Granger, 55, was Liberal MP for Grand Falls - White Bay-Labrador from 1958 until 1966, when he resigned to join the Newfoundland cabinet.

He is expected to be Liberal candidate in a Nov. 6 byelection called for Bonavista-Twillingate, Mr. Pickersgill's former seat.

Three-Hour Clash Breaks Ceasefire

TEL AVIV (AP) — Egyptian and Israeli gunners battled across the Suez Canal ceasefire line again today in a three-hour clash which ended with a United Nations arranged ceasefire as evening fell, an Israeli Army spokesman said.

It was the eighth clash this month.

Earlier, Israel, indicating plans to stay put in some captured Arab lands, announced it will move Jewish settlers into occupied Syria and a captured Jordanian section where Israeli troops and helicopter gunners wounded 11 Arab terrorists Sunday.

Prime Minister Levi Eshkol announced Israel will resettle the area on the west bank of the Jordan River between Bethlehem and Hebron where Jewish pioneers lived until the first Arab-Israel war in 1949. Young, army-trained pioneers already are heading into the Golan Heights just beyond Israel's old border with Syria to start a new community. They will live in concrete huts along the Bonias ridge, a protected fortification for Syrian artillery firing at Israeli farms until the six-day June war ended with Israeli occupation of the area.

TERRORIST AREA

The area is within 40 miles of Nablus, an Arab town where Israeli army units said they captured 13 El Fatah terrorists and Soviet automatic arms, Czech mines and Syrian hand grenades Sunday.

Israel Wants Direct Talks

UNITED NATIONS (Reuters) —Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban was expected to stand firm today on his government's refusal to yield any occupied Arab territory until the Arab states dropped their belligerent posture.

First of the protagonists in the Middle East dispute to address the UN General Assembly at its new session, informants said he would again insist settlement of the crisis must be sought through direct talks between the Arab states and Israel.

WALKOUT 'TRADITION'

UNITED NATIONS (CP)—African and Asian delegates walked out of the United Nations General Assembly today when South African Foreign Minister Hilgard Muller went to the rostrum to speak in a general policy debate.

The walkout was the traditional demonstration by the UN's vigorous critics of South Africa's policy of racial separation.

MINI-SKIRT ESCAPADE UNNOTICED

Power of Press Protects Pincher

By EDDY GILMORE

LONDON (AP)—The Englishman is supposed to be the world's most avid reader of newspapers, and this court case may prove it.

It started in the first-class compartment of a London commuter train. It held five men and a shapely, 19-year-old blonde.

All six were reading newspapers.

One, Alphonso Cuypers, 58, was doing something else, too.

Sitting beside the blonde, he gently laid a hand on her mini-skirted knee.

"I thought it was an accident," she told a court hearing the case against Cuypers.

Slowly, the middle-aged man lifted his hand and pinched the girl's thigh.

"I'm sorry," said the girl, "but I'm married."

None of the other four passengers raised his head or so much as glanced her way, the blonde testified.

The girl's reaction didn't discourage the pincher. He went on with his campaign, both in words and pinches.

Their fellow passengers read on.

"Leave me alone," the blonde cried out.

Still no one noticed.

The man then took the girl's hand in his.

"Can I have my hand back?" she asked.

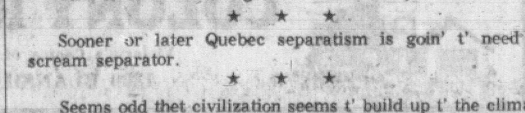
Still no one stirred—except the girl.

Rising to her feet, she denounced her fellow travellers for their indifference to her plight.

Prosecuting Cuypers, lawyer John Craven told the court: "I understand that everybody on this train—from Bromley north to Cannon Street London—buries himself in his newspaper, every morning and every evening."

Pleading guilty to a charge of offensive behavior, the pincher, married and the father of four children, said: "It was completely out of character for me."

He was fined the equivalent of $56.70.



Thet Beulah wuz a big blow in more ways than one.

SUBURBAN ELECTIONS

Reds Score In French Vote

PARIS (CP)—Communists who campaigned against President de Gaulle's domestic programs claimed surprising successes today in French regional council elections, including a near sweep of Paris' working class suburbs.

Gaullists scored gains too, particularly in country areas, but the Communists took 45 of the districts around Paris and backers of the French president only three in the first round of voting.

Communist influence in the industrial suburbs, often called the "Red belt," is traditionally strong, but their success surprised most observers.

Waldeck Rochet, French Communist party general secretary, said: "Our candidates made important gains throughout the country, but in the Paris area, the Communist candidates obtained percentages they had never got in the past."

SHOW GAINS

Partial official statistics from the interior ministry showed that, outside Paris, Communists won 23 per cent of the vote as compared to 21.6 in the last district elections in 1964. The Gaullists got 17 per cent compared with a previous total of 12.2.

Throughout the country the Communists won 119 seats and the Gaullists 193. But the greater Communist turnout—they had 1,082,000 votes to the Gaullists' 824,000—but did not mean more seats because most of it was piled up in winning races in safe areas.

Some 15,000,000 people voted to elect 1,764 general councillors to local parliaments in each of France's 93 departments.

A second round is scheduled for next Sunday in races where there was no clear majority. This run-off affects 123 districts around Paris.

The Communist campaign was aimed at turning the local elections into a referendum on de Gaulle's internal policies, particularly his reforms of the social security system.

There was no specific Communist grievance with de Gaulle's foreign policy. Much of it, in fact, is to their liking.

REACT IN BYELECTIONS

There was a distinct reaction against the Gaullists in three byelections for national assembly seats invalidated as a result of alleged irregularities at the general election in March but the electors returned the same three opposition candidates as before with greatly increased majorities.

The results left the Gaullists with the same precarious majority of one seat in the 487-seat assembly.

The most dramatic Gaullist setback was in Mortagnez, Normandy, where Centre Democrat candidate Roland Boudet defeated his Gaullist opponent by about 11,000 votes, compared with only 125 last March.

Of the seven members of the French government up for election to local councils, all but five were re-elected in the first round voting. The other two went through to next Sunday's deciding ballot.

including the pavilions of the United Nations, Canada, the United States, the Soviet Union, Britain, Czechoslovakia, France, India and his homeland, Burma.

OFFERS PAVILION

He offered the $625,000 concrete and glass UN pavilion to the city of Montreal and said he envisages the Expo site becoming a permanent international centre.

U Thant's visit to Montreal came during a cold and rainy weekend and in the midst of a strike by Montreal bus and subway workers.

But despite the walkout, visitors to Expo — most of whom normally use the bus and subway system to get to the fair—turned out in large numbers.

Saturday's attendance at Expo was 261,944 and another 209,360 turned out by midnight Sunday night, bringing total attendance to more than 42,600,000 since the opening of the six - month fair last April 27.

The bomb found near Africa Place was set to go off at 5 p.m., 40 minutes before U Thant was scheduled to tour the pavilions.

An Expo source said the bomb might only have "blown a few windows" had it gone off and that it had not been determined which of the pavilions had been the target of the device.

SECOND SCARE

The second bomb scare came after the secretary - general had left the Expo site for the airport.

An Expo spokesman said the scare was started when a piece of paper towelling was found on a fire-alarm box on the fifth floor of the west section of Habitat.

The message said a bomb would go off at 9:30 p.m. in Habitat. The section of the housing project was immediately evacuated and a bomb disposal squad was called.

The squad, however, found nothing suspicious and the evacuated guests of Habitat were allowed to return to their apartments.

of persons were out of their homes.

More than 300,000 persons live in Matamoros, across the river from Brownsville, and its suburbs, but more thousands were there because of earlier evacuation from the low-lying countryside.

EVACUATION URGED

Jose Hernandex Teran, minister of hydraulic resources for Mexico, said Matamoros "is in imminent danger of total flooding within the next 36 hours and it is essential that by Monday night the entire population should find refuge in the highest possible places."

He urged residents to climb to the second and third stories of buildings anywhere so that they will not be overtaken by flood waters during the night.

Throughout South Texas, while stretches of countryside still looked like a huge lake. Roads disappeared into the water, cattle struggled through the mud. Snakes menaced refugees.

Three houses were seen floating down the Rio Grande.

A team of congressmen flew over today and said they were "astounded" at the damage. President Johnson was expected to declare South Texas a disaster area and the White House said teams of federal experts were working up the preparatory information today.

The weather bureau said the levees at Brownsville were 23 feet high and the river would crest there at between 20 and 21 feet Saturday. The Rio Grande was falling upstream at Rio Grande City, badly flooded two days ago.

Six other rivers in south Texas experienced massive flood crests from Beulah's rains of more than 20 inches, but they were falling today.

French "everywhere in Canada" on a basis of equality with English.

The prime minister also indicated he was hoping that the royal commission on bilingualism and biculturalism might have a useful contribution to make towards the Quebec problem.

It was at this point that the prime minister startled the reporters by observing: "I was struck by how very very seriously this is being taken."

He indicaated that he expected progress would come out of the two constitutional meetings now scheduled. If progress is made at those meetings the next stage would be a full dress parliamentary debate, probably in 1968. If progress is not made there perhaps would be a feeling that such a debate would be useless.

REPORT MAY HELP

The reports of the B and B commission and the special committee on constitutional change will be also factors in determining the federal government's approach. Mr. Pearson hopes to get the B and B report before the end of 1967.

The prime minister was again asked if he had located a copy of the alleged "blueprint" for separation in five years said to have been drawn up by the Quebec government.

"Not a trace," said Mr. Pearson.

The prime minister was reported last weekend to have before him a copy of the "blueprint" and its existence was said to have agitated the cabinet. But Mr. Pearson had denied the reports declaring he is unaware of any such five-year plan for separation alleged to have been drawn up by Premier Daniel Johnson's Union Naationale government.

The caucus also concerned itself with taxes and government spending, the rising cost of living, agriculture, labor and management relations, housing and foreign affairs.

Senator John Nichol of Vancouver, president of the National Liberal Federation, was at the caucus.

He said that neither he nor the caucus saw any sign or showed any expectation of a general election before the regular four-year period for the government had expired in 1969.

Unitarians Hold Party For Members

Victoria's Unitarian Church held a wine and cheese party in the Servetus Hall Friday for members and friends.

"We have no prejudice against alcohol in moderation," a church spokesman said. "our wine and cheese party was an informal get-together for members, new members and friends and the rule of moderation was followed.

"We also injoyed games of darts and stimulating conversation."

Membership in the Unitarian Church is now close to 200 members. Dr. Paul Gareau, a plastic surgeon, is president and Dr. Douglas Alcorn, Victoria psychiatrist, is a member of the board.

A special committee is now working on the appointment of a minister to succeed Marvin Evans, who resigned last June to take a teaching post in Seattle.

5 Persons Lost In Boat Mishap

COOS BAY, Ore. (AP)—Five persons apparently were swept to death Sunday into heavy surf on the Coos Bay bar.

The body of Mrs. Scott Padgett, 39, Coquille, was found today on Bastendorf Beach about a half mile south of the jetty at the entrance to the bay.

Wreckage of the 22-foot cruiser Sea Weed was scattered along the beach.

Martin Wants China Inside UN

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont. (CP) — A "reasonable and just way" must be found to bring Communist China into the United Nations, External Affairs Minister Martin said Sunday.

This is a step in the necessary striving for "universality in the organization," he told the opening meeting of the Kiwanis clubs district convention.

". . . The question of Chinese representation must be handled in a reasonable and just way which will enable Communist China to participate in the organization."

The UN will not be a truly satisfactory system for international security "until its members commit themselves to the principles of internationalism — commit themselves slowly and cautiously perhaps, but nevertheless commit themselves to this goal," Mr. Martin said.

"In the long run elements of our sovereignty must be transferred from the state to the family of states if the UN is to succeed . . ."

Mr. Martin suggested there must be better planning, more equitable financing and better operating conditions for UN peacekeeping forces.

There should be greater contributions on the part of the developed nations to economic programs to help less-developed countries and the great powers must be leaders in co-operating with the aims and objectives of the international body, the minister said.

Text of his speech was released to the press in advance of delivery.

34 Missing After Storm

FRANKFORT, Mich. (AP)—Hundreds of weekend fishermen, who came to battle an exciting game fish, ended up in a struggle with a killer storm that left seven dead.

The Saturday squall that lashed a fleet of boats along 60 miles of Lake Michigan shoreline sent some of the anglers home vowing they'd never let out another line for the Coho salmon. The shoreline was strewn with hundreds of grounded boats after the storm.

Lt. (J. G.) John Shioli, coordinating the search from the coast guard station in nearby Traverse City, said telephone calls from anxious relatives today boosted the number of missing fishermen to 34.

Shioli appealed to fishermen who survived the storm to notify the coast guard and their relatives. He said most of the 34 may be alive, still trying to salvage their boats, or en route home without bothering to notify anyone they are safe.

"The atmosphere was that of a Roman holiday," said Louis Jeske of Spring Lake, a veteran angler who put in at Point Betsie as the squall built up.

Jeske said many of the fishermen were "ill-equipped, ill-advised and ill-informed."

IGNORE WARNINGS

Since Labor Day weekend, thousands of fishermen have been lured to the area around the mouths of the Platte and Manistee Rivers where the Coho gather before swimming upstream to spawn in their home waters where they were planted as fingerlings by the Michigan Conservation department two years ago.

The red flag, signifying small craft warnings, was lowered at Sunday afternoon for the first time in three days for this northern stretch of Lake Michigan.

Despite the warnings, fishermen, estimated at between 1-000 and 2,000 went out on the lake Saturday

The storm swamped and capsized scores of boats struck by winds up to 30 miles an hour and waves as high as 25 feet.

Nineteen persons were treated at hospital in Frankfort for shock and exposure.

Viet Cong Invited To Quebec

MONTREAL (CP) — A Quebec student leader said today his group has invited three members of the National Liberation Front of South Vietnam to visit the province and that they are expected within the next two or three weeks.

The National Liberation Front is the political arm of the Viet Cong guerrilla organization.

Pliierre Lefrancois, president of l'Union generale des etudiants du Quebec — The General Union of Quebec Students — said in an interview:

"Two men and one woman are coming from l'Union des etudiants pour la liberation du Sud-Vietnam— the Union of Students for the Liberation of South Vietnam — an affiliate of the National Liberation Front.

During their say, the three students would visit Montreal, Quebec City, Trois-Rivieres, Sherbrooke, the Lake St. John, lower St. Lawrence and northwest Quebec regions.

"They will speak to union groups and try to put their views to as wide a section of the Quebec population as possible," said Mr. Lefrancois.

YOUNG LIBERALS

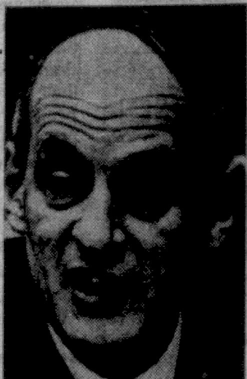
Independence Manifesto Voted Down

By STAN McDOWELL
Times Ottawa Bureau

QUEBEC CITY — Rene Levesque's independence manifesto lost a show of strength forced on by its supporters Sunday at the annual meeting of the Quebec Young (provincial) Liberal Federation.

A resolution endorsing Mr. Levesque's plan for an independent Quebec that would associate with the rest of Canada in a form of common market was voted down 71 to 55 in a secret ballot.

LESAGE



LEVESQUE

The defeat does not affect the status of the Levesque proposal as a document to be studied by the senior party association, the Quebec Liberal Federation, at its annual congress October 13-15.

Checked Buildup

But it checked the efforts of Levesque supporters to build up momentum behind the plan for pulling Quebec out of confederation.

Shortly tfeer the resolution was defeated, party leader Jean Lesage urged the young members of his party to work for the strengthening of Quebec and the improvement of the lot of French-Canadians within Canada.

"Let no one ask me," he said at the closing banquet of the two-day meeting, "at the moment when we have, after such great effort, conquered obstacles which appeared insurmountable, to backtrack and leave a million of our compatriots scattered across the country to their fate.

"Let no one ask me to give up the struggle and leave to the rest of Canada, with whom we will have to negotiate in any case, the exclusive benefit of the immense riches which exist elsewhere in Canada."

Autonomy

But Mr. Lesage said Quebec must pursue its fight for the greatest possible autonomy consistent with the survival of Canada, even if this required that the existing form of federalism by completely transformed.

It was no secret at the yojng Liberal meeting that a victory for the Levesque manifesto would have been embarrassing to Mr. Lesage.

The party leader, who fears Premier Daniel Johnson will call an election if next month's Liberal congress shows the party deeply divided, hopes to avoid an open showdown over the Levesque plan at the congress.

Mr. Levesque has already suggested the possibility of a "regroupement" among members of the Liberal and Union Nationale parties, both of which have some members who favor Quebec independence.

Mr. Levesque refused Saturday, after presenting his arguments for independence to the young Liberals, to go into more details on the subject of a political realignment until he sees what reception his views receive at next month's Liberal congress.

May Wait

However, he told reporters that he might be willing to wait until a later congress, in June 1968, for his party to pronounce itself on his manifesto, if there were evidence that his views would be considered seriously.

The Levesque proposal was not expected to be voted on at the young Liberal meeting.

But young supporters of the former welfare minister, encouraged by the almost unanimous enthusiasm the proposal appeared to arouse at the first session of the constitutional committee Saturday afternoon, decided to help it along.

Sunday morning a resolution endorsing Mr. Levesque's plan was submitted to the constitutional committee.

After an attempt to have the resolution sent on to the senior party organization without a vote had been narrowly defeated, the resolution was carried by the constitutional committee on a tight vote of 43 to 20.

This decision was reversed, 71 to 55, by the Sunday afternoon plenary session.

Secret Ballot

Although the ballot was secret, on the request of a delegate who opposed the Levesque plan, the increased strength of the opposition was believed to have come mainly from the delegates who had served on committees dealing with economic rather than constitutional problems.

The reports of committees on labor and manpower, protection of consumers, and rural and economic development, were run through perfunctorily at the plenary session Sunday afternoon.

All the resolutions coming from these committees were approved unanimously with few questions asked by delegates impatient to get to the showdown on the Levesque proposal.

A majority of the speakers in the final debate were Levesque supporters—one of them urged his fellows to vote for independence in a manner "worthy of Canadian citizens who can stand erect."

They consistently rejected the argument that independence would have any ill effect on the standard of living of the Quebec population.

Special Status

And they brushed off fears, raised by opponents of the plan that once Quebec had seized its independence the rest of Canada might not necessarily be willing to go along with the sort of close, common-market partnership Mr. Levesque proposes.

Opponents of the independence resolution did not argue that the present constitution be preserved. They favored a special status for Quebec, or a confederation of two associate states arrived at without going to the extreme of full independence.

Buddhists Protest

SAIGON (AP)—Buddhists and students demonstrated in Saigon, Da Nang and Hue Sunday against South Vietnam's President-elect Nguyen Van Thieu. A militant Buddhist sect in Saigon joined political opponents of Thieu in demanding nullification of the Sept. 3 presidential and senatorial elections as fraudulent.

S. AFRICA ANGERED OVER THANT COMMENT

VOLKSRUST, South Africa (AP) — Premier Balthazar J. Vorster berated U Thant in a speech here Saturday and said, "I reject with contempt" the UN Secretary-General's criticism of white rule in South Africa.

Referring to Thant's condemnation of colonialism in southern Africa at the opening of the General Assembly last week, Vorster said:

"We have never been colonialists. South Africa is a fatherland. We have tamed it and built it all, and U Thant and his like shall not take this country from our hands."

He blamed Thant for stirring up black African unrest against his country and said: "South Africa is getting more and more tired of this sort of instigation.' '

OAS Approves Cuba Boycott

WASHINGTON (Reuters)—Western Hemisphere foreign ministers Sunday night voted to boycott all ships carrying goods to and from Cuba.

The boycott decision was contained in an over-all resolution hammered out during a three-day Organization of American States meeting here and presented to its final session Sunday night.

The main resolution condemned the regime of Fidel Castro and its support of subversion in Latin America and called on OAS member countries to further isolate Cuba from the outside world.

Twenty of the 21 member countries attending the meeting favored the over-all resolution with Mexico abstaining. Chile, Ecuador, Colombia and Uruguay joined Mexico in abstaining on the shipping boycott proposal.

LOSE BLACK-LISTING BID

The U.S. lost a bid for hemisphere blacklisting of non-Communist firms doing business with Cuba.

Under the shipping proviso non-Communist vessels going to Cuba would be denied fuelling facilities in Latin American ports and would get no government-financed cargoes.

OAS sources today predicted adoption of the new anti-subversion measures probably would take several months to go into effect.

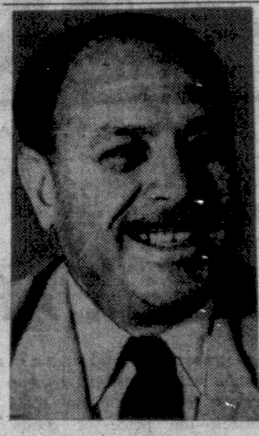
In recent months, Latin American diplomats privately and publicly predicted that further economic sanctions would not work and U.S. officials acknowledged that a 1964 OAS ban on most hemisphere trade and transportation links with Cuba did not stop Castro's enthusiasm for exporting revolution.

The United States and some Latin American countries have discouraged through diplomatic pressure an unknown quantity of trade credits for Cuba from countries outside the hemisphere.

New diplomatic approaches were expected to be made to the major free world countries trading with Havana such as Canada, Spain, Britain, France, West Germany and Japan.

LATINS MORE UNIFIED

Despite the differences reflected in the abstaining votes, U.S. State Secretary Dean Rusk said the meeting demonstrated that Latin American countries are more unified and more determined than ever before to ensure that Cuba does not disrupt the peace and freedom of the hemisphere.



PRESIDENT Ayub Khan of Pakistan arrived in Moscow today to begin a seven-day visit to Russia. During talks with Soviet officials, he is expected to ask for a supply of Russian arms and increased economic aid.

Latin America Moving Leftward

WASHINGTON (AP) — "The politics of Latin America is unquestionably moving leftward," says a report by the U.S. Senate foreign relations committee staff.

The report, released Saturday night, says the United States cannot change that fact, but it might be able to help assure the movement is controlled by Latin Americans themselves.

The alternative, the staff report says, would be domination from Moscow, Havana or Peking.

The study on political aspects includes these observations:

1. The traditional Latin American way of life "is incompatible with industrialization and this has produced a mass psychological dilemma. The people want the products of an industrial society, but they do not want the kind of social organization and habits of life which industrialization implies."

2. The problem of adjustment to industrialization is more difficult for Latin Americans now "because of the exploding rate of technological progress."

3. Political systems that served Latin America reasonably well for four centruies "are quite incapable of dealing with social change on the scale which is now occurring.

4. Latin Americans have a love-hate complex toward the United States: "They admire North American efficiency and technical competence and at the same time are a little frightened by it. They see themselves unable to compete and thereby losing control of their own countries."

N. VIETS WARNED TO JOIN SOUTH

'Rain of Death' Predicted

SAIGON (AP)—As the blasting back and forth across South Vietnam's northern frontier went into its third week, U.S. planes dropped leaflets urging North Vietnamese villagers to join the South, officials said today.

In an unprecedented move, some 240,000 leaflets were dropped in a village just above the border warning of "the terrible rain of death and destruction" caused by B-52 bombing attacks in the area.

Meanwhile, Gen. William C. Westmoreland, the U.S. commander in Vietnam, said because of allied victories during the last two years, "we are now in a position from which the picture of ultimate military success may be viewed with increasing clarity."

He told South Korean troops in Saigon the southern allies "have taken tremendous strides toward military victory over the past two years."

HIT COMMAND POST

In the border battle, Communist gunners fired more than 300 rounds today at Con Thien, a U.S. marine outpost just 2 miles below the demilitarized zone. Marine commanders refuse to give up the post, saying it holds a commanding position overlooking Communist infiltration routes down from the DMZ, where North Vietnam has perhaps 35,000 troops.

The B-52s mentioned in the leaflets have been trying to take the Communist pressure off Con Thien.

One leaflet told the North Vietnamese: "These aircraft will come back to give quick death. You all do not have much time to make another choice."

The B-52s struck twice Sunday night and again today at Communist gun positions buried inside the DMZ. The bombers now have flown 79 strikes since mid-August in support of Con Thien and nearby outposts.

Con Thien and another marine outpost, Cap Carroll, were hit with about 125 rounds of artillery and rocket fire Sunday that left four marines dead and 48 wounded, the U.S. command said.

HEAVY CASUALTIES

The marines have suffered, by unofficial count, 61 dead and 785 wounded since Sept. 1 in shellings of the outposts. Most of the casualties have been taken at Con Thien. The Communists have about 100 artillery pieces aimed at the American positions.

50 Members Of Congress Ask Viet Test

WASHINGTON (AP) — Fifty members of the U.S. House of Representatives proposed today that Congress take a formal look at U.S. policy in the Vietnam war.

Forty-six Republicans and four Democrats proposed a resolution asking Congress to decide "whether further congressional action is desirable in respect to policies in Southeast Asia."

As they prepared their move:

—Arthur J. Goldberg, U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, said Sunday he does not believe Soviet rejection of his bid for help in getting North Vietnam to the conference table has wrecked peace hopes.

—Senator Karl Mundt (Rep., S.D.) said Saturday night the United States indirectly told China several years ago it would face massive retaliation, including nuclear firepower, if it entered the war in Vietnam. The state department said no one has been threatened and the White House declined comment on Mundt's remarks.

ADVOCATES PAUSE

—Walter P. Reuther, president of the United Automobile Workers, advocated a pause in bombing of North Vietnam "for a period until I think that we have done everything reasonably possible to exhaust the possibilities of new initiatives that might lead to the conference table." He didn't specify the length of the pause.

Signers of the latest move in Congress to test U.S. policy in Vietnam range in political philosophy from conservative to liberal.

The resolution, if approved by the House and Senate, would call upon congressional committees to consider the questions and report their finding to the two legislative bodies.

Mundt, elaborating to a report on remarks he made at a Chicago press conference, said the Chinese were notified "we would hit them with everything we've got" if they entered the war.

He said he learned this at a closed Senate committee session at the end of the Kennedy administration or beginning of the Johnson administration.

Senator Joseph Clark (Dem. Pa.) said he has heard that because of accelerated bombing, "the Russians are going to come in with Russian crews and Russian MiGs and we'll have a first class air war on our hands."

"And I must say . . . if you try to put yourself in the enemy's shoes why in the world wouldn't the Russians send their air force in."

Why Not in B.C.?

THERE WAS LITTLE IN THE approach of last week's UBCM convention to provincial-municipal financial relations to suggest a change at present or hope for the future. Only Victoria's Mayor Stephen raised a demand for better terms from the provincial government and a call to carry out a study of fiscal relations with or without the government's help. The municipalities' reaction suggested more a fear of stirring up antagonism from the all-powerful provincial regime than of satisfaction with the present situation.

Obviously the hodge-podge of political expedients which serves as a financial policy in British Columbia is satisfactory to no part of the public. Mr. Bennett's unique creation of Santa Claus in boxing gloves is no substitute for an equitable financial program.

The Premier's bland reply to criticism is that British Columbians enjoy the best financial treatment in the nation. This is far from the case. Almost every province has initiated better consultation between government and municipalities. The exhaustive study of the whole question recently completed by Ontario shows what can be done by a government alive to the rights of the junior governments rather than the convenience of the provincial administration. Mr. Bennett has carried his fear of change to the point of refusing even to discuss grievances with the municipalities.

He certainly does not dare to approach the responsibilities outlined in the terms of reference of the Ontario special commission. Its members were ordered to "inquire into and report upon the taxation and revenue system of our province of Ontario and its municipalities and school boards in relation to their expenditures, the tax and revenue sources available to them, their debts and other financial obligations, with a view to determining whether, within the constitutional limitations existing and having regard to present and potential financial requirements, such tax and revenue system is as simple, clear, equitable, efficient, adequate and as conducive to the sound growth of our province as can be devised. . ."

It is easy to imagine what such a commission would have to say about the Topsy-like British Columbia situation, and hence to understand Mr. Bennett's distaste for any such investigation. The terms "simple, clear, equitable, efficient and adequate" just don't apply to the rickety structure of personal grants, individual handouts and arbitrary austerity that Mr. Bennett has clamped upon the municipalities.

The Ontario commission found numerous injustices and inequities and Premier Robarts moved to rectify some of them immediately. Must British Columbia wait for a change of government before it gets more than refusals and excuses when even a look at reform is mentioned?

Political Maelstrom

AFTER THE RECENT DEMONSTRATION that a form of democratic election could be held in South Vietnam — at least in that part secure from the Viet Cong — is the Saigon government slipping back into authoritarian ways?

The question is vitally important, for on the thesis that the new government of president-elect General Nguyen Van Thieu has a clear mandate from the people, the United States will rest its claim to be liberating the people of South Vietnam from foreign aggression. Despite the endorsement of the election given by President Johnson's "blue ribbon" committee, considerable cynicism has surfaced from American and other foreign observers with experience in Vietnam.

Since the election there have been several significant events. The peace candidate, Mr. Truong Dinh Dzu, who polled a surprisingly heavy vote and was the runner-up, has been arrested by the government on what sound like vague charges of evading tax and currency regulations. This took place just after Mr. Dzu had publicly charged election irregularities and had protested American influence in Vietnamese affairs.

Correspondents report ever more serious incidents of anti-American and anti-government demonstrations among the country's students, the militant Buddhists and the peasants living in the less secure parts of the country. Several Saigon newspapers which have printed articles critical of American influence in the election have been warned by the ministry of information that they risk being shut down, despite the fact that freedom of the press was one of the first guarantees laid out in the new constitution.

The struggle for power goes on between General Thieu and Marshal Ky with generals and other high-ranking officers being removed from their posts. Ostensibly this is part of General Thieu's anti-corruption campaign, but it has been noted that the officers being dismissed are friends and proteges of Marshal Ky. It is a question whether Marshal Ky, stripped of all real power under the constitution as vice-president, will be content with a figure-head role.

The mandate of the incoming Saigon government is a thin one and this may be the most critical factor in the all-important support of the American people for President Johnson's conduct of the war. If the current desperate attempt to break North Vietnam through intensified bombing fails, and the political situation in South Vietnam continues to deteriorate, the United States may be forced to consider terms considerably less than total victory.

Progress on Traffic Pollution

IT IS GRATIFYING TO HEAR Mr. Norman Clark, assistant general manager of the Motor Vehicle Manufacturer's Association, express the conviction that manufacturers will have no difficulty in meeting Ontario government requirements for exhaust control devices on 1969 models.

Ontario has moved more quickly than other provinces on this issue, presumably because the problem of exhaust fumes is greater in that region than elsewhere in Canada. The situation is worse in certain parts of the United States, and the Americans have made exhaust control devices mandatory on 1968 models.

Since the American manufacturers will have to include the devices on models one full year ahead of Canadians, it is difficult to understand the misgivings of a spokesman for General Motors of Canada. He hesitates "to think the Ontario government would go so far as to dictate what the North American automobile industry will do." That is off the mark, inasmuch as Congress will make the bulk of the North American automobile industry do it one year earlier.

". . . all right Rusk . . . make a run . . ."

Voices From Quebec

Granby La Voix de L'Est

The minister of cultural affairs has just announced a program destined to make French the working language in Quebec province.

For once, Mr. Jean-Noel Tremblay is realistic. He does not espouse the cause of unilingualism and he does not condemn bilingualism. He sticks to the policy enunciated by Mr. Johnson: Assert the rights of our people without disregarding the rights of others. . . .

The sole intention of the minister, if we interpreted his words properly, is to engage the government and Quebec in general in a fight to improve the written and spoken language and to make its use general in all sections of our society.

To this end, he is creating organizations to purify the administrative language and to improve its image. He is intensifying the work of the French-language bureau and recommends several measures designed to give Quebec a true French visage.

Naturally Mr. Tremblay is aware of the difficulty of the task. He stresses, not without reason, that while the government can do much, it alone cannot arouse the pride of our people and force them to speak their language well. French-Canadians, he said, must take their responsibilities and insist on French everywhere. . . .

If the people refuse to co-operate, the announced measures will give meagre results.

Trois-Rivieres LeNouvelliste

What is going on in the camp of Mr. Daniel Johnson? The Premier of Quebec said last June 4 that in the weeks ahead he would announce a cabinet shuffle. The days, the weeks and even the months have followed one another without Mr. Johnson deciding to go through with his project. This week the enigmatic premier announced the appointment of two new parliamentary assistants: Mr. Jean-Paul Beaudry in trade and commerce and Dr. Robert Lussier in municipal affairs. It is clear that this is a long way from being a cabinet shuffle. . . .

The situation would hardly be right for a new election. After 15 months in office, the Union Nationale has not succeeded, despite the promises of its miracle serum, in cleaning up the labor climate. Strikes are following one another at a frightening rate, and as a result the attention of the government is concentrated on plugging the most serious leaks. Under the circumstances, it becomes almost impossible to build something new. To all this can be added the constitutional problems which are nervously agitating the people.

IN ECONOMICS AND POLITICS

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

A Reassessment After Blunders

Hutchison

THE Pearson government is trying desperately to extricate itself from a double blunder of economics and politics. It knows now that its current budget represented a profound miscalculation of Canada's resources. It knows, too, that it miscalculated the Conservative opposition's future strength just as badly. These mistakes have forced it to reassess both its financial policies and its political strategy from top to bottom. In urgent recent meetings the cabinet hacked away at its expenditures, reducing them by more than half a billion dollars.

A first serious effort to economize does not significantly alter this year's spending commitments but it has cut next year's potential budgetary deficit of about $1.3 billion in half. The remaining gap of some $750 million is no change from the current figure and is so large that it probably will have to be reduced either by more economy or higher taxes or both, during the next six months.

The moment of financial truth came in the last month when the government suddenly found that it could not sell its bonds without paying exorbitant interest rates which have automatically raised those of all borrowers, public and private. It also found that in the past year private investors have been selling more of its securities than they were buying. Finally it found its fiscal policies under unprecedented attack by the impartial Economic Council.

Must Build Confidence

Somehow the government must forestall a further loss of confidence and persuade the public that its securities are a sound investment to be repaid in reasonably stable currency. To this end it must demonstrate first that its financial affairs will be quickly put in order and, second, that the inflationary spiral will be curbed.

Neither task is easy. Most of the budgetary expenditures are fixed, rising steadily on a built-in escalator. And fiscal policy of itself can grapple with only one side, perhaps the lesser side, of inflation.

Up to now the government, misjudging the economic climate, has fed inflation with its deficits. They could not all be covered by borrowing from the available money supply. Instead, a large part of them has been financed by the sale of bonds to the central and the private banks.

This is a polite and legal method of printing new money which is permanently in circulation and can never be taken out of the monetary system. It will continue to create a demand for goods in excess of the immediate supply, thus pushing up prices until the national economy grows to increase the supply.

Restraint Required

Adequate growth under the best of circumstances will take time, several years at least. Meanwhile the demand must be restrained. The government can partially restrain it by holding down its own expenditures or collecting more taxes from the private spenders, or both. In plainer terms it can stop the printing presses of the banking system. But these fiscal remedies, however drastic, do not reach the other side of inflation, which is a skyrocketing wage level.

As one of Ottawa's leading economists describes it, the cost structure of Canadian industry "has taken on a life of its own" and rises regardless of government policy.

Nevertheless the government cannot escape responsibility for its error in assuming last spring that the economy needed the stimulant of a huge deficit when clearly it needed just the opposite. The present revision of the budget is a naked confession of this error, though of course it will be presented to Parliament as a logical step planned from the beginning.

Soon the success or failure of the government's unplanned rearguard action will be gauged by two measurements visible to the most ignorant citizen—the price of goods and the prevailing interest rate, which is merely the price of borrowed money.

The movement of these two vital indices during the next few months will show whether the government's changed fiscal policies are strong enough to avoid a further expansion of the money supply and so-called demand-pull inflation. But even if they are, the cost-push inflation of wage increases is sure to keep the price of goods rising far faster than the government expected when it framed the present budget.

Such is the financial and economic pinch of government and nation. The political pinch comes from a revived Conservative party now led by the most formidable opposition figure of recent times. Certainly the government is not underestimating Mr. Robert Stanfield, who has blown into Ottawa like a breath of fresh Maritime air.

Whether his arrival will change Prime Minister Pearson's determination to retire is a question asked on all sides here but not yet answered.

Assuming that their chief will leave public life early next year, the three leading candidates for the successorship, Messrs. Mitchell Sharp, Paul Hellyer and Paul Martin, are campaigning vigorously, though quietly.

The first two have usually been considered the only real contenders but Mr. Martin undoubtedly has made himself a third and has lately acquired a major asset, or liability, in the ardent support of Mr. Walter Gordon, whose only motive appears to be a bitter distrust of the younger men.

No one can predict the outcome of this harsh struggle within the Liberal party. No one can even say for sure that Mr. Pearson will not decide against his personal wishes to remain in office for another year and possibly to fight the next election.

The only solid fact in this confusion is that the government will postpone the election as long as it can, hoping for the economic situation to improve and Mr. Stanfield to fail as an alternative prime minister.

A Communist President in the Chair

Frye

ELECTION of Romanian Foreign Minister Corneliu Manescu as president of the 1967 UN General Assembly is seen here as a calculated risk for Washington and an experiment in very limited East-West collaboration. Manescu won the post in a 112-1 vote as the Assembly began its 22nd annual session. The United States gave the Romanian's bandwagon a critical forward push this summer during preliminary campaigning when it privately let it be known the American delegation would back him.

The purpose, it is understood, was to encourage Romania's nascent independence of Moscow, to promote American contacts with eastern Europe, and to "escape from the inevitable" with as little damage as possible.

Election of some Communist this year was widely considered virtually inevitable. Many delegates felt 1967 was "Eastern Europe's turn." No Communist had ever before held the post — and it normally rotates among major geographic blocs.

The risk Washington was taking is hard to assess accurately. The Assembly presidency offers a platform for propaganda and a relatively limited opportunity to influence the pace and character of UN diplomacy. Its occupant also is sometimes called upon for mediatory duties.

However, by tradition the president is an impartial presiding officer, and in his early appearances Manescu has seemed to be going out of his way to stick to the script.

He has seized the opportunity for a few minor propaganda gestures on behalf of socialism and co-existence, but has otherwise remained conspicuously within traditional bounds of vacuous — and hence noncontroversial — platitudes.

Some Western delegates consider it unusual that the Communist world should have felt it worth while to tie up a foreign minister for at least three months in largely ceremonial service to an organization rarely regarded by Moscow as having top priority of real significance. Observers speculate that the Soviet Union may now use the honor bestowed on a Communist as a pretext for "voluntarily" contributing to UN coffers some of the more than $65,000,000 it owes in back dues.

The Soviet Union is hesitant to make any move which could be attacked by Red China as Soviet-American "collaboration." Partly for this purpose, and partly out of fear of an adverse domestic reaction, American backing for Manescu was kept under wraps outside UN circles.

The risk of a blast from Peking was minimized by the choice of a Romanian as the Communist bloc's candidate. It would be difficult for the Chinese to criticize "collaboration" for the purpose of elevating a man who has often sided with them in the Sino-Soviet dispute. Manescu has frequently done this.

Logic and "inevitability" aside, veteran UN observers found it astonishing that a Communist should have won the presidency with such apparent ease.

The sole vote against Manescu was cast for a Tanzanian, John W. S. Malacela, who was reported much embarrassed by the fact. Only seven ballots were wasted, presumably deliberately, through abstention or invalidity.

Sharp Contrast

This was in sharp contrast to previous years when Soviet-bloc candidates have sought the post and the United States has led furious behind-scenes battles, always successfully, to block them. Diplomats said it was obvious the curve of Soviet influence in the Assembly is rising and that of the United States declining.

Other indications of this fact, it was agreed, may be found in UN inaction on peace keeping and in failure to take away Russia's vote for dues arrears.

However, the Soviet Union suffered a jolting setback this summer when it sought to win for the Arab states diplomatic compensation for their military defeat in the war with Israel.

The Soviet bloc has also had little success with purely propagandistic proposals such as calls for elimination of American military bases overseas, and with a repeated bid to have UN troops pulled out of Korea.

The United States may have lost control of an Assembly majority — it did so as early as 1955-1960 — but the Soviet Union is a long way from establishing such control, it is widely agreed.

"GEE WHIZ! NOW WHAT DID I DO RIGHT?"

Looking Back

From the Times, Sept. 25, 1907.

There was considerable divergence of opinion shown at the meeting of the school board today on the subject of the kind of school building which should be erected in Victoria West. The plans drawn by architect Ridgeway Wilson proved too costly.

The buildings and grounds committee accordingly decided to cut off one wing of the building and get tenders on the remaining part.

What Makes a Nation?

By GILLES BOYER

(Excerpts from a series of editorials written for Le Soleil, Quebec City. First of two parts.)

In this centennial year, Canada is experiencing harsh tensions; the main ones grow from divisions between the two great ethnic groups whose presence in this country bears concrete witness to our dual French and English past.

Quebec separatism is a manifestation of the centrifugal tensions pulling within Canada. Hence, the questioning of certain ideas, including even that of nation.

The new surge of nationalist feeling in French Canada, along with the verbal inflation inherent in it, has brought a deplorable confusion of ideas and vocabulary.

Two-Nation Concept Heard

Thus, some quarters often talk of the French-Canadian nation, and politicians of different parties, as well as patriotic associations, never stop demanding that the central government recognize the two-nation concept.

An agency of the Quebec Government has even affirmed peremptorily: "The presence of two nations in Canada makes it impossible to call national anything relating to the activities or agencies of the central government."

Super-patriots have demanded that French Canadians guilty of not considering Canada in terms of two nations be stripped of their civil rights.

Nothing is more distressing than to hear on this subject statements that are still more dogmatic because they spring from the most superficial sources.

People fling dictionary definitions at each other but don't even bother reading the serious authors who have studied the question. Is this due to intellectual laziness, to the frivolity of an age that prefers noisy declarations, or to carefully nurtured emotions and prejudices?

It seems that in the scandalously biased approach of most theorists of the existence of two nations in Canada — beginning with our public men — there is something of all that.

The time appears to have come, therefore, to define this notion more precisely, to analyze the criterion or criteria of the nation, to follow the evolution the word has undergone over the years, and to recognize the meaning given it today.

After being popularized for a century and a half, the concept of nation is certainly not a clear idea: the confusion surrounding its meaning in our country is proof enough.

However, about 100 years ago, the Fathers of Confederation held unanimously that a new nation was being born. Thus, Sir John A. Macdonald said in London: "I have something worth fighting for that is the junction of Her Majesty's subjects in British America as one great nation . . ."

When Premier Johnson (above) and other Quebec leaders demand a revision of Canada's constitution on the basis of recognizing two nations, are they using the word nation in the way most English-speaking Canadians and many French-Canadians understand it?

Same Language From Cartier

The same language came from French-Canadian politicians. George - Etienne Cartier said:' 'We must make five colonies into a single and great nation."

This conception of the nation, shared by all the Fathers of Confederation, is generally accepted today throughout the Western world, where the nation is a group of human beings, culturally homogeneous or otherwise, who live on a territory defined by the same borders and subject to the same political system.

The partisans of the "French - Canadian nation" would like to make language the distinctive characteristic of the nation. Author R. Redslob wrote: "Take note: language is not the nation. It is wrong to identify one with the other. Language is a phenomenon from which the nation may be derived; it is nothing more."

The unity of language and culture can undeniably contribute strongly to crystallizing the values shared by a nation. But there can be nations without a common mother tongue: such is the case for most of the young nations of Asia and Africa, for the U.S.S.R., and for a few European nations like Switzerland and Belgium.

French author Raymond Aron points to three ideal types of nations: "The ideal type of a national state is that of a political unit whose citizens all belong to the same culture and display a desire to live in a self-governing community.

The imperial state is imposed, most often by conquest, on peoples of different laguages and cultures. Probably, one ought to add a third ideal type, that of the federal state (Switzerland, for example), which shows neither cultural homogeneity nor government coercion . . ."

Culture, Nation Roughly Coincide

Maurice Duverger writes: "For the most part, the frontiers of cultures and nations roughly coincide, except in technically underdeveloped societies . . . in which tribes, clans or ethnic strains constitute a basic cultural framework: yet there, too, culture tends to become nationalized. Certain modern nations themselves do not correspond to any single culture, but are the home of many: Switzerland, for example, where Germanic and French cultures coexist; but this very coexistence of several cultures defines an original cultural grouping."

Digging deeper into the idea of nation, one can reason with the French philosopher Ernest Renan that the nation is above all a spiritual principle. What then are its criteria? Historians, sociologists and jurists agree on two main ones: a desire to live together (un vouloir-vivre commun) and a voluntary or desired solidarity (une solidarite voulue). These two notions deserve an explanation.

Vast Nations Become Federal

It is certain that in a bicultural or multicultural nation the desire to live together is more pronounced within each cultural group than among all the cultural groups gathered within the nation . . . That explains the fact that vast nations (considering territory or population) have adopted federalism: the U.S.S.R, India, Nigeria, Argentina, the United States and Canada.

One observes that the smaller a political or administrative unit is, the stronger is its people's wish to live together. The family, municipality, county, region and province have within them a desire to live together whose intensity varies inversely with their size.

Yet, that does not make them nations. A nation must be defined as a desire to live together understood in the sense of the greatest political entity. It is, in sum, this greatest political entity which determines objectively the limits of power surrounding a nation's existence.

To cite Gerrard Bissonnette: "Suffice it to recall that a nation is a human community, living on a determined geographic territory and fit to be governed by a political system recognizing a supreme authority called the state."

This state must obviously be the state in the fullest sense of the word: a sovereign state.

It's a Nice Ball Park, But It's Not Being Used

By DOUGLAS FISHER and HARRY S. CROWE

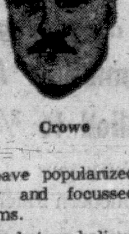
(Mr. Crowe is associate professor of history at Atkinson College, York University. Mr. Fisher, a former NDP MP, lectures in Canadian government at Carleton University.)

Last week freshmen and fourth-year undergrads at Queen's University began courses in economics under an impressive teacher, Dr. John Deutsch. The principal-to-be of their university had made his final public contribution as chairman of the Economic Council of Canada when he commented on the fourth annual review of the council for the press in company with his successor as chairman, Arthur Smith.

Fisher

John Deutsch leaves a "going" institution but he acknowledges that the final or best role for the Economic Council has not yet been determined.

Both he and his successor claim the council's staff is now the single, best grouping of economic talent and knowledge, geared to a continuing formulization of analysis and ideas. In Canada that's a major accomplishment, if true, and we doubt whether anyone in politics, government, and universities would dispute the claim.



Crowe

A second major council accomplishment has been to get itself an audience in the country, especially in the corporate and union communities.

Its reviews and reports have popularized knowledge of our economy and focussed interest on the hardest problems.

Its merely an opinion of ours but we believe the annual reviews are more important as signposts and general information to the public than are the pre-budget White Papers of the minister of finance and the budget themselves.

So the Economic Council is doing a good job. Its material is readable and well-argued. What more could be expected? A member of the permament staff of the council put it this way:

"We've built a new ball park but governments and politicians either ignore it or don't want to play in it."

★ ★ ★

A reporter put a question to Dr. Deutsch which puts the matter in another perspective. Wasn't the council's analysis and projection a "counsel of perfection" too unreal for the country and its governments?

Dr. Deutsch emphasized that the council was designed to be quite separate from the federal government. It is on its own. It doesn't consult at length with governments. it doesn't advise them quietly or behind the scenes.

It publishes—its views are in the open for anyone to see. The sweep of these views is overall.

It's not the council's duty to worry about constitutional difficulties. It concentrates on economics as a whole. This is important because Canada is so decentralized and jurisdictions overlap.

Thus the counsel is as perfect as analysis of statistics, trends, and variable factors within and from outside the country can make it.

However, it is not done with all the worries of the politicians in mind. It is planning in the true sense.

The council says: These problems are developing; these are your alternatives, these may be your priorities. It cannot carry on a running battle with governments, for example, over inadequate housing policies.

But any thoughtful person can see that the council is a critic of government policies, especially of the federal government.

Both the retiring and new chairmen of the council insist the council is not a warm favorite of the senior federal servants. They are less sure of whether the future relationship with the government should be at such a distance in popularization and in setting out problems and prospects the council has laid the base for serious planning by governments in Canada.

★ ★ ★

Since it has the most know-how and expertise it is obviously a potential core of a national planning secretariat.

Is it time we had such an agency? Dr. Deutsch won't say yes to that but we conclude he really believes there should be one soon.

Economic policy-making in the federal government is a mysterious process. It does not take place in the ruling party caucus or even meet major influences there.

Parliament is at its weakest on economic policy. In the prime minister's office and the cover for it provided by the privy council office something like a planning secretariat is developing.

But it is clear to us, after conversations with cabinet ministers, that no one is quite sure where the responsibility for economic planning and policy-making rests.

★ ★ ★

Of course, the final decisions are still taken by cabinet. Of course, the minister of finance and his officials are still very large in the process but neither the present minister nor the minister of trade and commerce is quite so central to it as their departmental predecessors were a decade ago.

The proliferation of conferences and continuing liaison with provincial ministers and officials has confused even more the creation and implementation of economic policies.

The most inadequate of all response to the council's reviews and reports has been very lucky for the present government in Ottawa. The opposition parties, especially the official Opposition, has really not seized the opportunity of using the debating material which council material provides. This is what the staff man meant by his reference to the ballpark in which the politicians do not want to play.

★ ★ ★

We've a hunch this will end as the revitalized Conservative Opposition discovers the new annual review.

The sections on government expenditures, urbanization problems (including housing, transport and pollution) are impressive evidence that we've not been getting good or farsighted leadership from the Pearson Government.

Dr. Deutsch is a careful man. He dislikes exaggeration. He's not going back to the groves of the academy nursing any spite or meanness. He leaves behind an institution which hasn't yet made its full critical impact. But the time for this may be not far off. If it comes we think Dr. Deutsch wil be most delighted.

Anti-American Feelings Rise Among the South Vietnamese

By MARK FRANKLAND

SAIGON — Storm clouds of anti - Americanism have been gathering over Saigon in the past week. If they burst it could cause the worst political trouble Vietnam has seen since last year's Buddhist revolt.

The lead has been given by Saigon students, who have turned a series of meetings designed as protests at the results of the September 3 elections into anti-American rallies. It has been followed by lawyer Truong Dinh Dzu, runner-up in the presidential elections, who last week made his first direct attack on U.S. influence in Vietnam.

If Vietnamese reports of trouble in the Central Vietnamese town of Da Nang prove correct, the anti-American gospel could find eager preachers there, as it did over a year ago, during the Buddhist struggle movement.

No Support Yet

There are two important qualifying factors. There is no sign yet that a new movement will get the sort of support among the army and local civil servants which made last year's troubles really dangerous. And there is every likelihood that some of the opposition's shouting is connected with the complicated struggle for power now in process between General Thieu and his Vice-President, Air Vice Marshal Ky.

But it is certainly true that anti-Americanism is the one thing that can provide an emotional unity for opposition groups that otherwise have little in common.

Equally important, it is one issue on which politicians, student leaders and political monks can still expect a sure response from many Vietnamese people.

Anti-Americanism has, of course, for some time been the main theme of Viet Cong propaganda. Only a few days before the South Vietnamese elections, the Liberation Front issued its new program, in which it linked the fight against America with the heroic struggle of the Vietnamese against foreign invastion during "4,000 years of their history."

Among the educated middle classes, dislike of U.S. domination is tempered by recognition of the need for American help against the Communists. Nevertheless, anti - American gossip is exchanged as eagerly as cake recipes at a women's institute.

Every now and again the conflict between national pride and national necessity becomes too great, and there is a cry of anguish, as when a doctor at a recent Saigon dinner-party exclaimed: "We have been fighting for years, yet all we have done is to exchange the French for the Americans."

Among older intellectuals, one finds a philosophical pessimism about the situation. But the young intellectuals and students are more emotional, more easily moved to hatred.

Made a Fortune

One should not idealize, one of last year's student leaders is reputed to have made a small fortune leading demonstrations, first against the government and then for it. Their political thinking is usually of the woolliest.

They repeat again and again that they do not like the Communists, and at the same time see the hand of the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency everywhere. In Central Vietnam, particularly, their nationalism and criticism of America has definite racial undertones.

Misguided though they may be, there are clearly plenty of people in the big Vietnamese towns who could be induced to take to the streets under an anti-American banner. The attutude of the working class is obviously harder to define.

But one must accept that Viet Cong propaganda has almost certainly had an effect on some of them. There is no lack of colorful themes — from high war prices to oversexed GIs — for it to play on.

An incident at a pre-election meeting is relevant here. One of the obscure presidential candidates was asked what he would do about U.S. troops in Vietnam. "They will stay if we want them to, and go if we do not," he replied.

The crowd, with fine disregard for the facts of Vietnamese political life, greeted this with the biggest cheer of the whole meeting. The anwer, with its highnote of unrealism, is surely very close to the state of mind of many Vietnamese today.

NEW DRUGS FIGHT LEUKEMIA

By THOMAS O'TOOLE

WASHINGTON — For the first time, the dread blood cancer, leukemia, is being successfully treated with drugs.

So far, the number of cures believed to have been wrought by the treatments is small. Doctors say that no more than 400 Americans have been treated intensively with the newest and most potent anti-cancer drugs, and that no more than 100 of them will be alive 10 years from now.

But against as deadly and intractable a disease as leukemia, a one-out-of-four cure rate represents major progress. As recently as 1954, only one out of 600 patients being treated for leukemia was living five years after his disease was discovered.

The drugs now working on leukemia have been known to cancer specialists longer than five years. But none was felt to be a cure, mostly because the drugs endangered leukemia patients as much as the disease itself. One of the best anti-leukemia agents, Methotrexate, couldn't be given in large enough doses because it stripped the platelets (the sticky latticework that promotes clotting) right out of the blood.

Five years ago, in an effort to get around the toxicity problem, researchers at a few test centres developed methods of giving patients blood bank platelets, to make up for their loss of platelets to drugs like Methotrexates. With the platelets they also administered the newest antibiotics to fight the infections that are one of the most common side effects of leukemia treatment.

The results were good enough for doctors to begin increasing the dose levels of the drugs at their disposal. One group at Children's Hospital in Philadelphia found that leukemia patients could tolerate a massive 20-dose infusion of methotrexate with good results.

At the same time, doctors began to test combinations of four of the best anti-leukemia agents — methotrexate, vincristine, prednisone and 6-mercaptopurine.

Each of these drugs attacks cancer cells differently; methotrexate mimics the metabolites that cancer cells need for growth, while prednisone, a hormone, interferes with another phase of cancer cell growth. For this reason it was hoped that the combination approach would yield the maximum benefit by killing cancer cells four ways instead of just one.

The success of the combination drug treatment comes at a time when doctors have a far better understanding of leukemia itself.

"We know," said one cancer specialist, "that each time we treat the disease we must rid the bloodstream of 99 per cent of its cancer cells. Anything less is not enough." The reason: leukemia cells double in man every four days, so that if one per cent of the cancer cells (about one million cells) get left behind, the patient will be ill again in less than one week.

What Every New Mother Should Have

By DOROTHY McCARDLE

WASHINGTON — Since last weekend, Luci Johnson Nugent has been waking up alone in a strange and beautifull room to breakfast in bed — grapefruit, melba toast and coffee.

Her day's social life includes strenuous exercise, few calories, no husband, and no baby.

Luci is at a Texas health spa.

She is enjoying the luxuries and frugalities of the Neiman-Marcus Greenhouse in Arlington, Tex., midway between Forth Worth and Dallas, more than 100 miles from her home in Austin, her husband, Patrick J. Nugent, and her 3-month-old son Patrick Lyndon Nugent.

Luci is doing what most new mothers need to do after the birth of a baby. She is taking special diet and exercise to streamline her figure and tone up her muscles and nerves.

Her surroundings are glamorous, but her meals are as spare as a monk's fast. Everybody at Greenhouse is stuck with 850 calories a day.

The minimum stay at Greenhouse is one week. For best results, the "guest" is urged to make it two weeks. Length of stay depends upon the pocketbook since one week of all this is $747.50 (including tax).

There are 36 privileged guests at one time with a staff of 65 to take care of all needs, phychological as well as physical.

Luci has one of those salmon and avacado bedroom suites all to herself with a vial of perfume on her pillow, flowers on her breakfast tray and a white telephone (no special hook-up to the White House).

OREGON VISITOR

Model T Buff Will Swap Crankshaft for Wheels

By ED GOULD

SIDNEY — Bob Tedd of Dayton, Oregon, will trade a Model T crankshaft for a set of wheels, an engine cover for a radiator.

A recent visitor to Sidney, Mr. Tedd says swapping old car parts with other antique buffs helps keep the oldtimers rolling.

"Every time we make a trip anywhere, usually in one of my three model Ts, we keep a weather eye peeled for spare parts in backyards and dumps," he said.

"My biggest problem is convincing some people that I really do want a piece of old rusty equipment that they might own. They think I've got to be kidding.

ELBOW GREASE

"This trip up Vancouver Island I got a beautiful old luggage rack for this car. It just takes a little elbow grease and some black paint and it's like new."

Mr. Tedd, a schoolteacher, doesn't belong to an antique car club. "Dayton is a little small for that, although there are other people there who take an interest in such things."

He had his current vehicle, a completely reconstructed 1923 Model T, upholstered in his home town. "It's completely authentic," he said, "except for the horse hair. We bent the rules a bit there and put in foam rubber.

"Otherwise from the ground up, she's the original."

His wife, Lucy, who accompanied him on the trip, also finds the parts-swapping and the people they meet an interesting experience.

BREAKS THE ICE

"Sometimes it gets a little windy driving along with nothing between you and the blue sky," she said. "It makes a mess of your hair but it's great for breaking the ice and making new friends."

Mr. Tedd says there are "about 100,000 Model T Fords still operating" on North American highways. Tires for them are easily obtainable because of an Eastern manufacturer who has faith in the old cars lasting forever.

"The wooden spoke wheels are something else, though," he said. "You have to keep a pretty close check on them. They are subject to rot and you never know when one might break or slip the rim and you lose the whole wheel."

Mr. and Mrs. Tedd find Islanders among the friendliest people they have met in their extensive travels in Canada and the U.S.

"They almost always give us a smile and a wave. And another thing — they don't mind selling or swapping those Model T parts."

Power Saw Melted

DUNCAN — A melted power saw was the result of a fire near here Saturday morning.

Arthur Marsh of Fairfield Road was refuelling his power saw inside a Herd Road shack when the saw caught fire.

The flooring of the shack caught alight but the blaze was quickly extinguished by members of the south end volunteer fire department.

Duncan Fans Cheer Lumbermen's Rodeo

HONEYMOON BAY — In front of the home fans, Verle Latham led the annual lumber carrier drivers' "rodeo" competitions all day Saturday.

But Verle had to settle for fourth place in the final standings because he dropped points in the subsequent oral examination.

Winner of the first carriers' rodeo to be held on Vancouver Island was John Schroeder representing the Somass sawmill of Macmillan, Bloedel Ltd.

Second place went to Bruce McKee, also from Somass division, and third was Jills Cote of the Alberni Pacific mill of Macmillan, Bloedel.

A special prize went to Armand Trottier of the Hillcrest mill, Mesachie Lake, for performing the best positioning of five loads of lumber.

A total of 19 carrier drivers from Island and Mainland mills competed in this 14th annual event.

The 19 competitors were chosen from more than 100 in elimination contests.

The rodeo is sponsored by the B.C. Lumber Manufacturers' Association.

Vice-president Harold Dagg, Vancouver, said: "we have found that the mills which compete in this contest are safer mills. They have better drivers and there is less damage to lumber at these mills.

FAST ACTION SAVES NEIGHBORING HOMES

MILL BAY—Volunteer firemen saved neighboring homes when fire ravaged a waterfront cottage here Sunday evening.

The cottage, owned by David Anstey of 1234 Union, Victoria, was gutted inside and half the roof was burned away.

At one time flames spread to the shingled roof of Inan Balding's house next door but the Mill Bay volunteer fire department quickly brought this situation under control.

Fire Chief Bob Trousell said: "If we hadn't been called promptly three or four houses could have gone."

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Gibson of Victoria, friends of the Ansteys, were staying at the cottage but were out fishing at the time. The Gibsons had had a fire burning in the wood stove in the afternoon.

Vote Won't Change Government Policy

NANAIMO — A "yes" vote on the regional college referendum, Sept. 30, will only approve formation of a fact-finding board and will not approve the actual building of the college.

Dr. Roy McMillan, co-ordinating committee explained this Saturday.

He said that no matter how many times the committee has stressed the plebiscite has nothing to do with financing, people still seem to think that a defeat of the plebiscite will get the government to change its taxation methods.

Book Exhibition Marks Centenary

By ELIZABETH FORBES

Forbes

Most of the big events of centennial year are behind us. They have been exciting and, I believe, rewarding not only to those who planned and organized them but to the general public as well.

Through many and varied presentations we have learned much about Canada and the Canadian way of life. New interest has been generated and we have attained a greater stature and an increased pride in this nation that is ours.

Coupled with major centennial events have been projects conceived and brought to fruition by individuals as a public service.

Amongst these—and yet to come—is a centennial exhibition of books, planned by Victoria's Gwen Scott, owner of one of our outstanding book stores, as her own particular centennial offering.

* * *

This exhibition, in McPherson Playhouse foyer, Oct. 13 and 14, is being arranged to present the writings of Canadians in the last 100 years. It will include books about British Columbia written by British Columbia authors.

Don't gun away with the idea that this will be a small exhibition. Or that the number of Canadian authors and Canadian subjects is so infinitesimal they will not make a good showing.

If this is your thinking then you'd be wise to change it now for Gwen Scott has such a large collection available that if used in full it would overflow the playhouse foyer and tumble down the circular stairs.

* * *

Right now a selection committee is busy choosing from this collection several hundred representative items for the exhibition.

On loan from the provincial library and personally selected by librarian Willard Ireland will be rare books of 100 years ago—some with the originals of their illustrations.

John Lort of the Victoria Public Library is offering some of its rare books. Others will come from Uvic's McPherson Library.

There will be a special collection of Emily Carr writings and with it the architect's design for the proposed renovation of the historic Carr home.

Bridging the years between past and present will be books by major publishers in Canada, many of whom, you may be surprised to know, have been producing continuously for over 100 years.

As you browse through the exhibition you will also be able to note the evolution of book design in the past century, through different type faces, set-up, covers and dust jackets.

Gwen Scott believes that "never in the history of the Canadian book trade has the interest in books written and published by Canadians run so high."

* * *

This year alone will see what she describes as "an avalanche" of Canadian titles. Some, of course, would never have been printed if it were not that this is a centennial year. Nevertheless, the fact that they are being published points to an upsurge of interest that had its beginning a decade ago.

At that time Canadians suddenly became curious about themselves and their country. New writers and their books were bought by the public in increasing numbers. Where formerly an author whose books sold 3,000 copies in Canada was considered a best seller, today it is not unusual for a publisher to order a first printing of 5,000 copies.

It seems only fitting then that somewhere in this centennial year program, emphasis should be placed on Canadian authors and Canadian books.

Miss Scott has shown her public spirit by bringing that emphasis into sharp focus, in Victoria at least, through this exhibition.

Put it on your "must see" list for mid-October. You'll learn something more about this nation of ours and the Canadian people.

Riot in Trail After Police Stop Dance

TRAIL (CP) — RCMP said Sunday they are considering further charges in connection with Saturday's youth riot that caused hundreds of dollars damage.

Already sentenced to two months in jail was 20-year-old John C. Freed. He was charged with obstructing police after a dance got out of control.

Brian Freed, 18, will appear in court Oct. 13 on a charge of causing a disturbance.

RCMP halted the dance after complaints of noise and fighting. About 60 youths paraded to the police station to inquire why the dance had been closed. They refused to leave and a scuffle ensued.

The youths then marched downtown.

Awnings were torn down, two store windows and a window of a parked car were smashed.

Dope Pushers Replace 'Part-Time' Hippies

VANCOUVER (CP) — The part-time flower children in Vancouver's hippie district have gone back to school, and are being replaced by immigrant drug peddlers who shout "civil rights" to police, but push marijuana to others.

Police said Sunday the drug orders are taken in psychedelic shops in the hippie district of Fourth Avenue, and the sales consummated on the street.

There has been no evidence of prostitution yet, said police, but they have found lots of immorality—mashers who turn hippie for their own brand of young love.

The new faces arriving in the hippie district are reported to come from the United Kingdom, the U.S. and eastern Canada.

TODAY'S GRAIN PRICES

WINNIPEG (CP) — A moderate trade was concentrated in oilseeds on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange today.

Flax prices showed a firm undertone as reports of a lower flax acreage in Argentina this year stimulated some demand. There was evidence of overseas support.

Fairly active hedging sales appeared in rapeseed and flax and were well absorbed on the flax market. Rapeseed hedging sales and lower Chicago soybean prices contributed to easier prices in Winnipeg.

Oats and barley trade was light and connected with feed supply. Ships were loading at the lakehead as a result of a settlement in the Great Lakes shipping strike.

Rye prices were easier.

CHICAGO—Soyebans declined up to three cents on the Board of Trade, setting seasonal lows in every contract.

Corn futures, also under pressure of a huge U.S. production this year, also declined to new seasonal levels.

Also a big factor in the corn and soybean selloff was the harvest of the two commodities, now gaining momentum.

Wheat futures also were under selling pressure from the start. Oats and rye trade was light and prices were irregular.

Spending Policies 'Cause of Inflation'

OTTAWA (CP)—Much of the inflation in Canada has been created by the government's free-spending policies, the president of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association said today.

R. A. Engholm, president of Macotta Co. of Canada Ltd., Toronto, told the 50th annual convention of the National Dairy Council, that government spending is bound to grow to provide essential services in a growing country.

But a very real question "hangs over much other government expenditure which cannot be classed as essential."

In a keynote address at the opening of the council's three-day convention, Mr. Engholm warned that government spending was reducing the amount of money available for investment by private industry.

CITES SPENDING

Total spending by the three levels of government was steadily increasing, and has been outrunning the increase in national wealth. It should be remembered "it is the private forces in the economy which are the productive ones, in that they generate by far the greater part of new national wealth."

He welcomed the statement by the Economic Council of Canada that wage parity with the United States would be a long time coming.

"One earnestly hopes that organized labor can be made to understand this and to back away from some of the dangerously unrealistic wage demands that are being made on industry and other sectors of the economy at this time."

The investment in new machinery and techniques required to keep the economy expanding and to provide jobs for a growing labor force depends on adequate corporate profits, Mr. Engholm said.

Profit margins have begun to decline and economic growth rate would probably fall short of the Economic Councils target of 5½ per cent by 1½ per cent.

He praised the trade department's efforts to increase exports, but warned that the Kennedy round tariff cuts, while making it possible to sell more abroad, would also put greater pressure on the home market. There would be more need than ever to emphasize the Buy Canadian program.

It was of "vital importance" to the Canadian economy for both government and industry to place continued emphasis on exports.

Text of Mr. Engholm's address was released to the press in advance.

AMC Hikes Prices

DETROIT (AP) — American Motors said today its 1968 cars will carry price tags averaging $89 or 3.8 per cent higher than those on comparable 1967 models. AMC thus became the fourth U.S. car maker to increase prices on its 1968 models.

MARKET SUMMARIES

Mines Gain in Vancouver

Gains outnumbered losses on the mining section of the Vancouver Stock Exchange shortly before noon today.

Pine Point gained $1 to $52.50 since the close of trade Friday. Brenda put on 15 cents to $7.10 and Lornex advanced the same amount to $7.40.

Arctic increased six cents to $1.95. Dynasty dropped 10 cents to $7.35 and Silver Titan was off nine cents to $1.42.

In the industrials, Alcan put on 37 cents to $30.37.

IN NEW YORK the market maintained a strong balance in active trading. But prices had fallen below their best levels of the day.

The margin of advances among individual stocks over declines shrank to 7 to 5 from 2 to 1.

Motors, rubbers, aircrafts and oils advanced. Airlines, which had been generally ahead, turned mixed.

Du Pont's early gain of about 5 withered to about 3. General Motors advanced nearly 2 points.

Inco, a blue chip, gained a point among Canadians. Alcan was up ⅝, McIntyre ½ and Dome ¼. Granby lost 1¾, CP ⅝ and Hudson Bay ½.

IN TORONTO the market regained its composure in moderate mid-afternoon trading following a bout of profit taking.

The market was following the trend on the New York exchange.

Brokers say the market's recent strength reflects expected improved earnings for the last quarter of the year. They also say inflationary pressures are buoying prices.

Rockower moved up 2¼ to 11, Dominion Scottish 1¼ to 13¾, Alcan 1⅛ to 30¾ and Inco and Alberta Gas Trunk 1 each to 116¾ and 36¼.

Westcoast Transmission backed off 1¼ to 25 after the United States Federal Power Commission refused permission to El Paso Natural Gas to pay a higher price for gas it gets from Westcoast.

Profit takers trimmed uranium stocks as Denison fell 1¾ to 82¼ and Rio Algom ⅝ to 38½. Last week Denison an- 39. Last week Denison announced it had agreed to sell 21,000,000 pounds of the metal to a group of Japanese utilities. Rio said it agreed to the sale of 10,000,000 pounds to the same group.

D'Eldona fell 15 cents to 1.55 in speculative mines.

AT MONTREAL prices were mixed in moderate trading as the industrial sector balked fractional losses among banks, papers and utilities.

Alcan jumped ⅞ to 30 on trading of 8,510 shares. International Nickel held last week's three-point rise and advanced ¼ to 116¼, still reaching to news of higher nickel prices.

Denison Mines fell 1¼ points to 82¼ after soaring more than five points last week on confirmation of a 10-year contract to sell uranium to Japan. Analysts said today's dip was due to profit-taking.

Among western oils, Union dropped 1 points to 49.

Among speculative mines and oils on the Canadian market, United Asbestos jumped 25 cents to $8 and Consolidated Quebec Smelting gained several cents. James Bay declined seven cents to 70 cents on volume of 93,400 shares.

AT LONDON, current interest rate fears continued to depress British funds.

The falls recorded towards the end of last week were extended by 5-16 or more.

The strength of Friday's Canadian markets brought selective buying of Canadian dollar stocks. Inco jumped 8 points and Canadian Husky 4¾ points. Several other Canadians were easier, particularly Consolidated Paper and Brazilian.

Advertising Law Changes Under Study

By VICTOR MACKIE
Times Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA — The government is determined to improve and strengthen advertising laws in this country, Registrar General John Turner told the advertising industry over the weekend.

Mr. Turner will head the new department of corporate and consumer affairs, expected to be established early in the resumed centennial session of Parliament. It will have advertising under its jurisdiction as well as administering legislation regarding combines, patents, trademarks, corporations and securities.

First priority of the new department will be to rationalize and co-ordinate the federal government's own operations in those fields. For the advertiser that means the government will seek to bring some cohesion and conformity to the laws and regulations relating to advertising, said Mr. Turner.

"Our job will be to improve, strengthen and tidy up the law and to enforce it more uniformly," said the minister referring to the various statutes affecting advertising.

ROLE OF ADVERTISING

"We intend to analyze the advertising process and its effect upon the economy and consumer and, we intend to pursue the question of the role of advertising" he said.

Mr. Turner said he was aware there were some who contend the best role for government insofar as the advertising business is concerned, is no role at all. Such people warned of the danger of invading freedom of expression or restricting the process of communication.

VIEWS REJECTED

But Mr. Turner rejected that argument. He said that there has been only an intermittent and spotty application of regulations regarding advertising, with little co-ordinated policy.

"There has been little research, analysis or investigation as to the function of advertising in our affluent economy and the responsibility of government to the consumer. This question is of immediate concern to me," he said.

His department will attempt to ensure that the consumer is fully and clearly informed, that he or she is protected against fraud or misrepresentation and that standards of safety and health are observed.

"We want consumers to be informed in a clear and intelligible way about the products they buy, so as to assist them in making the maximum purchase for their dollar," said Mr. Turner.

15 CENTS ON DOLLAR

TORONTO (CP) — About 400 creditors of the bankrupt Prudential Finance Corp. Ltd. have been told they will have to wait three or four years to receive a maximum of 15 cents on each dollar they invested in the company.

The creditors attended a meeting Saturday night at which they organized the Prudential Creditors' Association of Canada. About 8,500 creditors lost about $20,000,000 when Prudential Finance collapsed in late 1966.

The creditors groaned when John L. Biddell, president of the Clarkson Co. Ltd., receiver of the bankrupt company, told them they would get only 10 cents on the dollar if all of Prudential's assets were sold now.

Equal Pay Clauses Lacking

Provisions for equal-pay-for-equal work appeared in only four of 178 union contracts studied by the federal labor department.

Special provisions for women in collective agreements were examined in two reports and appear in the current edition of the Labour Gazette, the department's publication.

Of 20,000 office employees affected by the 178 contracts, only 190 employees were covered by equal-pay provisions.

Of 94 agreements covering manufacturing industries, nine contained equal-pay clauses affecting 18,590 employees or seven per cent of the total.

The Gazette says the incidence of equal-pay clauses in manufacturing industries may be partially due to the fact that more men and women workers are performing similar jobs. But office employees were predominantly women and "there does not seem to be the same need for such provisions."

Maternity-leave provisions in manufacturing industries appeared in only one of six contracts reviewed, affecting 14 per cent of 35,000 employees covered.

A questionnaire sent to 57 large and small companies with a fair distribution of large and small proportions of women workers showed 29 of 120 units had maternity-leave provisions.

The Gazette said there is labor legislation in four provinces to include maternity leave but only in British Columbia and New Brunswick is the law operative.

The publication said "in view of the paucity of maternity-leave legislation" the Canadian Union of Public Employees — with one-third of its members women — has urged inclusion of such a clause in their agreements.

40-Hour Week Standard

The eight-hour day and the 40-hour week are still the standard provisions in union agreements in Canadian manufacturing industries.

A federal labor department study shows that in 88 per cent of agreements the standard work day is eight hours while in 81 per cent the standard work week is 40 hours.

Some of the main findings of the survey, reported in the department's publication Labour Gazette, include:

- The five-day work week is the rule in 89 of the 94 contracts studied.
- A union shop is specified in 24 contracts and a modified union shop with compulsory membership for new employees in another 19 contracts. There was no specific provision in 36 contracts.
- Compulsory checkoff of union dues appears in one form of another in 58 contracts and voluntary checkoff in 28 contracts.
- All agreements provide for arbitration with 77 of them only to be used in differences of application, violation or interpretation of contract.

- Most contracts contained no special provisions for women (equal pay and maternity leave). Moonlighting was limited or banned in six contracts, posting of vacancies was specified in 47 contracts and nine contracts included clauses covering the handling of goods from strike-bound firms or other establishments affected by work stoppages.

UBC's Lesson Spoils Opener For Victorians

UBC Thunderbirds, 1; Victoria, 0

By ERNIE FEDORUK

The education can hardly be considered "free", but Victoria O'Keefes have learned that the University of British Columbia is ready to provide some interesting "lessons" to Pacific Coast Soccer League rivals.

UBC's Thunderbirds, making the most of their limited scoring chances, upset Victoria 1-0 Sunday at Royal Athletic Park in the opening game of the 1967-68 season.

It was only the second home loss in three seasons of league play for O'Keefes, and the second straight at the hands of Joe Johnson's Thunderbirds. Last season's regular-season champion, Victoria dropped a 1-0 verdict to the same T-Birds in an exhibition match at Royal Athletic Park the previous weekend.

That 2-for-2 record against Victoria promptly shoved Johnson into the Optimists' Club.

DEFENCE STRONG

Sunday's success was particularly noteworty and, considering the fact that his squad has had only three weeks of practice, Johnson was quick to predict a "big year" for his students.

"I can see that we'll have to work on our attack," he said, "I don't think there's much wrong with the defence."

In holding Victoria scoreless for two successive matches — in O'Keefes' own backyard — that seems to be a reasonable assumption. Goaltender Bruce Ballam gives Johnson excellent protection on the last line of defence.

As in the exhibition the previous weekend, Ballam was the key figure Sunday, much to the disappointment of a turnout of 713 fans.

GOAL POSTS HELP

Ballam made at least three outstanding saves and received shutout-preserving help from his backs and, on two occasions, the goal-posts.

Inside left Ash Valdal, a former Victorian, scored the game's only goal three minutes after the start of the second half. He caught Victoria goalie Barry Sadler out of position and had little difficulty in hitting the open net.

Victoria, after a lack-lustre opening half, carried most of the play in the second half. But Ballam, poor finish and the usual quota of breaks kept O'Keefes off the scoresheet.

Ballam's best saves came at the expense of Bert Soutar, Ike MacKay and Peter Wilson. In addition, the left-footed Wilson twice bounced the ball off UBC goal-posts.

BACKS SAVED SOME

On two other occasions UBC backs did their duty. In one scramble, Wilson caught Ballam out of position but UBC centre half Gene Ross headed the Victorian's shot out of danger. In another melee, and with Ballam again beaten to the ball, UBC fullback Jim Berry managed to come up with the big save.

Wilson, rookie Brian Robinson, MacKay and fullback Dave Stothard performed well for Victoria.

Victoria's passing was adequate and the distribution was just "fair." But O'Keefes had to be given minus marks for their shooting and jumping on the ball.

The game was the only one scheduled in the league at the weekend. O'Keefes' next match will be against Burnaby Villa at Royal Athletic Park on Saturday.

VSIAA DERBY

Rosin, Ruller Click

The ladies and men divided the silverware Sunday as members of the Victoria-Saanich Inlet Anglers' Association held their annual coho-spring (Chinook) salmon derby.

Win Ruller earned the Woodward Trophy along with the top prize as he brought in an 11-pound, one-ounce fish to win the coho division.

Bert Humphries took the second coho prize with a 10:12-pounder and was followed by Murray Cameron (10:09), Marie Wright (9:00), Mel Lohr (8:06) and Russel Der (8:05).

SPRING DIVISION

In the spring salmon division, Ema Rosin left the males behind and collected the F. D. Nuttall Trophy after she reeled in a 14-pound, 13-ounce catch.

Other spring prizes were earned by Taffy Wakeford (12:06), Paul Cocco (10:02), John Gordon (8:06), Roy Rendle (8:06) and George Vaughn (7:09).

Winners of hidden-weight awards were Mike Tymchuck, A. J. Cove, Alf Clinch, Anne Rendle and Fred Rockett.

Denis Hulme Tops Record At Mosport

MOSPORT, Ont. (CP) — Denis Hulme, a rugged New Zealander, won the 200-mile race for sports cars Saturday, crossing the line in a smoking finish that shattered track records.

He finished 35 seconds ahead of his boss, New Zealander Bruce McLaren, who designed and built the cars they both raced.

Hulme had the pole position in the starting field of 26 and maintained his lead throughout the 80-lap race.

On the 79th lap his car went out of control, slid up a bank and bent the body. The glass-fibre bodywork wore through his left front tire and as he crossed the finish line the tire was flat and smoking.

Hulme averaged a record 105.9 miles per hour as he earned $9,000.

Mike Spence of England was third and Peter Revson, New York, was fourth.

Scots and Lions Reach Cup Final

It could be a defensive battle when Red Lion Inn and Canadian Scottish clash on October 9 for the McGavin Cup.

Lions and the Scots both displayed solid defensive tactics Sunday as they marched into the final round of the annual Victoria and District Soccer League competition.

The only goal to be scored by the losing teams came on a penalty shot by Ron Stubbings and that tally merely enabled Luckies to avert a shutout defeat in a 5-1 thumping by the Lions at Heywood Avenue.

Ken Bedford scored twice for Red Lion and singles were added by Owen Rickman, John Tregear and Gerry Punt.

Scottish forged into the final by blanking Gorge Molsons 2-0 at Topaz Park on tallies by John Rostron and Franz van Doesberg.

In the second division, London Boxing Club, Island Tug and Sidney Hotel each chalked up a second successive victory while William Head Saints made their debut by playing to a 4-4 draw with Falcons.

Arnie's Biggest Payday Made Wait Worthwhile

CLIFTON, N.J. (AP)— "Who am I tied with now?" Arnold Palmer kept asking as he hung around the clubhouse Sunday awaiting a possible sudden-death playoff in the $150,000 Thunderbird Golf Classic.

After first Gary Player and then Billy Casper shot themselves out of contention, and after Charles Coody, Art Wall Jr. and Jack Nicklaus missed birdie putts on the last hole, the answer finally came: no one.

"Waiting in the locker room is tougher than coming from five strokes back," Palmer admitted after he finished Sunday with a three-under-par 69 and a 72-hole score of 283. "I don't mind playing but I don't like the waiting so much."

A 10-foot birdie putt on the 600-yard, par-5 finishing hole gave the 38-year-old Palmer a one-stroke victory over Coody, Wall and Nicklaus. Another shot back were Casper, Julius Boros, South Africa's Harold Henning and Bert Weaver.

Bill Collins, who had the lead or a share of it after each of the first three rounds, soared to an 80 with a round that included three birdies. He went one over on five holes and two over on three.

LARGEST OF MANY

The $30,000 cheque was the largest ever for Palmer. It pushed him ahead of Nicklaus in the 1967 earnings race with $182,393.96, more than any golfer has pocketed in one season, and upped his record career earnings to $936,844.11.

Palmer needed only 29 putts over the chilly and windy 7,055-yard Upper Montclair Country Club course.

Palmer began the final round five strokes behind Collins.

Palmer will leave Tuesday for Japan, where he will film a television golf show. Then it's on to London for the world match play tournament, the Ryder Cup competition in Houston, the Sahara and Hawaiian tour events and after that the world cup matches in Mexico City.

"Then," he said, "I'll retire —for about a month or two."

284—Jack Nicklaus, Charles Coody, Art Wall, $12,250.
285—Harold Henning, Julius Boros, Ber Weaver, Bill Casper, $5,474.
286—Bob Goalby, $4,200.
287—Pat Schwab, Gary Player, $3,750.
288—Tom Wiskopf, Johnny Pott, $3,150.
289—Rocky Thompson, Bill Collins, $2,775.
290—B. Martindale, Doug Sanders, Jomero Blancas, Ken Venturi, Bob Goetz, Bruce Crampton, $2,175.

Rangers' Home Debut Ruined by Ramblers

Times News Services

Orange County Ramblers pulled the plush new carpet out from under Seattle and dumped the Rangers 19-7 in their first Continental Football League home game of the season Sunday.

The Californians were unable to pile up anywhere near their previous average of 50 points per contest on Seattle Memorial Stadium's new astroturf before 7,000 fans.

Trailing 7-0 at the half, Orange County turned a short punt, a pass interception and a fumble recover into 16 points during the third quarter, then added a field goal in the final period to chalk up its fourth straigth western division triumph.

At San Jose, the Apaches scored their third straight win by swamping the Sacramento Bucaaneers 41-0.

San Jose outgained Sacramento 260 to 95 yards on the ground and 231 to 147 in the air.

Dick Tatley kicked two field goals and four conversions, while quarterback Charlie Green completed 10 of 20 passes for a total of 143 yards.

Stewart Avoids Racing Trouble

ALBI, France (AP) — Jackie Stewart of Scotland won the Grand Prix of France for Formula Two cars Sunday, driving his Matra to victory over Austrian Jochen Rindt.

Stewart, in one of his rare trouble-free drives, took the lead early and kept it. Rindt, who has dominated Formula Two racing this year, came in second in his Brabham-Cosworth while Jim Clark of Scotland was third in a Lotus Ford.

Stewart's winning time in the 169-mile race was a record one hour, 33 minutes, 7.7 seconds.

Tigers Drop Back In Hot Flag Race

Top Three Clubs Keeping in Step But Detroit Upset

By The Associated Press

Paul Casanova and Fred Valentine delivered key singles in a three-run Washington ninth that gave the Senators a 5-4 victory over Detroit Tigers Sunday. The loss shoved the Tigers into fourth place, 1½ games behind, as the torrid American League pennant race moved into its final week.

Minnesota retained its half-game lead, beating New York Yankees 9-4 for Dean Chance's 20th victory. Boston Red Sox stayed right behind the Twins by walloping Baltimore Orioles 11-4 with an 18-hit attack. Third place Chicago White Sox used four pitchers to stop Cleveland Indians 3-1 and stayed one game behind. In another game, California Angels edged Kansas City Athletics 2-1.

In Saturday's AL action New York trimmed Minnesota 6-2, California edged Kansas City 3-2, Baltimore downed Boston 7-5 and Chicago hammered Cleveland 8-0.

HELD LATE LEAD

The Tigers carried a 4-2 lead into the ninth inning against Washington and were looking forward to their third straight victory over the Senators.

But Mike Epstein and Frank Coggins opened with singles. After Ken McMullen bunted into a force out, Casanova singled one run across.

Reliever John Hiller retired Cap Peterson on a line drive for the second out.

But Doug Camilli singled the tying run across and Valentine followed with the fifth single of the inning, scoring Casanova with the winner.

Bob Allison walloped a three-run home run and Harmon Killebrew tagged his 41st of the season, making it easy for Chance, who allowed 12 hits.

'SOX RIP ORIOLES

Boston tore into the Orioles with Dalton Jones, George Scott and Jerry Adair smashing four hits apiece. Jones drove in five runs, giving him nine in the last week and 25 for the season.

Jim Lonborg allowed just two hits in the six innings he pitched and won his 21st game. He is expected to start two of Boston's four remaining games.

Larry Jaster, who lost his starting job when St. Louis' ace right-hander Bob Gibson recovered from a broken leg three weeks, ago, pitched two scoreless innings in relief as the Cardinals struggled to a 5-4 victory over Atalanta Braves.

While the runaway pennant winners were shading Atlanta in their final home game before the World Series, Pittsburgh Pirates edged second place San Francisco Giants 2-1; Cincinnati Reds topped Chicago Cubs 3-2 in 10 innings; Philadelphia Phillies beat Los Angeles Dodgers 3-1 and Houston Astros trimmed New York Mets 4-2.

THE HOCKEY SCENE . . .

Leafs Earn Split On Keon's Steal

By The Canadian Press

The National Hockey League stepped up its exhibition pace during the weekend as all 12 teams played 12 games; seven on Sunday.

Highlight of the weekend schedule were back-to-back games between Toronto Maple Leafs, Stanley Cup champions, and Chicago Black Hawks, first-place finishers in the regular season last year.

The Hawks edged the Leafs 5-4 in Toronto Saturday night when Bobby Hull scored with 56 seconds remaining in the game. The Leafs won 2-1 Sunday night on Dave Keon's goal at 16:15 of the last period with his team a man short.

BRUINS CLIPPED

In other games Sunday night, Detroit Red Wings beat Boston Bruins 3-2 at Hamilton, Ont., California Seals and Pittsburgh Penguins played to a 3-3 tie at Port Huron, Mich., Minnesota North Stars shut out Los Angeles Kings 3-0, Montreal Canadiens defeated Quebec Aces of the American League 5-1 at Quebec City, New York Rangers beat their Buffalo AHL farm club 3-1 and St. Louis Blues downed Rochester Americans of the AHL 6-2.

In Saturday's other game, Montreal defeated New York 4-1, Minnesota shaded California 4-2, Pittsburgh beat Philadelphia 7-3, and St. Louis edged Rochester 3-2.

KEON GETS WINNER

A crowd of 14,000 saw the Leafs-Black Hawks game at Chicago Stadium. Toronto's Mike Walton was serving a penalty when Keon stole the puck near the Toronto blue line and skated in to beat goalie Dave Dryden with a 15-footer.

Mike Byers had given Leafs a 1-0 lead on a backhander past Jack Norris, the Hawks' starting goalie. The Hawks tied the score minutes later on Bobby Hull's goal.

Dean Prentice, Floyd Smith and Gordie Howe scored for Detroit against Boston. Ken Hodge and Ross Lonsberry replied for Bruins.

Billy Harris, Wally Boyer and Ron Boehm scored California's goals at Port Huron. Ab McDonald, Mel Pearson and Billy LeCaine connected for Pittsburgh.

TWO FOR TAYLOR

Ted Taylor scored twice to lead Minnesota in its shutout over Los Angeles. Murray Hall, who assisted on Taylor's goals, added the other.

The Canadiens got two goals from Dick Duff in their game at Quebec City before 12,600 fans. Claude Larose, Jean Beliveau and rookie Mickey Redmond added the others. Quebec's goal was scored by Bill Sutherland.

Al Hamilton, Jean Ratelle and Red Berenson scored for New York against Buffalo. Dennis Hextall got Buffalo's goal.

Rejean Richer scored two first-period goals to pace St. Louis at Rochester. Bill McCreary, also with two, and Darryl Edestrand and Larry Keenan were the other scorers. Gerry Ehman and Bronco Horvath scored for Rochester.

Third Victory For Canada

LEVERKUSEN, West Germany (AP) — Canada defeated France 1-0 Sunday to pick up its third win in the women's field hockey tournament.

Victory gave the Canadian team a 3-3 won-lost record and left them in 11th place in the 19-country tournament.

The Canadians took 52 minutes before they were able to get the ball past France's goalie, Clair Bucherad. Susan Jarret of Agincourt, Ont., finally got the goal.

Italy Captures Shooting Title

BOLOGNA, Italy (AP) — Italy won the world team trapshooting championship Saturday, outscoring the United States 732 hits to 719.

The Italian squad missed 68 targets out of a total of 800.

That was 13 fewer misses than recorded by the Americans.

The Soviet Union was third with 716 while Canada and Spain each totalled 705 hits.

Lou, Rollie Pace Phoenix Triumph

PENTICTION, — If getting off on the right foot means anything, then Phoenix Roadrunners may prove to be a surprise new addition to the Western Hockey League.

The 'Runners hit the road Saturday night, tagging Seattle Totems with a 7-4 defeat in the first-ever game for the new Phoenix club. It was an impressive start, especially when consideration must be given to the fact that Seattle stands up as the league's defending champions.

Veteran winger Lou Jankowski and youthful Rollie Wilcox sparked the Roadrunners' attack, each scoring two goals. Singles went to Dick Lamoureux, Sandy Hucul and Tom Polanic.

Sophomore Bob Schmautz scored two goals for the Seattle club while Don Chiz and old smoothie Guyle Fielder, the perennial scoring champion, each added one. Fielder also earned two assists.

Roadrunners' out-shot Seattle 32-27 during the rugged exhibition opener. Veteran Jim Armstrong made all the saves for Totems while coach Alf Pike of Phoenix shuttled three goalies, including a pair of rookies, into his nets. Rick Charron stopped seven, Gary Holland 11 and Mike Berridge 11 shots.

Holland was perhaps the most impressive, making several good saves in a rugged period that was marred by numerous penalties and a fist-swinging free-for-all.

Polanic and centre Neil Clark of Phoenix and Seattle's Earl Heiskala and Schmautz paired off in the brawl. Heiskala, with a reputation of being rugged, met Polanic in the "main-eventer." The burly Phoenix defenceman won a unanimous decision.

The Seattle club visits Memorial Arena on Thursday.

Phoenix returned to their training camp in Victoria on Sunday, and coach Pike was greeted by goalie Claude Cyr and winger Ray Racette. Their arrival in camp means only one player — winger Tom McVie — has not reported.

Pike said he would know, "one way or another" on the status of McVie within the next few days.

NOTHING TO GAIN, BOSTON FEELS . . . . . . OLYMPIC BAN PROPOSED

Negro Boycott 'Doesn't Make Sense'

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Ralph Boston, the agile Negro who holds the world's long jump record, said Saturday he was involved in three incidents — none racial — during summer track meets. And he contended a proposed Negro boycott of the 1968 Olympics "doesn't make a lot of sense."

Boston's comments came in response to a disclosure by Tommie Smith, San Jose State sprinter who also is a world record-holder, that Negroes may boycott the Olympics in Mexico City because of the way they are treated by white athletes.

Lee Evans, Smith's teammate at San Jose State, said Boston led abortive rebellions by Negro athletes at two meets this summer.

Boston, a former jumper for Tennessee A & I State, said he was involved in incidents in a meet against British Commonwealth teams in Los Angeles, the Pan-American Games trials in Minneapolis and a meet following the Pan-Am Games at Winnipeg.

None, he said, were racial. At Los Angeles, he said Jerry Bright, Arizona State white athlete, was chosen over George Anderson, Southern University Negro, for a relay team. He protested, he said, but was told Bright was chosen because he "was more practiced in passing the baton. That was that."

At Minneapolis, he said, the incident concerned sprinter Wyomia Tyus, and A & I coach Ed Temple. Boston said he preferred to "let Temple tell you what happened." Temple could not be reached.

At Montreal, he said, the incident involved return airline tickets.

"There might be a boycott," said Boston, but "it doesn't make a lot of sense. I can't see what is to be gained by asking a boy who has been in training for five or six years just to compete in the Olympics suddenly saying, 'no, I won't do it.' If an American can go to Vietnam and die, why can't I go to Mexico City and run."

Boston said he had never experienced any problems with white athletes on or off the track.

Steelers Pay Price For Training Lack

Cohesion Poor In 26-17 Loss To Eugene Club

Eugene, 26; Victoria, 17

By DOUG PEDEN

It takes talent, spirit and cohesion to win professional football games.

Victoria Steelers appeared to have good talent and fair spirit Saturday night at Royal Athletic Park, but they were caught short on togetherness and dropped a 26-17 Continental Football League decision to the unexpectedly tough Eugene Bombers.

Playing before a bumper crowd of 5,205 fans, including about 2,500 youngsters, Steelers made a promising start and then gradually lost the initiative when quarterbacks Pat Mills and Terry Durham were unable to consistently fling passes within grabbing distance of receivers.

Passing a Problem

Timing on running plays also left something to be desired but it is probable the erratic passing did the most to take the starch out of the Steelers, who were paying the penalty for a shortage in practice time.

Angered by the lack of training opportunities was Victoria coach Don McKeta, who admitted the Bombers surprised him with their ability to control the ball against tough Steeler defenders as they collected their first win in five starts.

"I think our team did a fine job, considering the fact that we never had a chance to practice as a unit this week," said McKeta.

"This can't happen again.

"If we can spend time practicing, we've got a good football team. We just weren't ready for this one."

Asked if the failure to bring players residing near Seattle to Victoria last week for workouts was a result of financial troubles, McKeta replied:

"I'd sooner not comment on that, but I'll tell you we're planning for future games. And I'm working on arrangements to practice as a unit."

Field Goal Mark

Steelers, who also had trouble defending against the passing of Paul Brothers, made it an interesting game before they were finally knocked down for the count by the late-game heroics of Brothers and Tom Roach.

They grabbed a 3-0 lead on Ken Danchuck's first-quarter field goal and later bounced from behind to take a 17-13 lead in the third quarter.

Then Roach, who converted both Eugene touchdowns and matched a division record by booting four field goals, hoisted his third field goal, Brothers went four yards for a touchdown and Roach put it out of reach with another field goal with less than two minutes remaining.

Costly Penalty

Workhorse Chester Ward got the other Eugene major, bulling over from one yard out after a long pass to halfback Bill Ford was ruled complete because of face-guarding by a Steeler defender.

Dick Zampese, with a great catch of a Mills pass, and Durham, on a five-yard gallop, collected Victoria touchdowns, both converted by Danchuck.

Fred Forsberg, a tremendous figure on defence, and new half back Steve Jones, always dangerous with his slashing style of running, were the most impressive Steelers.

Bombers kept steady pressure on Durham and Mills and none gave the Victoria quarterbacks more trouble than Dennis Brewster, sent to Eugene by Los Angeles Rams while recovering from a knee injury.

COWICHAN CLICKS

Herold Explodes For Four Majors

Mike Herold staged a one-man uprising Sunday at Macdonald Park as Victoria Hornets remained on the heels of Cowichan Timbermen in the Vancouver Island Juvenile Football League.

Herold broke loose for four touchdowns to pave the way for Hornets' 34-6 triumph over the winless James Bay Mustangs.

Timbermen stayed two points in front of Hornets and dropped Farmer Construction to third place as they clipped the Oak Bay crew 14-8 in a defensive battle at Carnarvon Park.

Timbermen appeared likely to find themselves in a three-way deadlock for first place until Greg McMartin started them on the comeback trail.

FAKE PAYS OFF

With his club behind 8-0 in the third quarter, McMartin took off on a 45-yard touchdown run from a field-goal formation and then booted two singles in the fourth quarter to square the count at 8-8.

Ray Klugh killed Oak Bay's hopes for a third straight league championship when he scopped up the ball for a 75-yard touchdown gallop after a Farmer field goal attempt had been blocked.

Oak Bay's touchdown also came on a blocked kick, Bob Love doing the blocking and Dan Savard grabing the ball for the second-period major. Other Farmer points came on Bill Hammer's conversion and a single by Phil Pimlott.

Defensive units held control at Macdonald Park until 10 minutes into the second period, when Herold scooted 52 yards around left end for his first TD.

LATE FIREWORKS

Herold's fourth major gave Hornets a 27-0 lead and triggered a scoring surge that produced three touchdowns in less than three minutes in the dying stages of the final quarter.

Ron Thom ran back the resulting kickoff for a Mustang major and Jim Temple came right back with a TD for Hornets, who got four converts from Dave Granlin.

Jackson Revives Slumping Ottawa

By The Canadian Press

Ottawa Rough Riders rebounded from a three-game losing streak Sunday, thumping Toronto Argonauts 38-3 to break a second-place tie with Argos in the Eastern Football Conference.

Quarterback Russ Jackson, running and passing with authority, directed the Riders to an offence of 524 yards—292 passing — despite a field made slippery by rains.

Jackson threw two long touchdown passes — one for 55 yards to Margene Adkins and another of 81 yards to fullback Bo Scott. Whit Tucker caught a 16-yarder for a third touchdown while Ron Stewart and Don Gilbert ran for the other Ottawa touchdowns.

Don Sutherin added a 22-yard field goal and three converts while Moe Racine got one convert and a single on a wide field goal attempt.

SCORE SINGLES

Argos got their points on singles; two missed field goals by John Vilunas and the other on a 60-yard punt by Dave Mann.

The victory gave Ottawa eight points in eight games, four behind first-place Hamilton Tiger-Cats, who defeated Montreal Alouettes 19-1 in a dull game Saturday at Hamilton.

Hamilton won its sixth game in seven starts as Willie Bethea ran for the lone Ticat touchdown. Tommy Joe Coffey converted and kicked three field goals. Quarterback Joe Zuger punted for three singles.

Dave Lewis booted a 60-yard single for Montreal's only point.

The 21,031 fans who braved the cold and chilly weather at Lansdowne Park saw the Riders enjoy their best rushing game of the season. Of the 232 yards gained on the ground, Stewart ran for 100 on nine carries and Scott overpowered tacklers for another 99 on 11.

Scott also caught three passes for 116 yards, Stewart two for 30 and Adkins four for 88 as Jackson completed 11 of 18 attempts.

Coffey, Bethea and stout Hamilton defence combined to beat the Als.

NEARS RECORD

Coffey's three field goals brought his record for the year to 12 in 17 tries. With half a season to go, he is nearing the EFC record of 19 field goals set by Don Sutherin, the man whose job he inherited.

Hamilton had a total offence of 295 yards, 158 on the ground. Bethea rushed for 106 yards on 19 carries and also was the best receiver, catching seven passes for 82 yards.

Hamilton limited the Als to 27 yards rushing. Montreal gained 141 yards in the air, quarterback George Bork completing nine of 25 passes. Roger Murphy caught five Bork passes for 64 yards and Don Davis three for 59.

CRUNCHING TACKLE by Calgary's John Williams (left) almost forced Saskatchewan's Gord Barwell to lose ball in Western Football Conference game at Regina Sunday. Similarly, Roughriders, who led 17-0 after first quarter, almost lost. But Barwell and Riders held. Saskatchewan won 28-27.

CHANDLER SAVES GREEN BAY

Bakken Came Crackin' For Field Goal Record

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Jim Bakken set a National Football League record of seven field goals Sunday in nine attempts.

His kicking carried St. Louis Cardinals to a 28-14 victory over Pittsburgh Steelers.

"I knew about the record, and it almost cost me," Bakken said.

"When I kicked the seventh one, I wanted to see if it was any good almost before I kicked it. So I looked up and almost dubbed it. I just made it."

The 23-yard field goal broke the mark of six set last season by soccer-style kicker Garo Yepremian of Detroit Lions.

Don Chandler, another kicker, saved Green Bay Packers from defeat for the second straight week.

WINS SECOND GAME

Chandler, who booted an 18-yarder with 1:43 left to gain Green Bay a 17-17 tie with Detroit in their season opener, kicked a 46-yarder with just 63 seconds remaining Sunday, giving the Packers a 13-10 victory over Chicago Bears.

In other NFL games, Johnny Unitas boosted his career passing yardage past the 30,000-mark as Baltimore Colts clobbered Philadelphia Eagles 38-6, Washington Redskins drubbed New Orleans Saints 30-10, Dallas Cowboys clipped New York Giants 38-24, Detroit topped Cleveland Browns 31-14 and San Francisco '49ers trounced Atlanta Falcons 38-7.

Bakken was pleased with the record but thought he could have improved upon it. He missed a 50-yard attempt and one of 45 yards, but connected on boots of 18, 24, 33, 29, 32, 24 and 23 yards.

The Cardinals, who stymied Pittsburgh with three interceptions and a fumble recovery they converted into 16 points, scored their only touchdown on quarterback Jim Hart's 23-yard run in the first quarter.

Although Green Bay never could get rolling—Chicago intercepted five Bart Starr passes and recovered three fumbles—the Packers led 10-0 at halftime behind Jim Grabowski's two-yard touchdown run and Chandler's 20-yard field goal.

Chicago got a 22-yard three-pointer from Mac Percival in the third quarter and tied the game on Gale Sayer's 13-yard TD dash minutes before Chandler's winning kick.

Unitas passed 10 and 31 yards to flanker Willie Richards and Tony Lorick scored on a pair of three-yard runs in Baltimore's romp. Sam Baker kicked two field goals for Philadelphia's points.

Washington's rookie fullback, Ray McDonald, proved too much for New Orleans. McDonald scored on runs of one, 36 and 15 yards and gained 98 yards in 15 carries.

In the American League, Boston's Jim Nanace piled up 185 yards in 34 carries Sunday to lead the Patriots to a 23-0 victory over Buffalo Bills. It was the first shutout the Bills have suffered in 137 games.

In their first three games, all defeats, the Patriots fumbled five times and had 11 passes intercepted. Sunday, they didn't fumble once or have a pass intercepted.

In other AFL games, New York Jets beat Denver Broncos 38-24, Kansas City Chiefs blanked Miami Marlins 24-0 and San Diego Chargers upended Houston Oilers 13-3.

Missed Goals Help Riders Back to Top

By The Canadian Press

Saskatchewan Roughriders are back in first place in the Western Football Conference, thanks to two missed field goal attempts by Larry Robinson.

Robinson missed on attempts from 37 and 33 yards as Calgary Stampeders Sunday dropped a 28-27 game to the 'Riders before a record Regina crowd of 22,028.

In the other weekend game Edmonton Eskimos scored 22-9 win over Winnipeg Blue Bombers Saturday night at Winnipeg before 17,121 fans.

The results left Saskatchewan and Calgary tied in first with 14 points, Edmonton third with nine, Winnipeg fourth with six and British Columbia Lions last with three.

The next game has Winnipeg visiting Vancouver Wednesday night.

TAKE EARLY LEAD

Saskatchewan started out like a steamroller leading 17-0 at the end of the first quarter. But Calgary rallied to go into a 27-24 lead at the end of the third quarter.

Then Saskatchewan scored two safety touches to go ahead 28-27.

Saskatchewan got touchdowns from George Reed, Al Ford and Hugh Campbell. Jack Abendschan converted all three and added a field goal. Roughriders' other points came on two safety touches.

Calgary got two touchdowns from Lovell Coleman. Herm Harrison and Terry Evenshen also counted touchdowns for Stampeders and Robinson converted three.

PASSES 351 YARDS

Quarterback Peter Liske of Stampeders, completed 23 of 31 for 351 yards compared with 13 of 21 by Ron Lancaster for 248 yards.

At Winnipeg Saturday Eskimo defenders scored two touchdowns—one on a blocked kick, the other on an intercepted pass.

Edmonton's touchdowns were scored by Trent Walters, Art Perkins and Gary Lefebvre. Peter Kempt converted all three and Randy Kerbow kicked a single.

Winnipeg's one touchdown came when Dave Raimey took a forward from quarterback Bill Van Burkleo. Ernie Kuzyk added a convert and a single on a field goal attempt. Ed Ulmer punted for another single.

Quarterback Frank Consentino completed five of 13 pass attempts and the Edmonton offence gained 96 yards rushing and 92 passing.

The Edmonton defence intercepted three passes, recovered three fumbles and caught quarterback Van Burkleo for lost yardage totalling 23.

Paul Reynolds Fastest Driver

Paul Reynolds posted the fastest time of the day at Colwood Sunday as the Victoria Motor Sports staged its final championship gymkhana of the season.

Driving an MG Midget, Reynolds was timed in 1:19.96 as he beat out Bill Rumsby for first place in the small sports division.

ACCURATE KICKING of England fullback Robert Hiller could be important factor when rugby tourists tackle British Columbia All-Stars in match Tuesday at Royal Athletic Park. Also a dangerous runner, Hiller accounted for 16 points Saturday as his club defeated Alberta 22-3 at Calgary. He kicked four penalty goals and conversion. Tuesday's game starts at 8 p.m. following junior exhibition match between Victoria and Mid-Island side.

Average Not Impressive, But Halket 'Truly' Happy

By HAL MALONE

One hit in six attempts is not a classic batting average.

But Jimmy Halket will take it.

Trainer Halket missed with five horses he sent to the post at Sandown Saturday. But he "got the fat of the bat on the ball" with his sixth steed and won the race he wanted most.

The Halket-trained This Is True, in a remarkable display of speed and courage, turned back six of the best on the grounds to win the Percy Fox Memorial over a mile.

Speed? This Is True headed Permano out of the gate and not many do that. Getting a hell-for-leather ride from Basil Frazier, This Is True kept Permano on the outside for a blistering half-mile. Permano then took the gas.

Courage? While Permano had been beating his brains out, Princess Vega had tucked in behind waiting for the leaders to go cross-eyed.

BOILERS BURNING

Wayne Harris sent the Princess after This Is True, all boilers popping. They actually caught him and passed him but This Is True simply grabbed the bit, dug in and pulled away.

"He's a bulldog," an appreciative Frazier said of This Is True.

"When a horse comes to him he won't quit. He just reaches down for more."

Harris said he thought he had This Is True measured for defeat. "My mare (Princess Vega) gave it everything but This Is True wouldn't back down."

Enchalade was third.

BIG CHEESE FIFTH

Big Cheese, a prairie three-year-old who had won five races and $8,442 went to the post second favorite. He finished fifth.

Jockey Sandy Shields said the gelding "couldn't get hold of the track" the first part. "Then I took him out from the rail and he stopped bobbing up and down and started to run."

Jack Phillips said Permano had no excuses. "He didn't fire out of the gate like he can and he tightens up when he can't run alone on the lead."

Phillips did a lot of "running alone" throughout the warm afternoon before 5,500 fans.

THREE WINNERS

Three times he was alone where it counts — at the finish line. He drove Gus Heer's Woody's Nite and Peaceful Nite and Spree's Fancy, into the winner's circle.

Woody's Nite made it via a detour which almost took her — and Phillips — to the grandstand hot dog booth. For the second straight race she bolted entering the stretch.

"She's cute about it," Phillips said. "She goes along nicely, never lets on and then swoosh! I was waiting for her but she still fooled me."

He didn't sound too annoyed. They rarely do when they win.

FOR THE MASTER

Before the Percy Fox, trainer Halket was saying, "This is a strange business. You come here with horses you think will run well and you can't win a race. I like this track but I'd like it a lot better if I could get one home."

This Is True, like the faithful servant, heeded his master's wish.

B.C. Has Its Warning, English Draw Caution

England's national rugby team scampered through a light workout this morning at Macdonals Park with manager Mickey Steele-Bodger cautioning his stars that Tuesday's game at Royal Athletic Park could be the toughest of a five-game Canadian tour.

There were, perhaps, also a few words of warning for the B.C. representative side that will oppose the visitors in Tuesday's tussle.

After saying he was satisfied with the performance of his team in a tour-opening 22-3 victory over the Alberta all-stars Saturday at Calgary, Steele-Bodger added:

"But we had had a long trip and will be much improved Tuesday night."

ONLY TWO TRIES

At Calgary, the English stars were able to spring their swift backfield loose for only two tries against the close marking of the Alberta backs.

However, fullback Robert Hiller kept them out of danger, kicking four penalty goals from distances of 25 to 35 yards and converting the two tries, both scored by elusive centre Robert Hearn.

Alberta's lone score came on a 32-yard penalty goal by fullback Bruce Raines.

Phillip Judd, captain of the English team, said after the game his backs didn't break away as often as expected because they found the Alberta team playing "a little different to what we're used to."

ARRIVED SUNDAY

The difference was, apparently, a tendency of the Albertans to move in from offside positions.

Judd, a 168-pound prop forward who has represented England 21 times in international matches and the rest of the English contingent arrived by air from Calgary Sunday night.

After this morning's training session, the tourists were invited to relax at golf, fishing or sightseeing before leaving at 5:30 for a trip to Sooke.

They are scheduled to visit Butchart Gardens at noon Tuesday before resting up for their 8 p.m. match with the British Columbia representatives.

They will leave at noon Wednesday for Vancouver, where they meet the Canadian team Saturday.

Perseverance Pays For Veteran Hartley

Perseverance paid off Sunday for Gordon Hartley.

After 20 years of tournament tennis, Hartley won his first championship, taking the men's singles title in the club tourney at the Racquet Club.

Controlling play most of the way with well-placed baseline shots, Hartley stroked his way to a 7-5, 6-1 victory over Martin Taylor, the man who defeated Hartley in the city championship final earlier this year.

THREE FOR SALLY

Sally Wood emerged as the standout of Sunday's finals as she won three titles without losing a set.

Mrs. Wood downed Wendy Cuppage 6-3, 6-2 in the singles final, partnered Mrs. Cuppage for a 6-1, 6-4 doubles win over Joan Parlby and Bernice Parrish and then teamed with Ted Smythe to take the mixed doubles diadem with a 6-2, 6-4 triumph over Mrs. Cuppage and Ed Hedley.

The men's doubles was won convincingly by Dr. Kemble Greenwood and son Michael, who tripped Hedley and "Doc" Miller 6-2, 6-2.

Colwood's Don Ross and Jimmy Simpson gave up the senior golf buttons to a Gorge Vale pairing last week when they were beaten by Moke Morgan and Ed Peacock on the 18th green in a match played at Glen Meadows.

An Uplands team, yet to be determined, will make the next challenge.

SCHUMACHER NATIONAL HYDRO KING

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Young Billy Schumacher, the 24-year-old Seattle baker, pushed his speedy Miss Bardahl to first place in the $25,000 San Diego Cup race for unlimited hydroplanes here Sunday.

It was the sixth win in eight races on the national unlimited circuit for the young driver and his Seattle boat.

The victories also gave Schumacher the national championship, which is determined on points won through the season.

Freddie Alter took second in Sunday's race with Parco's-O-Ring Miss. He was followed by Seattle's Bill Muncey in Miss U.S. Fourth place went to My Gypsy, driven by Ed O'Halloran. Miss Budweiser, driven by Mike Thomas was fifth.

Thomson Selected To Represent Island

Walter Thomson of Victoria has been appointed Vancouver Island representative in the newly-formed National Wheelchair Sports Association.

Thomson was a contestant at the Parapletic Centennial Games at Montreal, where two Victoria entrants gained awards. Wilf Parson won honors as the best male athlete in "B" classification and Lorna Vinden was named second best female wheelchair athlete in Canada.

RIVALS CAN'T HACK IT WITH SMITH BROTHERS

SPOKANE — Rookie Roy Smith, of Victoria, upset veteran drivers of the Canadian American Modified Racing Association in a weekend meet here and captured the CAMRA championship race.

Smith, who was driving stock cars earlier this season and was competing for only the fourth time in a modified car, collected the most points in events held Saturday and Sunday.

In second place was Norm Ellefson, former Edmonton pilot now residing in Spokane, who this season won the CAMRA overall point championship for the second successive year.

Al Smith, Roy's older brother, was running in first place in Sunday's main event when his car broke down.

HASLAM LOSES LAP

Seattle Drivers Grab Main Events

Jack Jeffrey finished a surprised third in one event but the Seattle driver still made it a big night Saturday as the curtain dropped on the 1967 stock car racing season at Western Speedway.

Jeffrey and another Sound City pilot, Hugh Boyle, each collected victories in 100-lap main events as 4,300 fans watched the season's closing meet, which was open to both regulation stockers and super stockers.

His triumph in the "A" main capped an impressive evening for Jeffrey, who started off by setting a new track record for super stocks as he zipped a lap in 19.20 seconds during time trials.

JUMPING GEAR

Later, he appeared to have clinched a win in the "A" trophy dash, but both Jones and fans were surprised when his car jumped out of gear while he was running smoothly toward the finish line.

The freak occurrence was enough to allow eventual winner John Rothwell of Vancouver and Seattle's Greg Jones to pass Jeffrey.

There was nothing freakish about Jeffrey's performance in the "A" main, in which he finished a decisive winner.

Second place appeared to be the property of Victoria's Roy Haslam, Vancouver Island point champion this season, when Jones and Bellingham's Don Latting tangled their cars and slammed into the grandstand wall of the final lap.

However, when officials finished checking race records Sunday night they decided Haslam had completed only 97 laps when checkered flag dropped while Jones and Latting had finished 98 circuits.

Jones was placed second with Latting third and Haslam in fourth place.

Other Victoria drivers in the top 10 of the "A" main were Neil Montgomery (eighth), Bob Bissenden (ninth) and Fred Isaacson (10th).

Two Victoria drivers, Mel Marshall and Dave Ferris, followed Boyle cross the line in the "B" main and another pair of Victoria pilots grabbed the top two places in the "B" trophy dash.

Gerry Knight got home ahead of Fred Best in the "B" dash with Vancouver's Ron Morrison grabbing the third spot.

The Americans hot dogs and pop;

And the Canadian embassy — Player's cigarettes.

This was the reception for Richard Grooms in Teheran after he fled Iraq at the start of the Arab-Israeli war.

Mr. Grooms passed into Iran with the last British convoy to be evacuated from Baghdad when that country declared itself at a state of war with Israel.

A professor of art history, now at the University of Victoria, Mr. Grooms was teaching at the University of Baghdad on an exchange program.

"Two days before the war broke out, I was coming home on my motorcycle when I was trapped by a mob of students hurling oranges and shouting anti-American slogans.

BETTER THAN NOTHING when you're caught in a war is a 19th century Turkish cavalry pistol. Richard Grooms is shown with some of the souvenirs he managed to send to Canada before the Middle East war broke out.

Storm Warnings

"We had storm warnings of the war but everyone said it would blow over. I was completely unprepared.

"The students surrounded me but I managed to pull a 'Steve McQueen,' revved up my motorcycle, jumped the curb and escaped."

The morning that war broke out, Mr. Grooms was listening to the Baghdad radio.

"An announcement from Cairo said the city was being bombed by American and British planes. I couldn't believe it.

"They were playing martial music all morning on the radio and the announcers were becoming more and more hysterical.

"Finally, they made the official announcement that Iran was at war with Israel and had severed all relations with the United States and Britain.

"The next piece of martial music the announcer chose was The Stars and Stripes Forever. I nearly died laughing.

Told to Sit Tight

"When we phoned the American and British embassies (there is no Canadian embassy in Iraq) they told us to sit tight and await plans for evacuation.

"I had planned to spend four or five days marking final papers. Believe me, I got the papers marked in 20 minutes—passed everybody."

Mr. Grooms thought he would have a few days to pack up his possessions including a manuscript of a book he was writing.

But he had to leave everything behind when a British friend phoned to say all the Americans had burned their files and left—and the last British convoy was to leave that night.

The convoy, escorted by Iranian armored cars, took four hours to travel the 60 miles to the border and another four to cross.

"The border officials were extremely nasty. No one was stopped but they made it extremely unpleasant."

Now Safe at Home

Safe at home in Canada, Mr. Grooms had some interesting comments on his experiences:

On the war: "Most of my American friends were pro-Arab because of the question of the Palestinian refugees. But I felt that the Arabs were using the refugees as pawns—keeping them in a miserable state so they could use them as whipping boys.

"It is not a black and white question but it is hard not to sympathize with the Israelis because the Arabs have consistently refused to negotiate.

"Many of my Arab friends felt that the war was a mistake. But they were all positive they would win within a week."

On the country: "Economic conditions are bad in Iraq. We spent eight days in the marsh country where the people are really neolithic. They still spear fish and shoot fowl with slingshots. There is no electricity but they all have transistor radios."

On the state of Arabian women: "Islamic law says women are created equal but this is completely untrue. Whenever they go on the street they have to wear a black "abayah" which makes them appear like sexless, anonymous nuns.

"When you visit the home of an Iraqi you never see his wives. The whole country is characterized by an abayah mentality. They cloak everything under a false puritanism.

"Because women are so rarely seen and there is no way for couples to meet except through arranged marriages, Iran has a flourishing pornography market. But everything is kept hidden—under the table."

On the family: The family controls everything in Iraq and a few large inter-related families or clans control the whole country.

"I met a sheikh who had huge estates. He told me he was penniless. Before he could sell any of his property, he had to have more than 10,000 signatures of distant relatives. But if anyone were to threaten or hurt him, he had 10,000 men ready to ride."

On the government: "The whole thing is a huge payola racket—everyone has a friend. Because Iraq is a police state everyone is connected with the government. Promotion is based on not doing anything wrong. There is a fantastic bureaucracy of men who sit around and do nothing because they are afraid to make a wrong decision.

"Whenever a new government comes to power, all university students who have failed are passed. In this attempt to get votes, government officials change the marks and you have practising doctors and engineers who have actually failed the examinations."

NEW ZEALAND TO EXTEND BAR HOURS

WELLINGTON, New Zealand (Reuters) — New Zealanders have voted by a 2-to-1 majority to keep their bars open until 10 p.m., ending 50 years of the "six o'clock swill."

In order to end the 6 p.m. closing time, New Zealanders closed their bars at noon Saturday and went out to vote.

Provisional results: 595,475 for extending closing time to 10 p.m.; 335,949 against. An estimated 79 per cent of the electorate voted.

Prime Minister Holyoake said legislation implementing the result would be introduced in the House of Representatives as soon as possible.

Riel Opera Acclaimed At Premiere

By MEL SUFRIN

TORONTO (CP) — Louis Riel, an opera portraying the revolutionary period in the life of one of the genuinely tragic figures in Canadian history, was given its world premiere at O'Keefe Centre Saturday night by the Canadian Opera Company.

The three-act musical drama in English and French proved to be more of an emotion-packed theatrical pageant than an opera in the traditional sense.

The atonal dissonances of composer Harry Somers fitted the mood of the action on stage but, like the starkly spare sets, often seemed more a backdrop than a part of the play.

Unfortunately for those who had not read the libretto, written by Mavor Moore in collaboration with Jacques Languirand, the unmuted trumpets occasionally overpowered some of the more dramatic lines of dialogue.

But if this is not opera in the classic style, it nevertheless is powerful drama. And after a rather slow-moving first act, it was evident that the first-night audience was gripped by the unfolding tragedy.

Louis Riel, commissioned by the Floyd S. Chalmers Foundation and produced with the financial assistance of the Centennial Commission, Canada Council and Ontario Council for the Arts, is the second opera to be given its world premiere by the Canadian Opera Company.

BIRCH, CANE OUTLAWED

LONDON (AP) — Canes, birch rods and cats-o'-nine tails will go up in smoke at prison yard bonfires Sunday, the home office ordered today.

The fires will mark the official end of corporal punishment in British prisons. The last man to feel the birch whip got 15 lashes in 1962.

The order applies to 40 prisons that keep the implements, in case a visiting magistrate orders their use.

FIRST OF SEASON

Good Program, Players Overwhelm Concert Crowd

By BERYL PROUDMAN

The discriminating audience which attended the first of this season's recitals sponsored by the Victoria Musical Arts Society, in McPherson Playhouse Sunday afternoon, was obviously overwhelmed by the outstanding skill of the Vancouver Symphony Chamber Players.

The well-chosen program offered several contrasted works from different periods, and, while opinions might vary on the value of some of the pieces played, no one could fail to appreciate the grace and beauty of Gabriel Faure's Quartet for Piano and Strings (C Minor), which comprised the second half of the program.

This particularly well-written quartet combines the best of string-ensemble composition with an enriching, complementary contribution from the piano.

Refreshing

Of the four attractive movements, the Adagio, with its rich Cello line is, perhaps, the most appealing; while the final Allegro Molto left the audience breathless and excited.

The String Trio by Jean Francais surely used every device available to string players. Every method of varying the quality of the music was employed and the whole work had a refreshing novelty and gaiety.

Here was skilful blending of the old and the new; a clearly recognized melody line backed by gently grating discords, lively chromatic clashes and changing modern rhythms which added a dash of lemon even to its most romantic sections.

Anachronism

The three-part Fantasias of Henry Purcell opened the program. The fugual beginning to each allowed an effortless entry by the other players and they were executed with the excellence of intonation required by such contrapuntal music.

The only thing which detracted from their authentic air of antiquity was that, by nature of the instruments used — violin, viola and cello instead of ancient viols — a warm vibrato was added which was probably anachronistic to music of that period.

A series of studies showed the considerable technical skill of John Beckwith to advantage and made fiendish demands of the players.

Norman Nelson violin; Simon Streatfeild, viola; Ian Hampton, cello, and Elizabeth Winship, piano, deserve congratulations for an interesting program superbly played.

Newfoundland Club Removes Negro Ban

PLACENTIA, Nfld. (CP) — A short-lived ban on admission of Negroes to a local club was lifted during the weekend after authorities at the nearby United States Argentia naval station put the establishment off limits to all its personnel.

Leonard Green, co-owner of the Pink Lady Club and restaurant, announced lifting of the ban on Negroes in an interview Sunday following a meeting with his partner, Charles Walsh. The ban had been imposed Saturday.

He said it had been instituted because Mr. Walsh had "experienced trouble" with Negro servicemen from the base.

Representatives of the Negroes complained to their base commander about the ban and he made the club off limits.

A spokesman for the commander said Sunday the off limits deeree would be romoved if the ban on Negroes was also abolished.

War Culprits To Be Tried By Egyptians

CAIRO (AP) — Three courts-martial will be held after investigations into Egypt's disastrous defeat by Israel last June, says the semi-official newspaper Al Ahram.

Al Ahram says the courts-martial will be held to try:

—Those responsible for negligence which led to the military setback, an investigation of which was carried out by a special military and scientific committee.

—Those who participated with Field Marshal Abdel Hakim Amer, former armed forces commander, in a plot against the Nasser regime. Amer killed himself.

—The role of Egyptian intelligence in both cases.

BLIND ANGLER HOOKS COHO

A sail and a fish derby were organized Saturday for 25 blind men and women.

They were aboard 15 sailing boats owned and crewed by members of the Capital City Yacht Club.

Mrs. Cathie Roskamp was the derby winner with an eight-pound coho caught off Sidney.

The event was organized by the Canadian National Institute for the Blind.

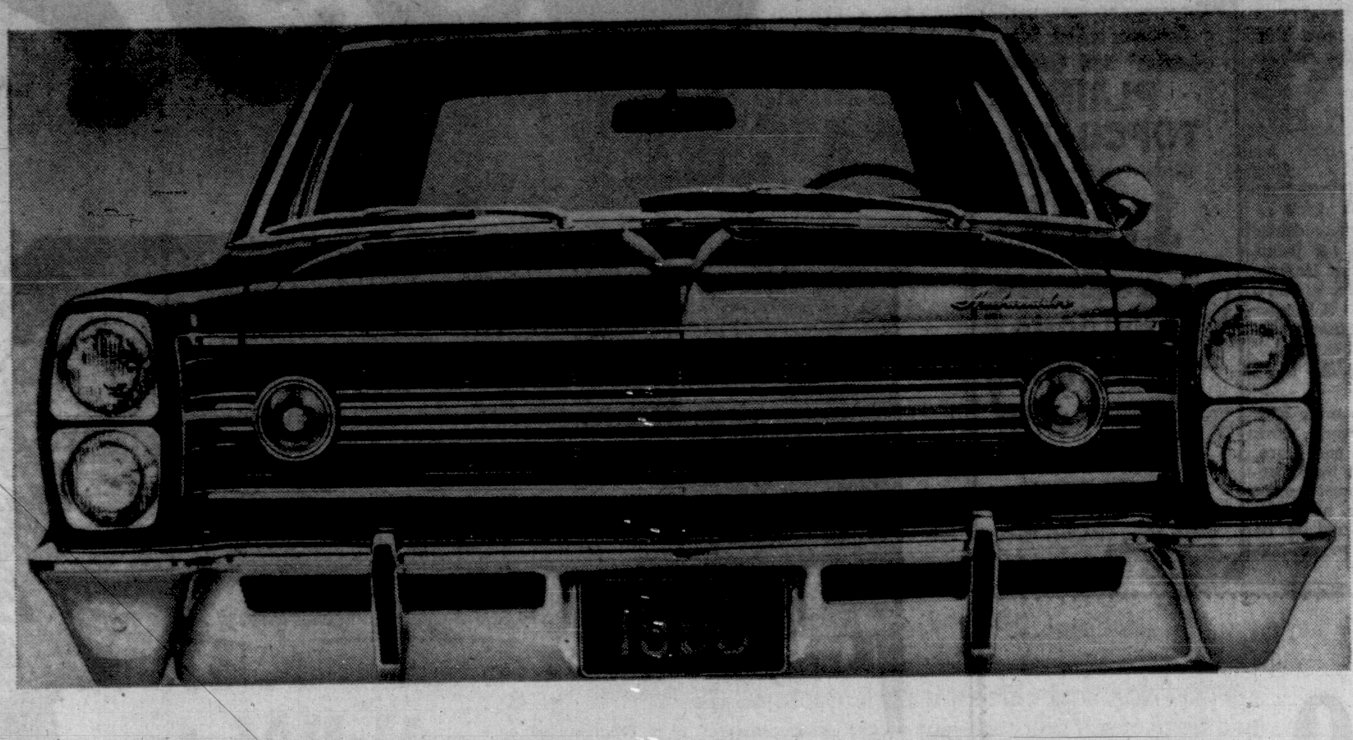
Remember when you had to buy a Rolls to get air conditioning as standard equipment?



American Motors announces air conditioning at no extra cost on the 1968 Ambassador.

Now you can enjoy a luxury once reserved for the very rich: an air conditioned car—for your own personal driving temperature.

American Motors installs air conditioning as standard equipment because it adds another dimension to the kind of comfort we've always built into our Ambassador.

Like Rolls, we use single unit construction. (As a matter of fact, we pioneered it). We use a solid acoustical roof liner. We use coil spring seats and we spend more on rustproofing than anyone else in the industry.

Now air conditioning—and for no more money than you'd pay for a Chev, Ford or Plymouth.

Which puts us in kind of a class by ourselves. Which poses an interesting question. Either we're charging too little or everyone else is charging too much.

Test drive the air conditioned '68 Ambassador soon, at any American Motors/Rambler Dealer. You'll get a very warm welcome.

CIVIL SERVICE UNDER ATTACK

U.K. Mandarins 'Amateurish'

LONDON (CP) — Backbench MPs in Britain's two major political parties are raising a fuss with grumbles against their own leaders.

But they have been upstaged by a former top man in the civil service who has launched a blistering attack on the country's administrative class.

Indicting the administrators as shoddy, feeble, stupid and unscientific is Max Nicholson, in a headline-winning book called The System: The Misgovernment of Modern Britain.

In 525 pages, he pictures the British civil service as "the last and most obsessive stronghold of amateurism." Without its reform, the country will stay in the state of decline that already has lasted more than 100 years, Nicholson says.

POPULARITY WANES

One of the backbench grumbles against current party leadership came Sunday from Sir Gerald Nabarro, a Conservative MP who said the popularity of his party chief, Edward Heath, is lagging behind that of the Conservative organization as a whole.

Despite their two byelection victories over the governing Labor party last week, Conservatives are "deeply apprehensive" about the question of Heath's personal standing, Nabarro said in a statement.

He disclaimed any interest in a leadership change but talked of "men standing in the wings."

Meantime, MP Desmond Donnelly had unkind words for his party leader, Prime Minister Wilson. Summing up the lessons Labor must learn from its byelection setbacks, Donnelly said Wilson has to realize that no one can run a political operation by himself.

With a big parliamentary majority, Wilson may not call another election until 1970 but Nicholson's new book suggests that party changes are meaningless without civil service reform.

The service "is not merely a misfit but a multiple misfit," he says.

His administrative record includes work as a senior adviser to a powerhouse of the Labor government elected in 1945, the late Herbert Morrison.

The 63-year-old critic includes limited self-government for England, Scotland and Wales in his list of needed governmental reforms.

"His bureaucratic chums will be shocked," says the left-wing Daily Mirror in a massive spread on Nicholson's book. Other papers are more reserved in their appraisals.

In echoing the call for high-powered transformation of the civil service, The Mirror argues that "Britain can't expand in a straitjacket."

S. AFRICA APARTHEID

No Sign of Thaw In Race Policies

By DAVID J. PAINE

JOHANNESBURG (AP) — In his first year as prime minister of South Africa, John Vorster has followed closely the path laid out by his slain predecessor, Hendrik F. Verwoerd.

VORSTER
. . . strongman

The principle of racial separation, or apartheid, remains at the forefront of government policy and Vorster seems assured of many more years as South Africa's leader. At 51, he has the backing of a powerful political machine, and his National party has 126 of the 170 seats in Parliament.

Measures to implement the apartheid scheme of separate, independent homelands for the various ethnic groups of the 12,500,000 Negroes have been accelerated.

The government has offered to share the country's knowledge with less developed states, but at home there has been no change in the policy toward non-whites—kragdadigheid, a determination to keep the upper hand for the 3,500,000 whites.

Vorster's overtures toward black Africa have been met with hostility. Only small, landlocked Malawi, on the other side of white-ruled Mozambique, has agreed to an exchange of diplomats.

VORSTER FRAMED LAWS

At the time of Verwoerd's assassination, Vorster was minister of justice, police and prisons. As the strong man of the government, he was dedicated to wiping out all vestiges of communism and near-communism. Liberals felt the whip, too, because as far as the government was concerned, they often were furthering the cause of communism, either knowingly or unwittingly. Vorster framed most of the country's comprehensive banning and security laws.

These are still in effect.

Progress toward establishment of the proposed bantustans or self-governing African territories within the country's present borders has gained fresh impetuous. This is the ultimate aim of apartheid—that the Africans should be free to rule themselves in politically autonomous states closely co-operating with but separated from the whites.

More emphasis also is being placed on the creation of border industries, industries which will be in "white" South Africa on the borders of the bantustans and requiring the African labor force. The areas planned for the bantustans themselves have virtually no industries.

IGNORES UN VOTE

Vorster has kept up a bitter attack on the United Nations. Sharpest criticism has come over the UN move to bring independence to the largely desert territory of South-West Africa. South Africa has ignored the UN vote cancelling its 1920 League of Nations mandate over South-West Africa.

Although Vorster has denied there is a split in his party, there is evidence that extreme right-wing Afrikaners would like to see him take a harsher line against South Africa's critics both internal and external.

Defence spending is being boosted.

"We want to co-operate with the peoples of the world, work with them and do our share, but it is a condition that countries and peoples must accept us as we are," he has said. "We are not prepared to be accepted only if we reform ourselves."

'Doctors Ignorant Of Sex'

TORONTO (CP) — Doctors need lessons in the facts of life, says an American gynecologist.

Dr. James P. Semmens of Oakland, Calif., in Toronto for a conference, said Friday he lectured three groups of doctors in Montreal last week on sex education, and was "astounded" at the gaps in their knowledge.

They were especially worried, he said in an interview, about how to advise middle-aged patients concerned that sexual activity might cause heart attacks.

"There are no figures on how many coronaries are the result of sexual activity," he said. His advice to the doctors: "All we can tell patients at the moment is 'If you have to go, this is the way to go.' "

Chinese Ousted

TUNIS (AP)—The Red Chinese charge d'affaires and all members of the embassy staff were declared persona non grata in Tunisia Saturday night and were asked to leave the country. The move came after several months of strained relations and a series of angry notes.

Contraceptive Would Protect For 6 Months

SYDNEY, Australia (Reuters) — A new contraceptive to be taken only twice a year is being devloped by a research team in Ceylon, a Ceylonese woman doctor said Sunday.

Dr. Siva Chinnatamby said the contraceptive could take the form of a pill or, more likely, an injection that might be ready in from one to five years.

"Women will only have to take a pill or have an injection once every six months, to prevent pregnancy," said Dr. Chinnatamby, a delegate to the fifth world conference on gynaecology and obstetrics here.

The research team in Colombo has been working on the project for two years and hopes to have a definite result "within the next five years but it could even be a year," she said.

You've met the "animals" now meet the Great White Hunter...

Javelin. The name alone strikes terror.

Javelin was designed by the AMX group at American Motors, the same young creative team that designed our incredible AMX show car. One glance shows the advantages: a twin venturi grill, a heavy integrated bumper, a wide sweep of glass with no side vents, flush-set door handles and a chopped rear deck.

Power comes from the highest horsepower standard engines (6 & V8) in the industry.

Comfort comes from standard vinyl buckets, more headroom, more legroom and the biggest backseat in GT history, plus a totally draft and noise-free ventilation system.

To get a better sportster than this, you'd have to add reclining buckets, wood grain trim, sports steering wheel and mag wheel discs. You can. It's called Javelin SST—the dressed up Javelin. Both are waiting for you at American Motors/Rambler Dealers.

One thing more. The price. It's neck and neck with the leading "animal car". But if you count Javelin's extras, its price is a very sporting proposition indeed.

Which leads us to think we're charging too little. Either that, or everyone else is charging too much.

Which leads us to think we're doing a little leading this year.

Local Paddlers Win Gorge Race By Wide Margin

Two Victorians, leading by 100 yards, finished first in the centennial Gorge canoe race Saturday.

Ronald M. Steele, 27, 855 Ellery, and David R. Thompson, 29, 510 Sturdie, shared $100 in prize money awarded by the Greater Victoria Centennial Society.

Both are experienced paddlers.

They have made canoe trips down the Parsnip, the Peace and Thompson Rivers, as well as the Bowron Lakes — an area known for its scenic beauty and wildlife and reserved for canoeists only.

$60 FOR SECOND

Runner-up were Best Adams and John Adams of Campbell River, who received a $60 prize.

Third place was won by a canoe manned by Ross McRae and Bob Adams, also of Campbell River, while Frans Vanlakerveld and Vic Labelle of Vancouver, came fourth.

Hundreds of spectators lined the causeway to watch the start of the race which was followed by kayak races and an "open" boat event.

The bright-painted canoes—reds, whites, greys, greens, blues—presented a colorful scene as they bobbed up and down in the Inner Harbor.

Entries included several women and husband and wife teams.

The Sea Rangers had three canoes, two from Victoria and one from Vancouver.

Some girls did exceptionally well, out-distancing male entries.

ROVERS ONLY

What surprised many canoeists was the lack of entries from the Boy Scout Association. There was only one manned by rovers.

The weather was perfect for canoeing—a light wind—bright and sunny.

Spectators watched the races from vantage points all along the Gorge Inlet.

There was only one mishap. One canoe tipped near the Gorge Bridge.

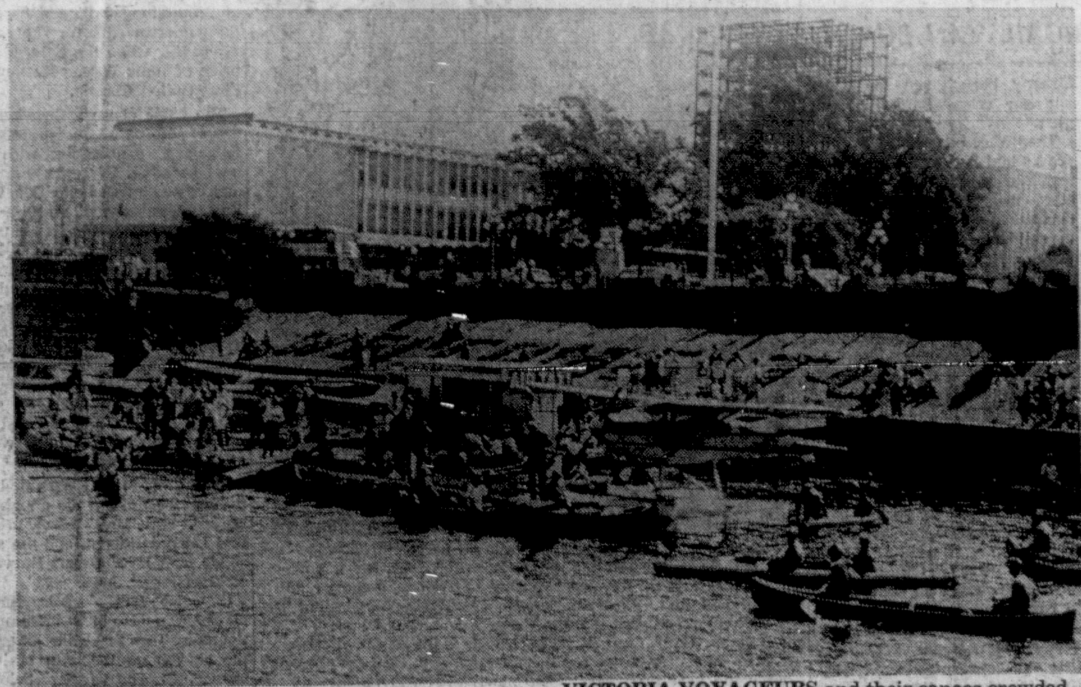
The swift incoming tidal waters under the Gorge Bridge provided some excitement for spectators who cheered and urged on the canoeists as they fought the strong current. For the paddlers on the last lap of the race, it was wearisome work and some just made it.

All in all—the race was a big success, the canoeists enjoying the fun as much as the spectators.

In the kayak single race, Christ Wilkins, 1149 Oliver, placed first; Anthony Wilkins, same address, second; and Ed Haines, 475 Head, third.

Kayaks (two-man), 1, Paula and Mark Pakenham, 1935 Ferndale; 2, Harry Gregson, 2169 Beach, and David Mawie, 2641 Orchard.

The open boat race was won by Richard Rodd and Kenneth Jones of Sidney, with a decorated dugout. Bert Clayton, 81-year-old prospector, rowing a 12-foot canoe, came second.



VICTORIA VOYAGEURS and their canoes crowded Inner Harbor Causeway Saturday in preparation for Centennial race through Gorge to Portage Inlet and back. Winners are shown in picture at right—

FIGHTING for first place when this picture was taken by Times photographer Irving Strickland, the canoemen at right soon extended their victory margin to 100 yards. Hundreds of spectators lined the Gorge and Causeway for the race. Boat at left finished in second place. It was paddled by Bert Adamas and John Adams, of Campbell River.

CANOE RACERS SAY:

Let's Do It Every Year

By HUMPHRY DAVY

Why not make the Gorge canoe race an annual event?

The question was put to officials of the Greater Victoria Centennial Society by paddlers at the completion of a nine-mile race from the Inner Harbor to Portage Inlet and back.

The canoeists, mainly from Vancouver Island, said the race would become one of Victoria's major sporting events of the year.

Victoria as a centre for provincial races, was supported by mainland canoeists.

One of the reasons why lower mainland crews preferred Victoria to Vancouver as a prospective site for races was because they considered the Gorge Inlet ideal for racing.

It was sheltered and was neither too wide nor too narrow.

Races could also be enjoyed by spectators from innumerable vantage points along the Gorge Waters.

But the main obstacle to making the Gorge races an annual event was the lack of a canoe club in Victoria to organize the event, they agreed.

"If a canoe club was formed and the race supported by the city, the event would attract hundreds of paddlers from all parts of the province," said Bert Adams of Campbell River.

Frans Vanlakerveld of Vancouver, said canoeing as a sport and form of recreation is making a big come-back in British Columbia.

Membership in Vancouver's Dogwood Canoe Club has increased from 10 to 50 in the past two years. At least four other clubs have been formed in the mainland city this year.

In the interior several clubs have also been formed.

The main objectives of the club is to promote canoeing as a form of outdoor recreation—not racing.

In the summer, week-long canoe trips on lakes and rivers are organized by various clubs.

Weekend outings are also popular, especially down-river excursions.

Oak Bay Race Shapes Up

Coun. Frances Elford will seek re-election to Oak Bay council in December but she is not interested in the reeveship "at the moment."

Reeve Allan L. Cox announced recently that he would not seek another term.

Last week Coun. Fred Hawes announced he would resign his seat in mid-term to contest the reeveship election.

Mrs. Elford said today that she might think of running for the chief council position in the future but not at present.

ANOTHER BID

She said that in addition to Coun. Hawes she expects another council member to seek the reeveship.

"If this is the case and I also was a contender, it would mean council would lose too many experienced people."

She was apparently referring to Coun. J. D. Watts who told the Times this morning that he was "actively considering it."

"It is a question of more than just giving it a lot of thought," he said. "I am making certain inquiries and asking a number of questions. I expect to make a decision one way or the other in the near future."

When They Say 'Don't Drive' Don't Do It

A motorist who ignored a police officer's "roadside suspension" of his driver's licence was fined $150 in magistrate's court today.

Robert Fiddler, 21, of 1741 Duchess, pleaded guilty to driving while his licence was under suspension.

Court was told police officers suspended his licence early Sunday morning on Pandora Ave.

The accused was told to lock his car and leave it. Three minutes later, he returned to the car and drove off.

Police stopped him a second time and arrested him.

Magistrate Ostler commented people must realize roadside suspensions are "as valid as any other suspension."

Compensation Board Holds New Inquiry

The Workmen's Compensation Board of B.C. will investigate the death earlier this month of a welder in a barge fire at Yarrows shipyard.

A spokesman for the board said today the safety division will study the coroner's jury report and investigate the death on its own behalf.

Steve Williams, 24, died in the fire which caused an estimated $350,000 damage to the barge.

The coroner's jury ruled the death was due to negligence on the part of Yarrows. It recommended that in future all safety regulations be strictly inforced by the shipyard.

A company superintendent testified he was aware welding and fitting had not been completed when spraying of flammable insulation started.

Local shipyard unions earlier sent a telegram to the Workmen's Compensation Board protesting the delay of its inspector in arriving at the accident scene and demanded an inquiry into his attitude and actions.

The unions also protested safety conditions and hired a lawyer to be present at the inquest.

Nine Cars In Crashes

Nine cars involved in three separate collisions at the same time disrupted heavy traffic on the Trans-Canada Highway Sunday.

About 5 p.m., Colwood RCMP were asked to attend a three-car accident at Hamilton Road on the Trans-Canada. On the way, they heard of a second three-car accident one half mile north of the first, and then a third three-car accident at the Thetis Lake overpass.

All three accidents were chain reaction rear-end collisions. Damage was moderate, but there were no serious injuries.

Three wrecking trucks were needed, and the Saanich police were called to assist the RCMP.

Stolen Foods Cost Man $150

Patrick Coyle, 48, of 690 Wilson Street, was fined $150 in magistrate's court this morning for shoplifting.

Coyle pleaded guilty to taking $15 worth of groceries from Eaton's Saturday afternoon.

He told the court he went out on to Government Street to look for his wife and "didn't intend to steal" the goods.

Litterbug Habits Thing of Past

The British Columbia ferry fleet plans to end dumping garbage outside B.C. harbors, Monty Aldous, chairman of the government-owned service, said Sunday.

He was replying to Vancouver Harbormaster Capt. Roy Holland who said last week that ships are dumping wastes where harbor pollution laws do not apply and that the B.C. Ferry Authority was one of the culprits.

"It has been true and probably is to some degree still," Mr. Aldous said, "but we have a program under way which will completely eliminate dumping garbage (at sea)."

CONVENTION ENDS

UBCM Parley Bittersweet For Mayor

By AB KENT

Mayor Hugh Stephen reacted with enthusiasm and disappointment today to the Union of B.C. Municipalities convention at Prince George.

He was enthused about accomplishments of delegates recommending improvements to Municipal Act legislation, and especially with the performance of Victoria aldermen.

But the mayor was disappointed that the convention failed to come to grips with perhaps the most vexing of municipal problems — mounting responsibilities without the economic means to fulfil them.

Mayor Stephen said he still supports the idea of a UBCM-appointed commissioner to look into municipal obligations and financial relationships with the provincial government, even though the government has refused to set up a royal commission for the purpose.

CAN'T AGREE

The UBCM executive, the mayor noted, thinks such a study should be done with the co-operation of the provincial government. He cannot agree with this concept.

"What would the province say if we suggested our city manager be a member of the commission?" he asked.

Although it is a "dead issue" for now, "If it is still turned down by the government before next year's convention, I'll bring the same resolution up again," the mayor said.

The commissioner needs to be a man of the stature of Carl Goldenberg, internationally recognized authority on labor-management relations and government financing, the mayor said.

It is 21 years since Goldenberg last made such a study. "I think it's time he did one again."

The government of B.C. has done a good job of providing the organizational means of dealing with difficulties such as hospital costs and other area problems, Mayor Stephen said citing the regional board concept.

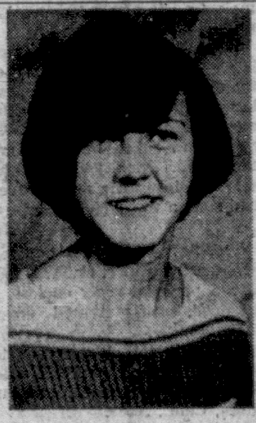
But the municipalities are still frustrated by not having the economic means to solve these problems.

Passengers Hurt

A collision at Richmond and Richardson Saturday afternoon sent two people to hospital for emergency treatment.

A car driven by Bertrand Luckovich, 59, of Cobble Hill, was travelling north on Richmond when it collided with a car moving east on Richardson driven by Michael Stirling, 17, of 1662 St. Francis Wood.

Passengers Nancy and Lois Luckovich were released after treatment at Jubilee Hospital.



HAVE YOU SEEN THIS GIRL? If you have, her parents would like to hear from you. She is Rianne Denluck, 15, of 834 Devonshire Road, missing since Sept. 8. Rianne is 5'7", weights 125 pounds, and has short dark hair. She has been keeping company with hippies and it is believed she may have headed for Vancouver. Anyone with information should contact Esquimalt police or her parents at 385-6992.

PHONE A-G

Exhaust Filter Wanted

If anyone invents a device to filter poisons out of car exhausts, tell Attorney-General Robert Bonner.

He said in interview today the provincial government would be interested in legislation for motor vehicle exhaust control.

But so far he doesn't know of any attachment or engine refinement which will effectively do the job.

"A number of experimental devices are on the market, but there is mixed scientific opinion about their effectiveness," said Mr. Bonner.

He said the B.C. Pollution Control Board and the Motor Vehicles Branch both are studying the problem as part of the provincial campaign for cleaner air.

The A-G indicated the search for more information may extend to Los Angeles and Ontario because these areas are both attempting exhaust controls.

The ultimate invention he agreed would be something inexpensive which could be attached to all trucks and cars.

Ferrymen Set To Call Strike

Checkoff Refusal Said Discrimination

By ROGER STONEBANKS
Times Labor Reporter

The possibility of a work stoppage on B.C. Ferries is "imminent", a Canadian Labour Congress official said today.

Tom Gooderham, CLC regional director of organization, said the B.C. government has refused dues checkoff in the amount requested by the B.C. Ferry Employees' Union.

"Unlicensed personnel are determined not to be treated this way by the government and are prepared to take whatever action is necessary to win proper recognition," he said.

"The action of the government in refusing to allow payroll deduction of the amount requested is considered by the ferry employees as discrimination against their organization.

"The CLC has asked the government to reconsider its decision and comply with the employees request to have payroll deductions made in the amounts signed for by each employee on authorization cards.

"The unlicensed ferry employees 1½ years ago came close to taking strike action against the ferry authority and there were some isolated cases of employees walking off the job in their attempt to have the government recognize their organization.

"However, the government's latest action is definitely a refusal to recognize the ferry employees union, therefore action which may be taken will be for recognition and a proper bargaining procedure.

"Talks betwen the ferry authority and representatives of unlicensed personnel are slated for Wednesday and Thursday and it is hoped the government will reconsider its position and recognize the ferry employees rights of association."

Provincial Secretary Wesley Black, the responsible minister in civil service matters, was in his office this morning but did not reply to a newspaper message for comment.

Mr. Gooderham said the B.C. Ferry Employees' Union set its dues at $3 to $4 a month, depending on individual earnings, but the government has stated it will only deduct $2 a month.

STRENGTH BUILDING

For the first time, he disclosed that both this union and the Canadian Merchant Service Guild — which represents ferry masters, mates and engineers — have recently completed negotiations with a third union, the B.C. Government Employees' Association, which has a dues level of $2 a month.

Several months ago, the government re established checkoff of union dues for the association. The checkoff was revoked seven years ago in another dispute.

He said the higher dues rate for the unlicensed personnel was because of additional costs of operation by the branches doing their own servicing, administration and affiliation costs to the government employees' association.

The association once represented ferry employees, but they expressed dissatisfaction. The unlicensed personnel formed their own union and the officers joined the Guild. Later the association was successful in laying a charge of raiding its membership against the Guild, a fellow CLC union.

Mr. Gooderham said both unions now are branches of the association but have their own administrative autonomy on all matters to do with the marine industry.

MEETINGS HELD

Meetings have been held recently involving both unions, the Victoria Labour Council and the B.C. Federation of Labour.

Government employees, as civil servants, do not have the collective bargaining rights available to other workers under the Labour Relations Act.

Last September, 250 ferry officers called off a mass resignation when the government agreed the Canadian Marchant Service Guild could assist the officers in negotiations.

Earlier this year the officers requested arbitration of outstanding differences under the terms of the Civil Service Act but received no action from the government.

In June of last year, more than 500 deck, catering and shore workers called off a strike and said agreement was reached with the ferry authority for "guaranteed recognition."

Neither settlement included full collective bargaining rights because the Labor Relations Act does not apply to government workers.

Q. How much is Canada's national debt? C.K.

A. Latest published figures showing the debt at March 31, 1966, give $27.5 billion or $1,379.73 per capita gross debt and $15.5 billion or $780.33 per capita, as the net debt.

Q. How many military men has Canada stationed outside her borders? K.C.

A. In all three services there are at present 14,200 service personnel stationed outside Canada.

Many Fractures In Bus Crash

A 22-year-old motorcyclist was rushed to Royal Jubilee Hospital at noon today after his machine collided with a B.C. Hydro bus in Esquimalt.

Peter Talas of Work Point Barracks was riding west on Lyall Street when he hit the bus as it turned off Lyall onto Gore Street.

He suffered a broken ankle and kneecap, several fractures of his right hand and abrasions.

Breakfast Ceremony Opens Chest Drive

Mayor Hugh Stephen Tuesday will proclaim October and November United Red Feather-Red Cross Appeal months. A breakfast ceremony will officially start the $600,000 campaign.

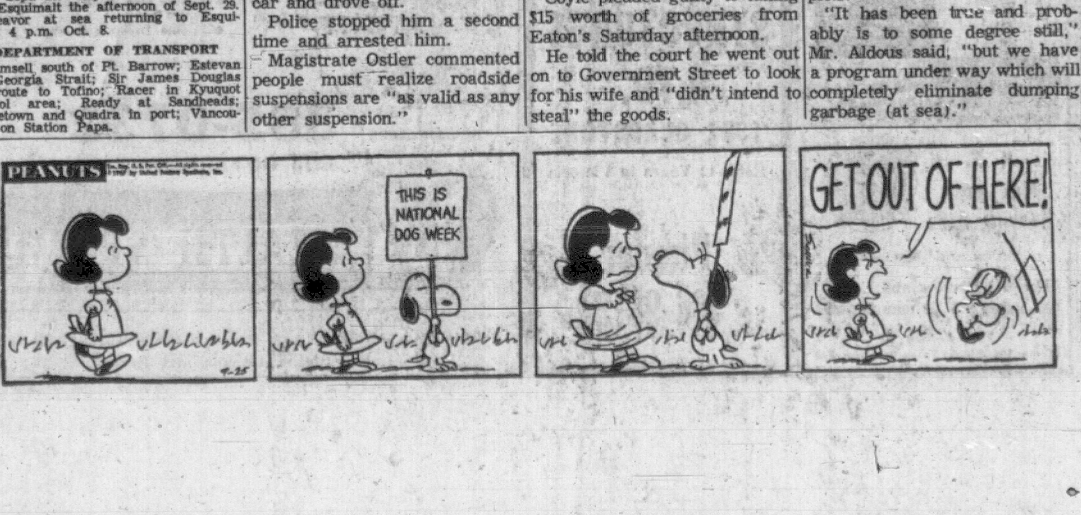
He will also present certificates to a number of division chairmen who, due to an early start in canvassing, have already achieved this year's objectives.

About 200 people are expected to be at the Old Forge at 8 a.m. Tuesday for the breakfast.

These will include division chairmen and award winners from last year who have already received certificates.

Chairman at the breakfast will be Mrs. Phoebe Noble, information committee chairman. Speaker will be campaign chairman G. F. Auchinleck.

For the first time this year the Red Cross is part of the Red Feather organization and this group's inclusion plus new membership for the Alano Club and the Handicapped Children's Clinic has increased this year's target by one-third over the 1966 total of $450,000.



DEAR ABBY . . .

Mate Should Call Early or Late,

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Like so many others, I never thought I'd be writing a DEAR ABBY letter, but here I am.

When my husband calls and says he's going to be late because he's going out with his boss, don't you think he should call me if he knows he is going to be detained longer than he said he would? When I complained because he said he'd be home about 10 p.m., but he came in at 2 a.m. he said, "You're not my mother! What am I supposed to do, get up and say, 'I have to call my wife' . . . like a child calls his mother?" Abby, I just want to be sure he's not in a hospital, a ditch or jail. I trust him concerning other women, but because I was very jealous before we were married, he thinks I still am. I really do trust him, but don't you think a husband should call his wife to let her know he's going to be later than he says he'll be?

WIFE

DEAR WIFE: Yes. (And he should let her know if he's going to be early, also.)

DEAR ABBY: Our daughter, Rene, was to have been married in four weeks to Max who is in the army. Plans for the wedding had been completed. The bridesmaids had bought their dresses, and the wedding invitations were ready to be mailed. Two showers had already been given for Rene, and she received many lovely gifts.

Then Max called and said his orders had been changed and he was being shipped overseas. Max then said that he had decided to wait until after to be married.

Abby, Rene and Max are very much in love and they say that nothing short of a catastrophe will prevent the wedding next year. Under the circumstances should the shower gifts be returned? What about the bridesmaids who paid for their dresses? Max and his parents decided to postpone the wedding without even consulting Rene and her parents. Do you think that was right? It seems that the bride's parents should have had something to say about it.

PLANS SPOILED

DEAR PLANS: Max should have given Rene an opportunity to express herself. However, if only one of the principals decides to postpone a wedding that one constitutes a majority. Keep the shower gifts, since the wedding was not cancelled—only postponed. And unless the bridesmaids save the dresses to wear next year, they are out of luck.

DEAR ABBY: I am P.K. (Preacher's Kid) and I sure wish you'd put this in your column for other P.Ks because I'm sure we all have the same problem.

Abby, we want to feel that we belong to the crowd and we want other kids to act the same around us as they would act around any other kids. We are human beings, we aren't perfect, and nobody has to feel uneasy around us in case he makes a slip of the tongue. We make them, too.

We just want to be accepted like everybody else, but most of the time we are left out because lots of kids don't want us in the crowd. Once I was out of town and a kid asked me what my father did. For a joke I said he sold fire insurance and I never had such a wonderful time.

SHOPPING GUIDE

Friendly Store Owner Comes to the Rescue

By PENNY SAVER

Everything was almost ready for the party. I had changed into my new dress and was thinking of the fun it was going to be when a neighbor phoned. She couldn't go and would I supply the place mats and the table decorations she'd promised to get for our hostess? Digging about in the cupboard I discovered my place mats to be very worn and dirty and there was nothing that I could use for decorations. Hurrying downtown, I decided to see if I could find what I needed.

Always a help in these kind of last-minute panics, the owner of my favorite store showed me many things that were the answer to my problem.

A place mat made out of woven bamboo straw was exactly what I needed. One-half inch thick and big enough to put a tray on, I found them ideal for my purpose. Made in Korea, these are both pleasing to the eye and very easily cleaned. They cost a very reasonable $1.75.

As a table decoration, beeswax candles are just the thing. Coming in all shapes and sizes from very tall and thin to short stocky little candles no more than three inches tall and almost as broad, there is one for every occasion. I found the honey odor of these candles extremely pleasant. Searching about I was able to find the very thing I had in mind. The cost varies from 50 cents to $1.95.

With their whimsical faces and wild colors, the piggy banks I saw would make good ornaments anywhere. Coming in all colors with a flower design etched in, they caught my eye right away. They are a unique blend of the fanciful and the real, a perfect present for somebody special. They sell at $3.25.

If you would like to know where I found these items give me a call at 382-3131.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Middle Age Is Old Term, Now It's Middlescence!

Lowman

We hear so much about adolescence. No one seems to realize that there is such a thing as middlescence. Both are times which bring some confusion, times of testing and readjustment.

In a way middle age is an old-fashioned term, because today one is thought of as being either young or old. Which you seem to be depends partly on how you look but even more on your outlook, and also, of course, on the age and perception of the person who is looking at you.

So let's think of middlescence as being that vague time between being very young and very old. It is here to stay so we might as well investigate it.

Middlescence is the time when:

There is more than meets the eye unless you wear glasses if you need them.

It is the time when you give up bird watching and take up baby-sitting with your grandchildren.

It is when someone who is obviously your contemporary holds the door open for you.

It is when you go to a college reunion and are amazed by how much older everyone else has become.

It is when you find that it isn't your eyes that are weaker. It is just that your arm is shorter.

All kidding aside, I think that middlescence is a wonderful time of life. It's the time when you have matured and are not yet old. It contains a broad span of vital years and varied experience. For this reason it also presents one with necessary adjustments to changing circumstance.

The term middlescence doesn't pin you down like a specimen fly the way middle age did our grandmothers, who thought of themselves as old at 30 and ancient at 40, and whose activities and interests were dictated by age-consciousness.

So, enjoy this time of life. Cram it full with new interests, new and old friends, new studies, and with self-improvement. Sweep it free of age-consciousness, overweight, fatigue and boredom.

If you would like to have my free leaflet "Women of Fifty," send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for it to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Lifts Faces Out Of Lines and Wrinkles

Most mothers, of any age, now can know the thrill of a 2nd Debut by letting an amazing discovery lift their faces out of the aging maze of lines and wrinkles at home the new easy way. It's the Wiesbaden Discovery called CEF 600 and 1200 double strength blended into the new skin lotion called 2nd Debut. Moisture is carried under the wrinkled skin layers to push up and out. Once again skin is smooth, soft and so much younger looking most mothers call it a 2nd Debut. Most drug and department stores feature 2nd Debut. Results are almost immediate.

COOKING CAN BE FUN By MARY MOORE

Moore

To take full advantage of the color, flavor and abundance of our fall fruits I made a chilled fruit compote for a buffet party dessert.

We served ours with sliced lemon jelly roll, but lady fingers would be an appropriate accompaniment.

For all of its beauty and popularity this is a comparatively easy party dessert. Do you still have your mother's cut glass fruit bowl? If so, bring it out, scrub it until it sparkles and serve the fruit compote in it.

FALL FRUIT COMPOTE
(Serves 12 to 14)

Ten 1¼" diameter green plums, halved and stoned; 10 blue (prune) plums 1½" long, halved and stoned; six 2" diameter red nectarines, quartered and stoned; one medium-sized ripe cantaloupe (see below; 1½ cups washed, whole, seedless green grapes; one 20-oz. can pineapple chunks; 2 cups hot water; ½ cup sugar; about ½ cup large perfect blueberries (for garnish — optional).

Drain juice from pineapple chunks. I had about one cup. (Reserve pineapple chunks covered.) In a large saucepan add to the juice the hot water and sugar, and heat, stirring, to dissolve sugar. Remove from heat.

Meanwhile wash, cut and stone plums and nectarines. Bring syrup to boil and add green plums and red nectarines and when it returns to boil add blue plums (they are softer) and bring to boil for ½ minute. Remove from heat, cover and let stand on counter to cool. They cook sufficiently to be tender but not enough to lose their shape. Chill covered in refrigerator.

When mealtime nears cut cantaloupe in halves, remove seed portion and with melon-ball cutter, cut it into as many balls as you can and add these to chilled plum compote, along with washed green grapes and reserved pineapple chunks. Gently mix. Turn into cut glass or other equally beautiful serving bowl, strew with perfect blueberries. Chill until dessert time.

NOTE: For those of you who have some liqueurs on hand such as cointreau or drambuie or triple sec a liberal dollop will raise their spirits.

Chooses Heirloom Diamond Ring To Fulfil Wedding Traditions

Her great-grandmother's diamond ring fulfilled the tradition of "something old" and "something borrowed" for Lorraine Olivia Ker when she became the bride of Innis Wayne Harvey in First United Church.

The bride chose a floor-length dress of white podelaine fashioned exquisitely with a boat neckline, low curved back, and elbow-length belled sleeves. The dress, styled with a V-shaped empire waistline, featured a demi-fitted A-line skirt which was accented by a full back of boxpleats and a cathedral train, sweeping from a large bow at the back waistline. Her two-tier shoulder-length veil of illusion net misted from a pearl-encrusted tiara. She wore a pearl necklace, gift of the groom, and carried a crescent bouquet of white glamelias, edged with fern.

Rev. R. J. Morris officiated at the service uniting the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Ker, 1744 Duchess Street, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Harvey, of MacGregor, Man.

Organist Mrs. Ursula Blunt played Purcell's "Trumpet Voluntary" as the bride entered the church on the arm of her father, Mr. Harold Ker. Soloist Mrs. George Waddell sang "A Day of Golden Promise" during the signing of the register.

Matron of honor, Mrs. Lewis Sutton, and bridesmaids, Miss Shirley Brydon and Miss Judy Greenberg, the bride's cousin, wore matching full-length dresses of emerald green peau de soie styled in a similar style as the bride's. Bandeaux of white chrysanthemums formed their headpieces and they carried bouquets of the same flowers.

Best man was Kenneth White, Vancouver, and ushering the guests were Orton Ker, brother of the bride, and the groom's brother, Sheldon Harvey. Ring bearer was Master Garnet Brydon.

The bride's uncle, Murray Greenberg, proposed the toast to the bride at a reception following in the Red Lion Motor Inn. A three-tier wedding cake, topped with yellow roses, centred the head table.

For travelling on honeymoon, the bride chose an A-line navy blue linen ensemble with a white chenille turban, white gloves and matching leather accessories. Pink carnations en corsage complemented her outfit.

Following a honeymoon trip through the United States to Winnipeg, the newlyweds will live in Vancouver.

Newlyweds Now Live in Nanaimo Following Trip to the Interior

Following their wedding in St. Martin-in-the-Fields Mr. and Mrs. Michael Henry Temple Fall left on a honeymoon trip through the interior of the province to Prince George and Dawson Creek. The newlyweds are now making their home in Nanaimo.

The bride, the former Maureen Margaret Fanthorpe, chose a gown of peau de soie topped with a jacket of Swiss floral lace which was fastened with tiny crystal buttons from her mother's wedding gown. Deep inverted pleats enhanced the full skirt of the gown, complemented by her train which was trimmed with appliques of similar lace and swept back from the waistline. Her headpiece of self-fabric flowers held a veil trimmed with matching appliques of lace. She carried a crescent bouquet of white glamelias and ivy.

Parents of the principals are Mr. and Mrs. H. A. L. Fanthorpe, 2934 Cedar Hill Road, and Group Capt. and Mrs. J. S. T. Fall of Cobble Hill.

Baskets of white gladioli decorated the church for the service. The organist, Cmdr. P. F. Fairfull, played Lohengren's "Wedding March" as the processional, and "Wedding March" by Mendelssohn as the wedding party left the church.

Miss Lynne Fanthorpe was maid of honor for her sister and Miss Clare Holmes and Miss Diane Saville were bridesmaids. They wore matching gowns of green satin, encaged in lime green silk chiffon and complemented by organdy headpieces holding short bouffant toning veils. They carried bouquets of yellow chrysanthemums and ivy.

Jeremy Fall acted as best man for his brother. Stu Fall, the groom's brother, and Ron Stubbings ushered the guests.

At the reception following in the War Amputations Hall, a tiered wedding cake centred the head table, which was decorated with arrangements of white daisies. Geoff Venables provided music for dancing and J. W. Groves proposed the toast to the bride.

For travellling, the new Mrs. Fall chose a lemon yellow two-piece linen suit with a yellow paisley blouse which she accented with navy blue accessories. A gardenia corsage completed the ensemble.

A New You

by Emily Wilkens

As honey has long been one of my favorite subjects, I thought I'd like to pass along some sweet suggestions about using it for outside, as well as inside, beauty.

Honey, a wonderfully romantic food, dates back to Biblical times. There are many varieties. Each has a different taste, depending on the particular blossoms upon which the bees have dined. The best honeys are unadulterated with cane sugar or corn syrup and are labelled "organic" or "raw."

Honey is effectively used in all kinds of home-made beauty concoctions. Why not discover some delightful possibilities. Do try the recipes which follow. Many of these ingredients can be purchased at a drug store.

Honey Hand Lotion

Add ¼ c. glycerine, ½ tsp. cider vinegar,

To a mixture of ¾ c. rose water, ½ tsp. honey.

Mix in a glass bottle. Apply after washing hands.

Many refreshing, revivifying masks may be made with honey. Experiment to find the one which works best for your particular type of skin.

These rules apply for all the following masks: After cleansing your face, smooth a thin film of odorless castor oil or your favorite cream under the eyes and on the neck (if it seems dry). Then apply the mask with firm, upward strokes, avoiding the area around the eyes. Leave on face and neck for 10 to 15 minutes. Remove the mask with warm, followed by cool, water. Finish with astringent.

To derive the most benefit from the treatment, recline in a "feet higher than head" (beauty angle) position.

Honey Dry Skin Mask
(SOS for Dryness)

Mix 1 fresh egg yolk, 1 tbsp. dry skim milk powder, about 1½ tbsp. fresh milk (mixture should be creamy).

Add ½ tsp. honey.

Beat to mayonnaise-like consistency.

Honey Bracer Mask
(For Whisking Away Fatigue Lines)

Mix 1 fresh egg white, 1 tbsp. dry skim milk powder, 1 tsp. honey.

Honey Blossom Masks
(For a Beautifying Bloom)

Mix 2 oz. honey, 1 c. milk, or Liquify 1 oz. honey, ½ oz. rose water, 1 oz. blanched almonds.

Honey Astringent Face Lotion
(Quick Refresher)

In a wide-mouthed glass bottle, mix ¼ c. witch hazel, ¾ c. rose water, ½ tsp. white vinegar, ¼ tsp. glycerine, ½ tsp. spirit of camphor, ½ tsp. honey, pinch of alum.

Shake well. Use on cotton pads for refreshing your skin.

Honey is wonderful for "inside" beauty care, too. Use it as a substitute for sugar in coffee, tea and salad dressings.

For a deliciously healthful fruit salad dip, mix 1-3 c. honey with 2-3 c. apple, pineapple or grape juice.

For a skin-beautifying, delicious drink, try soy milk (comes canned), plus 1 tsp. honey and a few drops of vanilla extract. Serve well chilled.

Why not plan right now to make the "NEW YOU" a honey of a beauty?

Just for You

Believe it or not, chewing honey comb until it becomes a ball of wax may very well help clear sinuses. Many swear by it!

DUECK-CHAPMAN

Daughter of Local Couple Wed in Mainland Chapel

Following a honeymoon on Vancouver Island, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Dueck will live in New Westminster.

Rev. Handy officiated at the candlelight service in the Trinity Junior College Chapel, Langley, uniting Marnie Joyce Chapman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. E Marshall, 1010 Hampshire Road, Victoria, and Peter Allen Dueck, son of Rev. and Mr. J. P. Dueck of Steinback, Man.

White, gold and bronze chrysanthemums decorated the church for the service. Music was provided by organist Mrs. S. Freisen.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of white silk lace fashioned on classical lines. Three bands of Guipure lace bordered the skirt which swept back in a full cathedral train. She carried a bouquet of cream and bronze chrysanthemums.

The bride's only attendant Miss Adele Evans, wore a deep yellow gown fashioned on empire lines with a cowl neckline and matching headpiece. White and bronze chrysanthemums formed her bouquet.

Arnie Friesen was best man and ushering the guests to the pews marked with white heather in satin ribbon bows were Sam Friesen and Henry Dueck, the groom's brother.

The bride's godfather, G. C. Bastedo, proposed the toast to her happiness at the reception following in the chapel wings.

For travelling on honeymoon, the bride chose a gold Austrian import double-knit suit with antelope fronts, which she accented with a Stella original hat in brown crushed velvet and brown accessories.

LYNDA BIRD SETS DATE

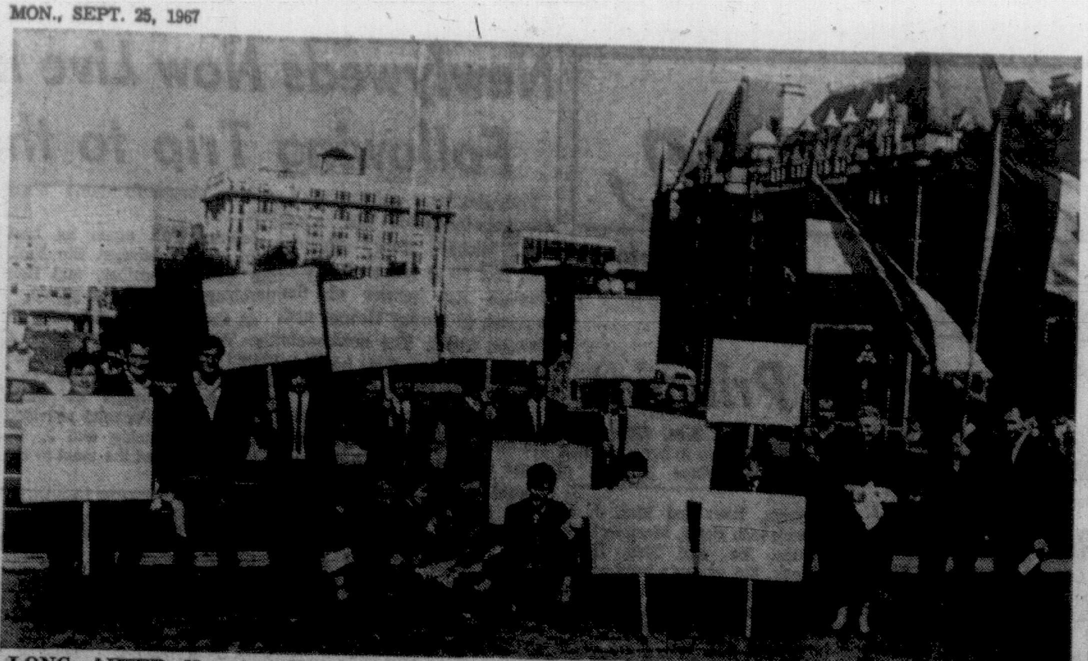
WASHINGTON (Reuters) — President Johnson's elder daughter Lynda Bird will be married to marine Capt. Charles Robb in the White House Dec. 9, it was announced today.

Lynda Bird is 23, Capt. Robb 28.

The bride's younger sister, Mrs. Patrick Nugent, who was married in Washington last August, will be matron of honor.

It was announced earlier that Capt. Robb will be assigned to active duty in Vietnam in March.

The young couple announced their engagement earlier this month.



LONG AFTER Yugoslav Prime Minister Mika Spiljak and 11 government officials called at the Legislative Buildings Saturday, a party of hostile demonstrators paraded outside. They carried posters which read: "Spiljak and Tito Are Butchers," "Communism Isn't Wanted In Canada," "Go Home Murderer Spiljak," "Cardinal Stepinac Died In Tito Prison," "Croatia Must Be Free," "Long Live Croatia" and "Long Live Canada." There was no demonstration when the Prime Minister and his party were welcomed to Premier Bennett's office by Attorney-General Robert Bonner at 11 a.m. Later the visitors made sightseeing tour of Southern Vancouver Island. Second Treasure Found By U.K. Undersea Divers

LONDON (AP)—Divers have hauled up a barnacle encrusted chest from the North Sea near Scotland crammed with $168,000 in silver ducatoons, the second discovery in a week off Britain of sunken treasure that could be worth millions.

Three days ago divers hunting the wreck of an 18th-century English Mediterranean fleet near the Scilly Islands found a carpet of gold and silver coins they believe are part of a $3,000,000 trove.

The new find on the coast of Scotland's Shetland Islands is thought to come from the wreck of the Dutch East India Company's ship Liefde which sank on the night of Nov. 7, 1711, with the loss of 300 lives. Divers claim more than 600,000 coins worth several million dollars still litter the craggy seabed.

The exact location of the new haul 78 feet below the surface is the Out Skerries, a quarter mile strait south of the Skerry island of Housay.

SPENT $14,000

During the last three years, since restaurant owner John Bannon pinpointed the wreck by museum research, a private company has spent $14,000 looking for the loot.

The rotting timbers of the sea chest held enough reward to convince them the money was well invested.

The company, Scientific Survey and Location, now is negotiating with the Dutch government, which owns the rights to the ship, to buy the wreck.

CANADIAN CLAIMS HAUL

The Scilly Island discovery, at the point where the English Channel and Atlantic flow together, is thought to be the remains of Admiral Sir Clowdisley Shovell's flagship Association which foundered in heavy fog and seas in 1707.

Divers bringing up 1,500 gold and silver guineas, crowns and pieces of eight predicted "there are thousands more down there."

A Canadian, James C. Holloway of Burlington, Ont., already has claimed part of the haul as a direct descendant of the admiral. He said he would ask just a part of the treasure. "I don't expect to inherit everything pulled out of the seas," he said.

Trishia Goes Home

Trishia, a seven-year-old Irish setter, caught in a trap Saturday, has been claimed by her owners.

The dog was found in leg trap by hunter Ross Deal, 3945 Rainbow Street, in bushland on the Malahat Friday.

Trishia had been out with her master T. R. Clapham, of Malahat Drive.

She was picked up by her owners this morning from the SPCA office and returned home to her six puppies.

Governor Spurs Lions Club

"Lions must understand and help overcome some of the problems facing the world today," says District Governor Jack Tang.

He was addressing the Esquimalt Lions Club recently. It was his first official visit to the club.

"Clubs should not become complacent and stodgy, basking in their past activities but should always be looking for new projects.

"The Lions motto 'We Serve' should always provide Lions with incentive to give freely of their time in community work."

Mr. Tang also asked that Lions help the youth of today by working with Lions International guiding youth through Lions Peace essays and youth guidance activities.

Nigerians Executed

LAGOS (AP)—Four Nigerians were executed by a firing squad in Enugu for plotting to overthrow the secessionist regime of Lt.-Col. C. Odumegwu Ojukwu, Radio Biafra reported Sunday. They were not identified.

Bishop Blasts Viet War

SAN FRANCISCO—(UPI) — Those who believe the United States is morally right in Vietnam should enlist and "kill, kill, kill," says resigned Episcopal Bishop James A. Pike.

But, he added, a soldier who is not convinced the U.S. is acting morally in the war is guilty of "individual murder."

The controversial clergyman, Episcopal bishop of California until his resignation last year, said Saturday the U.S. opposed imperialism in the Second World War and fosters it in Vietnam.

"I'm not a pacifist," said Pike, a Navy veteran of the Second World War.

However, those who feel the nation is right, he said, should enlist and "go over there and kill, kill, kill — as in 'kill a commie for Christ.'"

8 CARD OF THANKS

We wish to extend our sincere appreciation for the many acts of kindness, messages of sympathy, contributions to the Lutheran Church, Langford, and floral tributes received from our many friends, neighbors and relatives during the loss of our dear mother.—The Kvarvet family.

9 IN MEMORIAM

O—FRIENDSHIP—O

I cannot think that he is dead,
Who to the woods was born and bred;
Where faith uplifts for us to find,
That resurrection's of the mind.

For who shall sit in judgment, say,
Where life and death be ours for aye;
A Christ knocks on our door to cry,
"Believe in me, thou shalt not die!"

I cannot think that he is dead,
Who to the woods was born and bred;
Where friendship is and was and so,
"God's will be done! He had to go.
—A. L. Greig

PARK — In loving memory of a devoted husband, father and grandfather, Douglas Reginald Park, who passed away Sept. 25, 1960.
—Ever remembered and sadly missed by his loving family.

TAHOUNEY—In loving memory of a dear father and grandfather Herbert Tahouney, who passed away Sept. 25, 1965.

Deep in our hearts you are fondly remembered,
Sweet, happy memories cling 'round your name;
True hearts that loved you with deepest affection,
Always will love you in death just the same.

—Lovingly remembered by George, Colleen and grandsons, Richard, Daniel and Leonard.

TAHOUNEY—In loving memory of my husband, Herbert, who passed away Sept. 25, 1965.

We often sit and think of him when we are all alone,
For memory is the only friend that grief can call its own.
Like ivy on the withered oak, when all other things decay,
Our love for him will still keep green and never fade away.

—Loving wife, Sophie and family.

THOM—In treasured memory of George, a devoted husband, father and grandfather taken suddenly from us Sept. 25, 1964:

Gently we turn back the pages of time
To wander down memory lane
With laughter and tears we relive the years
And once more he's with us again.
For us things have changed in so many ways
But one thing changes never
The memory of the happy days
When we were all together.

—Fondly remembered by his wife, Frances, daughter, Jeanie, son-in-law, Bob and granddaughter, Vicki.

Opening lead—♥K

Jim: "West must have been pleasantly surprised when his ace and king of hearts took the first two tricks — yet it seems to me that South went out of his way to warn North about the danger of two heart losers. South was careful to avoid Blackwood, and his minor suit cue bids should have told North that second round heart control was needed if a slam is to be made."

Oswald: "I am inclined to agree entirely with you. Furthermore, I have always felt that when a man has bid the full strength of his hand once he should merely respond to forces from there on."

Jim: "Were they using limit raises?"

Oswald: "No. North's three spade bid was a force to game so he had bid the full value of his cards. I would be inclined to give West some credit for his good result. West did bid two clubs rather than two hearts."

Jim: "West didn't have much of a hand. I guess he wanted to keep the hearts in reserve in case he got doubled at two clubs."

Oswald: "He admitted that, and North explained that West's failure to bid hearts caused him to make the final slam bid. I sympathize with North but still feel that his six spade bid was inexcusable."

Jim: "I agree about North but must charge South with some blame. South should have cue bid diamonds before he cue bid clubs. This would have given North a chance to bid five diamonds over five clubs. When the bidding came to him as it did North had no choice except to bid some number of spades."

Andy Stephen Looks at TV

BITS 'N' PIECES: The husband of Princess Margaret, Lord Snowdon, is completing work on a documentary he is filming in Europe for U.S. television.

The documentary, a film essay on aging, will be aired on CBS-TV, probably later this season. Lord Snowdon's reputation was made as a still photographeer but he was persuaded by CBS News executive producer Don Hewitt to try his hand producer don Hewitt to try his hand at motion pictures.

Stephen

Whether you've noticed or not, Elvis Presley, who hasn't done anything on television for many years, is making the scene with his oldie movies. All three American networks are featuring the hip-gyrating, guitar-plucking singer over the next couple of weeks.

NBC-TV has already played "Fun in Acapulco," and has "Girls, Girls, Girls" set for Oct. 10. Over at ABC-TV, "Paradise, Hawaiian Style" is being shown while CBS-TV has "Viva Las Vegas" on its Friday night movie scheduled Oct. 6.

Jerry Lewis, who has his own hour on NBC, is also being shown around the networks via the movie route. "CinderFella" and "Errand Boy" are two films slotted.

The reason is simple. Both Presley and Lewis are great audience grabbers. The ratings look good after their movies have been shown.

Hockey Night In Canada returns to CBC-TV Saturday, Oct. 14, with Chicago at Toronto. This year, the colorcasts will give Canadian hockey fans a look at the games involving expansion teams.

Don't look for a change in the major ABC-TV newscast slot for a while yet. Ottawa-born Peter Jennings, 29, who became anchorman of the evening news TV show wants out but the network has no one to replace him.

Reports have been rampant that Jennings wants to get out from behind the desk and into the field.

HAPPIER DAYS saw Mr. and Mrs. John Wasik drink a toast during a recent dinner at a restaurant in Cocoa Beach, Fla. Five weeks ago she was killed when her parachute failed to open during a jump. Wasik was killed Sunday when he failed to pull ripcord while making jump over same spot. Today would have been their first wedding aninniversary.

JUMPER FOLLOWS WIFE IN 'BEST WAY TO DIE'

ROCKLEDGE, Fla. (AP) — A skydiver who said, "It's the best way to die," when his pretty wife plunged 3,200 feet in a parachuting accident five weeks ago, jumped to his death from the same plane Sunday clasping his hands in prayer instead of yanking the ripcord.

John Wasik, 27, an aerospace reporter who covered activities at nearby Cape Kennedy, carried in his wallet a singed contract for his own funeral including a $1,700 silver casket. He asked to be buried beside his wife.

Three letters were in his pocket but police withheld the texts.

Today is the first anniversary of their marriage.

His wife Rickie, 22, jumped from the plane at the same altitude over the same airport at the same hour Sunday, Aug. 20, and Wasik watched her fall.

HER 2nd JUMP

It was Mrs. Wasik's second parachute jump. Her chute snarled.

"She took up skydiving just to please me," Wasik told a reporter after her death.

At the funeral Wasik told the pastor: "The Lord had come down to earth to pick a flower and he picked the prettiest of the bunch."

Lyle Goodin, safety officer for the Falling Stars Jump Club, watched from the ground through binoculars as Wasik hurtled to earth.

"He held his hands in a praying position," Goodwin said.

Pearl S. Leech, editor of the Melbourne, Fla., Daily Times, where Wasik was based as aerospace writer for the All Florida News Service of the Perry newspapers, said she talked with him after Mrs. Wasik's death.

"He told me it is the best way to die, the way Rickie would want to die," said Mrs. Leech. "She would want to die having fun; doing what she wanted to do."

Wasik had jumped half a dozen times since his wife's death and injured his ankle in a leap Sept. 3.

On Aug. 22, the day his wife was buried, Wasik arranged with a funeral home to be buried beside his wife. He selected the coffin and signed an agreement for payment from his estate.

Wasik had four children by a previous marriage.

RELEASED FROM JAIL

Pilot Recounts Tshombe Snatch

By HARRY STATHOS

LONDON (UPI) — The two British pilots of a plane that was hijacked three moths ago with former Congolese premier Moise Tshombe on board today scotched reports he had been secretly taken from an Algiers jail and murdered.

Capt. David Taylor, 27, and Catp. Trevor Copleston, 38, said they saw Tshombe just two days ago in a prison in Algiers where they also were detained before they were released and returned to Britain on Sunday.

Taylor was commander of the Hawker Siddeley 125 twin-jet charter plane whic was hijacked as he and Copleston were flying Tshombe from the Mediterranean island of Ibiza to Palma, Majorca, last June 30. They were forced to fly the plane to Algiers.

Tshombe is under death sentence as a traitor in The Congo. An Algerian court agreed to extradite him, but so far the exact date has not been set.

FACING DEATH

The present Congolese government has said he will be executed as soon as he is returned.

Taylor said he and Copleston both had seen Tshombe last Friday being exercised in the army barracks where they had all been kept prisoners.

Asked how he looke, the pilot replied, "It was difficult to tell at a distance of about 20 yards."

Taylor said it did not occur to him to be apprehensive about carrying Tshombe as a passenger.

"We thought of him merely as an ex-politician going on a flight," he said.

Taylor's passengers, in addition to Tshombe, included Francis Bodenan, a Frenchman alleged to have held up the plane; three Belgians and Tshombe's two Spanish police bodyguards.

Describing how his plane was hijacked, Taylor said: "We heard some shouting in the back of the plane. Then there were two shots. We found later they were from a .22 pistol fitted with a silencer.

"Then Bodenan came up. He represented the company which was chartering the plane, apparently for tourism. He said to me, 'Algerie.' He didn't speak in English. At that time he was covering the passengers with a gun.

TREATED FAIRLY

"The sun was low. It would have been difficult to kid Bodenan on the direction we were taking and we did not have enough fuel to go anywhere else. There was a woman on board and I had to consider the safety of the passengers. I headed for Algeria.

"I managed to get a radio message away without Bodenan realizing it. It said in effect: 'I have been ordered by my passengers to go to Algeria'."

Asked about their detention, Taylor said it was not very good by British standards, but that they were treated "quite fairly" by the Algerian soldiers guarding them.

The plane and the Belgians are still being held by Algerian authorities.

Easy Rules Govern Growing of Bulbs

By HILDA BEASTALL

Hilda

Once the simple rules of culture are understood, growing bulbs is one of the easiest forms of gardening.

Success is far more likely than failure since the complete plant is alreqdy present in embryo and needs only moisture and heat to bring it into view.

Much depends on the skill and growing conditions under which the bulbs were raised, but if new stock is being purchased this fall from a reliable source little anxiety need be felt over the results.

To ensure the continuance of good blooms there are a few basic rules of culture for the planting of the spring flowering bulbs.

Dig the bed or border well, incorporating rotted compost or old manure, and some coarse sand if the soil is a heavy clay. The better the drainage the better the health of the bulb.

Do not add any general fertilizer when preparing the soil, but a little bonemeal in each planting hole is standard practice.

If all the spring flowering bulbs are being planted in a small area it is a good idea to make groups of each kind. A single plant of tulip or narcissus will not give as much pleasure as will a group of half a dozen or so.

Plant the taller varieties behind the larger ones, and put the tiny Chionodoxa, Scilla, Galanthus, and crocus near the edge, or the pathway, for full enjoyment. If naturalizing a large area, throw a handul of bulbs on the soil and plant exactly where they fall.

With a few bulbs, particularly the small ones, do not waste them by planting too far apart. A dozen placed irregularly in a square foot will be a spot of beauty.

Two or three inches is sufficient depth for the small bulbs, while the depth of a trowel blade, about six inches, is right for the narcissi and tulips.

A scattering of bonemeal well mixed with soil in the bottom of each hole will provide food in the spring, enabling the bulbs to give their full bounty of bloom.

Farm Lands Eyed To End Home Crisis

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—A promise to take marginal farmlands and change them into satellite cities in a red-tape-slashing attack on Ontario's mounting housing crisis has been made by Premier John Robarts.

The premier disclosed his plan to meet the demands of an expected population explosion as he officially stepped into the Oct. 17 election race Friday night.

He was nominated by acclamation in the riding of London-North, which he has represented since 1951.

"We will have to try things we haven't before," he said, after telling his audience that Ontario needs 75,000 new homes a year.

His government is thinking of buying up marginal farm land as sites for provincially planned satellite communities. The government would build the necessary highways, install services, establish a development plan, have commercial builders erect houses and sell them at cost.

Land inventory studies now are being made, he said later in an interview, but he gave no indication when the plan would start. The communities would be totally planned by the government.

ON ESTATE

Meeting Closed To Hear Views

The McRae Estate will be discussed privately at an informal meeting of Saanich council, senior officials and lawyers Wednesday night.

Reeve Hugh Curtis said the meeting will be closed to the public although newspaper reporters could attend for background.

"This thing is still in the negotiating stage because of the possibilities," he siad. "We must have the benefit of mutual thinking without benefit to the other party."

Last week a three-man arbitration board set the price for the 132-acre estate in southern Saanich at $1.2 million — $450,000 more than the municipality's offer and about $400,000 more than provided in a ratepayer-approved capital budget two years ago.

The reeve said an open meeting to discuss what course Saanich should take could be detrimental to the purchase.

The closed meeting was strongly opposed by Coun. Digby Kier, who said "it will be a nice, cosy little group with the people left in the dark as to the pros and cons of the thing. This is business for an open council meeting . . . not something for the reeve and council in secret session."

He said he is undecided whether to attend the meeting in the reeve's office. Asked if he would feel bound to keep meeting details in confidence, he replied "my confidence is with the people of Saanich."

He also said the reeve should have called a council meeting first and if council wants a closed meeting "that's fine."

Other councillors took a variety of stands on the issue but none flatly opposed the closed meeting.

"If this is just to get the advice of lawyers, fair ball," said Coun. William Noel. "If it is to come up with a uniform opinion, it should be open."

Coun. Alan Newberry said he will attend the meeting to hear legal aspects of the case which, if discussed in public, might compromise the municipality's decision.

"I know the intent of the meeting is probably more than that," he said. "I would protest if anything is discussed which is not of a tactical nature that involved legal attitudes which would be of advantage to (the McRae lawyers)," he said.

'DRESS REHEARSAL'

He said the meeting sounds like "a dress rehearsal of opinion and then we will go through the motions of a decision in public."

Couns. Harold Todd and Leslie Passmore did not hold strong opinions either way and Couns. William Campbell and Edward Lum supported a closed meeting. Coun. Edith Gunning said it was "so hard to say" until the information is placed before the meeting.

Reeve Curtis said no decision can be reached at the informal meeting. "It is very unlikely a conclusion will be reached, and in any event it would have to be ratified by council," he added.

Retired Officer Dies Here

Funeral services were held Saturday for Col. C. W. B. (Dick) Richards, retired, who died at Royal Jubilee Hospital Thursday on his 38th wedding anniversary.

A resident of Victoria since 1962, he was rector's warden at St. Dunstan's Anglican Church.

Born at Plymouth, England, and educated at Plymouth College, he volunteered for Lord Kitchener's army during the First World War.

Col. Richards served with the Royal Regiment of Artillery until 1949 and was stationed in Germany, Gibraltar, Ireland and various English stations.

He served in technical branches at the Woolwich Arsenal, London, from 1930 until his retirement in 1949. He was re-employed as an armament engineer in the ministry of supply from 1952 to 1960.

INSTRUCTOR

Col. Richards had considerable experience as an instructor in educational and technical subjects, particularly ballistics and mathematics; and because of his knowledge of military law, was often president of district courts-martial.

His hobbies included hunting, rifle shooting, swimming and sailing. Since coming to Victoria, Col. Richards enjoyed sailing, carpentry and wine-making.

He is survived by the widow, Margaret, in Victoria; two sons, Derek in England and Peter in Victoria; a granddaughter, Cheryl, in Victoria, and a brother and sister in England.

Urk! The clothesline's claimed another victim in the dark. Better call your electrical contractor and talk to him about outdoor lighting. It's inexpensive, and it makes the garden a safer, much pleasanter place to be after dark. Good garden lighting means you can pin a suit to the line after dark. Instead of having a guest pin a suit on you.

"When we consider that the new Volvo 144S can be purchased with a fair number of options for less than $3,600, and at that price will outperform most and outlast anything than can be considered remotely competitive, you better believe that you are getting one heckuva automobile at one heckuva bargain. CONTROLLER, PILOT BLAMED FOR DEATHS

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A federal safety official testified today that an air traffic controller and the pilot of the jump plane were both to blame for the deaths of 16 Ohio skydivers in Lake Erie last month.

Joseph J. O'Connell, Jr., chairman of the National Transportation Safety Board, told a Senate hearing that the controller followed the wrong plane on radar.

The pilot, according to O'Connell, was at fault for failing to call off the jump because of heavy cloud conditions over the target area.

Most of the skydivers died when they came down in Lake Erie and drowned.

Poverty Affects 1 in 4 Canadians

One quarter of Canada' population is living in poverty, some bearable, some unbelievable, David Lewis, deputy national leader of the New Democratic Party, said here Saturday.

Mr. Lewis speaking to an audience of 200 at the Union Centre, said poverty exists not in small pockets but in large islands all across the country and he deplored Canadians' lack of interest in it.

He also criticized U.S. policy in Vietnam and said it makes more Communists every day than the U.S. is able to kill.

AT U.S. MERCY

And he criticized American domination of Canadian business and said "we are at the mercy of the economy of another country."

The labor lawyer found another target in Canada's aid to underdeveloped countries which he said is "niggardly, unimaginative and miserly."

He told party members it is the aim of the NDP to make Canada in its second century "not only one of the greatest in the world and one of justice at home" but to carry this throughout the world.

CAPPIE, a 3½-pound poodle in Irving, Tex., can claim he lives a real dog's life. Probably the only two-legged poodle anywhere, Cappie was the victim of a freak accident that crushed his front legs when he was a pup. He was adopted by a veterinarian. (AP Wirephoto.)

YOUR HEALTH

Disease Is Caused By Strong Emotion

By DR. W. C. ALVAREZ

Alvarez

Cataplexy is a very strange disease about which we know little. It is perfectly compatible with a long and healthy life. I remember a description of the disease by the great French author, Stendhal, who told how, in his youth, he thought himself in love with a prominent actress. One day on turning a corner he came face to face with her on the street. The excitement was so great that he became weak and almost fell flat on the sidewalk.

Here is a letter from a woman who first knew of her nervous peculiarity when she was 25. She said her father has had the same thing as long as she can remember. Any strong emotion, such as anger, can cause her to crumple up. A strong laugh will cause her to get weak and to drop anything that she is holding.

As she says, "I almost dropped my baby a few times, and I have fallen to the floor as if I were paralyzed and semi-concious." Sometimes the weakness comes with "just a good feeling." She must not drive her car for any long distance, because when she gets tired her brain goes into a sort of trance, and then she does not react as quickly as she should do in any emergency. Also, she must not dirve at night.

★ ★ ★

The woman does not know where to go for medical help. As she says, the average doctor doesn't seem to know what she is talking about. The poor lady says, "At times I feel so tired I haven't the strength to go on living. Having to care for several children, I have to keep in good shape."

Cataplexy is decidedly different from epilepsy, because in an epileptic seizure the person loses consciousness, and a seizure may come on at any time, whereas a spell of cataplexy is definitely brought on by emotion.

I would not advise the woman to go to a big clinic, because even there the specialists could not tell her much about her peculiar condition. I am sorry to say I do not know of any medicine that will cure it. Her doctor could try several drugs such as Dilantin or Deaner (which are anticonvulsants) or Tofranil, and antidepressant drug.

HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy.

Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes.

The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia and of the second question a World Book Atlas or Globe.

Andy sends a complete, 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia to Kristi Kay Klatt, age 11, of Canton, Kansas, for her question:

What is an orbiting astronomical observatory?

An astronomical observatory, of course, is a special building for studying the heavens. We cannot send the huge structure and its teams of experts into orbit. But we can send up a small satellite to do some of its observing and there are a good many reasons why we should.

Our cosmic information is gathered at ground stations that house telescopes, radio-telescopes and a lot of other astronomical instruments. These major observatories are high on mountains around the world. We depend upon them for such practical information as the correct time of day. Their teams of experts report positions of the moons and planets of our Solar System. They also gather information about our starry neighbors near and far in the Milky Way. And they probe much farther to piece together a picture of the infinite universe beyond our Galaxy.

This is a large order and an important one. In the present century the advances in astronomy have been astounding, but the work could go even faster. Observatories on the ground are limited, even on high mountains, by the earth's atmosphere. Telescopes, spectrographs and even radio-telescopes scan the heavens through a thick veil of airy gases. It is this veil that causes the stars to twinkle. It also limits all cosmic surveys to the visible light of the spectrum and to somewhat distorted radio signals. If only an observatory could rise above the atmosphere, its range would be wider and more accurate.

This could be done by packing a small-scale observatory into an unmanned satellite and sending it up to orbit the earth. And our space program has plans for one, two and three of these orbiting astronomical observatories. A typical OAO satellite is designed to weigh 3,600 pounds, almost two tons. It is an 8-sided tube, 10 feet long and 80 inches wide. Its delicate instruments are encased in a tube 48 inches wide and set inside the main body. Auxiliary electronics equipment is packed neatly on shelves in the space between the outer shell and the instrument tube.

Relays Cosmic Data

The power to operate the instruments and relay their reports to the ground is to be provided by solar cells. When the OAO orbit is set, these batteries will open like windmills and start converting the sun's energy into electrical power. The OAO orbit is to be about 500 miles above the earth. This is below the Van Allen radiation belts, far above the weathery level of the troposphere and above most of the interfering gases of the atmosphere. The panels of solar cells could work indefinitely and the OAO is expected to perform its duties for years.

Astronomers on the ground depend a lot on the spectroscope. The OAO will carry miniature equipment for gathering and relaying spectra information on celestial objects. Unhampered by the atmosphere, it will not be limited to the rainbow spectrum. It is expected to report on invisible infra-red and ultraviolet radiation. All this and other cosmic data will be relayed to ground stations.

The major OAO instrument is the photometer-telescope system. It has a 4-inch telescope equipped with photometer and filter for taking and relaying celestial pictures. The system also has a 16-inch telescope. There are diffraction gratings to gather and relay star spectra. One instrument will search for low-energy gamma rays. One will probe to find the sources of high-energy gamma rays. Another OAO instrument will survey the sky to find the sources of cosmic X-ray radiation.

Andy sends a 14" World Book Globe to Joseph Spinosi, age 10, of Baden, Pennsylvania, for his question:

What causes gravity?

This is the Age of Science and science probes for causes, the factors that make other things happen. Sooner or later, you would think, a probe must lead back to a first cause that started all the others. Sometimes this turns out to be true. Light is one of these first causes that starts a lot of other causes on their way. We call it a phenomenon. But most scientific investigations do not lead back to one first cause. As a rule, things are caused by the meeting and interaction of several factors.

Gravity is a strange force because it is not caused by anything. It is a built-in quality, or property, of matter. Every speck of matter in the universe has its exact quota of gravity. Wetness is a property of liquid water. Gravity is a property of all matter—solids, liquids and gases. The mass of an object is the amount of matter or material packed into its size, or volume. And the quota of gravity allotted to an object depends upon its mass and its volume. The gravity in a speck of dust is a mere wisp compared with the gravity of the massive earth—but even the speck of dust has its built-in property of gravity.

Future Queen of Denmark Visiting Here Two Days

Princess Margrethe, future queen of Denmark, and her husband, Prince Henrik, were due to arrive at Victoria International Airport at 2:25 this afternoon.

The royal couple will be guests of Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. George Pearkes at Government House during their two-day visit.

Talented and vivacious, the 27-year-old princess is visiting Victoria as part of a royal visit to Expo 67 and Western Canada.

A keen archaeologist, she is also a scholar in philosophy and political scence. Her family is the oldest royal line in Europe, descending from the Viking, Gorm the Old, who died about 950 AD.

The princess and her husband were married at Copenhagen last June. Prince Henrik was formerly Count Henri de Laborde de Monpezet, a French diplomat.

The royal couple were to be greeted at the airport this afternoon by Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. Pearkes and Attorney-General and Mrs. Robert Bonner.

At 10 a.m. Tuesday, the couple will drive to the Legislative Buildings along Rockland to Vancouver, Vancouver to Burdette and Humboldt and along Government to Belleville.

At 10:25 a.m., they leave for the City Hall via Belleville, Douglas and Pandora. At 11 a.m. they return to Government House by way of Pandora, Government, Fisgard, Douglas, Fort, Cook and Rockland.

They will leave Government House at 12:15 p.m. to attend a government luncheon at the Empress Hotel and will travel along Rockland Avenue, Quadra, Burdett, Douglas and Belleville, entering the hotel through the main entrance on Government.

At 2:10 p.m. they are to leave for the airport for their trip to Vancouver. Later they will make a flying trip to Tahsis on the west coast of Vancouver Island.

Mexican City in Danger From Rio Grande Flood

HARLINGEN, Tex. (UPI) — The Rio Grande, bearing "one of the greatest floods on record," smashed out dam after dam today along the diversion channels designed to hold in its banks. Mexican officials said the city of Matamoros could be "totally flooded" in 36 hours.

The mighty river, swollen to three times its normal size with the rains of Hurricane Beulah, smashed out a steel-and-concrete dam Sunday night in the Harlingen area and flooded a normally dry diversion channel.

Another barrier gave way today south of Mission, Tex., west of Harlingen near Anzalduas Dam.

THOUSANDS FLEE

Mexican officials at Reynosa said the dikes burst there early today and drove 10,000 persons from their homes. Federal authorities warned that Matamoros downstream could be "totally flooded" within 36 hours.

Ninety blocks of Reynosa, across the border from McAllen, Tex., were flooded. Low-lying farm fields in a 30 mile area from Harlingen to Mercedes, Tex., were flooded Sunday night when the Arroyo Colorado, normally a trickle, erupted into a raging torrent when the Rio Grande smashed through the dam.

The second dam gave way today, imperiling an area about four to five miles wide. Thousands of persons fled their homes in the two Texas areas.

CAUTIONS FORECASTS

The Rio Grande was going down at Rio Grande City but the weather bureau said it "will experience one of the greatest floods on record during the next few days."

The levees at Brownville, 23 feet high, had been expected to hold, but officials began wording their predictions more cautiously, and the weather bureau said the Rio Grande would crest at Bronsville at between 20 and 21 feet Saturday.

All residents between the levees and the river were warned to flee for miles up from the gulf in case water spilled over the top.

DEATH TOLL 40

The Rio Grande was flowing at 161,000 cubic feet per second, compared with 50,000 normally, and six other Texas rivers were carrying record or near-record floods to the gulf for 200 miles up the Texas coast, ravaged for five days last week with Beulah's hurricane winds, tornadoes, and floods.

The death toll stood at 40—11 in Texas and 20 earlier in Mexico and Caribbean. The damage total was expected to approximate $1 billion and was still growing. Hundreds of thousands

Wrong Village

SAIGON (Reuters) — North Vietnamese living in a village four miles north of the demilitarized zone were mistakenly warned to leave the North or risk death in raids by American B-52 bombers, informed sources said here today.

A U.S. military spokesman said 240,000 leaflets were dropped Sunday by U.S. aircraft over the inland village of Ben Quang.

They told the inhabitants to save their lives by reporting to the nearest South Vietnamese outpost.

But the sources said the leaflets appeared to have been designed for dropping in the wake of B-52 strikes in South Vietnam and probably had been used in error in the North.

NEW SESSION BEGINS

It's New Look In Parliament

OTTAWA (CP) — A new-look Parliament reassembled today with John Diefenbaker, J. W. Pickersgill and Guy Favreau gone and Robert L. Stanfield guiding the Conservative Opposition from the galleries.

A rich legislative plate is being served for the occasion by the minority Liberal government, hoping for a new opposition mood with Mr. Stanfield.

Mr. Pearson told a press conference Sunday a statement on housing, a major problem because of lack of mortgage money, may open business.

A couple of minor bills probably would follow, then a few days on departmental spending estimates, with revision of broadcasting legislation to be introduced next week as the first big job.

ESSENTIAL LEGISLATION

With 44 sitting days available before the Christmas recess now set to begin Dec. 22, Mr. Pearson has set out 25 "essential" pieces of legislation he would like dealt with.

Among them are bills on divorce, abortion, birth control and capital punishment, with free votes to release MPs from party loyalties.

Standings in the Commons: Liberals 131; Conservatives 94; NDP 22; Creditistes 8; Social Credit 4; Independent 3; vacant 3—Total 265.

OTTAWA (CP)—Parliament resumed after a summer recess today with a quick Conservative opener seeking an emergency debate on housing.

George Chatterton (PC — Esquimalt - Saanich) told the Commons there is a "deepening of the grave crisis" in housing.

There was laughter and sadness as the Commons picked up where it left off July 7.

There was sadness when the prime minister and other party spokesmen paid tribute to the late Mr. Favreau, former Liberal justice minister.

There was laughter—and loud Liberal applause—a few minutes later when H. A. Olson, MP for Medicine Hat, crossed the floor from his Social Credit seat to join the Liberals.

Mr. Olson said he had resigned from Social Credit and been accepted by the Commons group which supports the government.

"Which group is that?" an unidentified opposition MP shouted.

The seat of deposed opposition leader Diefenbaker remained vacant.

Mr. Stanfield watched the proceedings from the opposition gallery with Gene Rhe-

THANT ON VISIT

Navy Crew Dismantles Expo Bomb

By BORIS MISKEW

MONTREAL (CP) — Secretary - General U Thant of the United Nations ended a weekend trip to Canada Sunday night and showed more concern for the international situation than the discovery of a bomb during his tour of Expo 67.

The bomb — dismantled six minutes before it was scheduled to go off — was found near Expo's 15-nation Africa Place which was on the secretary-general's itinerary.

U Thant's visit to Africa Place was cancelled.

The bomb, consisting of a 3.5-inch rocket launcher projectile, was found on a canal bank about 20 feet from Africa Place and was dismantled by a Canadian navy bomb disposal unit.

A report that a second bomb had been planted at Expo was checked by police and proved to be false.

The report said a bomb would go off at Habitat 67. U Thant had been the guest of Pierre Dupuy, commissioner - general of Expo, who has an apartment at the futuristic urban housing project.

U Thant did not touch on the bomb incident during a brief statement to reporters at Montreal International Airport before his departure for New York.

GREATEST DANGER

The secretary - general said the H-bomb is the greatest danger facing the world today.

"This is the tragedy of our times," he said. "The moral development of man has not been able to catch up with his scientific development."

He praised Canada's support of the United Nations and her achievement in making Expo a success.

"I've been tremendously impressed with Expo," U Thant said, "not only with the exhibition but also with the theme, Man and his World."

The secretary - general visited a number of pavilions during his 28-hour stay in Canada,

IN HOUSE

Starr Named Interim Tory Leader

OTTAWA (CP) — Michael Starr has been named interim opposition leader, Robert Stanfield, new Conservative leader, announced today after a caucus of Conservative MPs.

The 56-year-old former labor minister who was a candidate for the Conservative leadership will also act as House leader for the Conservatives.

Mr. Starr will be interim opposition leader until Mr. Stanfield finds a Commons seat. He will run for the Commons in the Nova Scotia riding of Colchester-Hants in a byelection called for Nov. 6.

Mr. Stanfield might win the seat by acclamation on nomination day, Oct. 23, if no other candidates oppose him.

Mr. Stanfield told reporters that he proposed to the caucus that Mr. Starr, MP for Oshawa, be interim leader.

UNANIMOUS CHOICE

Caucus chairman J. Waldo Monteith said the decision was unanimous.

Mr. Starr said the overseeing of the operations of various government departments had been distributed among several Conservatives so that he would not always be in the forefront in questioning of the government benches.

Issue Discussed 'Very Seriously'

By VICTOR J. MACKIE
Times Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA — Prime Minister Pearson voiced grave concern over separatist developments in Quebec following a federal Liberal caucus here Sunday.

The caucus spent much time discussing how best to challenge separatism and strengthen the bonds of confederation.

"I was struck by how very, very seriously this is being taken," said Mr. Pearson at a press conference. He said he would be making a statement soon on the problem to Parliament and the nation.

Mr. Pearson bluntly pinpointed the Quebec issue as a "major matter" of concern to "the caucus, the cabinet, parliament and the country."

He forecast it would occupy a "great deal" of the time of Parliament over the next month to six weeks. It was obvious that the Liberal members of Parliament at their two-day sessions in advance of today's resumption of the centennial sessions of Parliament spent much time arguing over French-speaking problems and the danger that Quebe may split away from the other nine provinces.

Caucus chairman Russel Honey (Durham) said there was a general agreement on the course the Liberal party should follow. Progress had been made although a concensus hasn't yet been reached.

Strain and Worry at Caucus Meet

The press conference was held Sunday in advance of a reception for Liberal members and senators. The end of the weekend saw an easy relaxed atmosphere replace the strain and worry of the caucus, but the prime minister's concern showed through.

The press conference was held called by Mr. Honey, but he only handled the questions until the subject of Quebec separatism came up.

Yes, he said in reply to a question, there had been "concern" expressed over Quebec.

(Some members confided later that there had been some highly emotional debates on the subject of Quebec.)

Mr. Honey said the Quebec discussion was a "continuing debate." He believed some progress had been made. He suggested that the mood of the caucus had been one "generally supporting" the position of Justice Minister Pierre-Elliot Trudeau that a "particular status" for Quebec couldn't be the solution to the problem.

It was at this point that Mr. Pearson intervened to handle reporters' questions about the Quebec discussions. He did not quite accept Mr. Honey's interpretation of the mood of the party's caucus. However he did not explain how they differed.

"All are concerned," said Mr. Pearson "over some of the statements" that have been coming out of Quebec.

He explained that this concern involved not only the caucus but also the cabinet and predicted it would take up much of the time of parliament in the next few weeks. He added:

"When we have crystalized our views in the light of still continuing developments, then I think it will be up to me as prime minister and leader of the party to make a statement."

Such statement might come within the next couple of months, he suggested, and he spoke of wanting to await further developments.

Asked when he would make this statement in Parliament Mr. Pearson replied: "I don't know . . . perhaps before long . . . perhaps there will be a full-dress debate on it in Parliament."

Then he said he would prefer to await the outcome of the November confederation conference of the provinces called by Premier John Robarts of Ontario. Ottawa will assign some top ranking "official observers" to sit in on that conference.

Mr. Pearson would also like to see what happens at the federal-provincial conference he will be calling or January or February, to write into the Canadian Constitution the Bill of Rights. It will direct the use of

New Minster For Cabinet

OTTAWA (CP) — Charles Granger has resigned as Newfoundland's minister of Labrador affairs and will become minister without portfolio in the federal cabinet, Prime Minister Pearson announced today in the Commons.

He will become Newfoundland's representative in the cabinet, succeeding J. W. Pickersgill who resigned as transport minister last week upon his appointment as the $40,000-a-year president of the new Canadian Transport Commission.

Mr. Granger, 55, was Liberal MP for Grand Falls - White Bay-Labrador from 1958 until 1966, when he resigned to join the Newfoundland cabinet.

He is expected to be Liberal candidate in a Nov. 6 byelection called for Bonavista-Twillingate, Mr. Pickersgill's former seat.

Three-Hour Clash Breaks Ceasefire

TEL AVIV (AP) — Egyptian and Israeli gunners battled across the Suez Canal ceasefire line again today in a three-hour clash which ended with a United Nations arranged ceasefire as evening fell, an Israeli Army spokesman said.

It was the eighth clash this month.

Earlier, Israel, indicating plans to stay put in some captured Arab lands, announced it will move Jewish settlers into occupied Syria and a captured Jordanian section where Israeli troops and helicopter gunners wounded 11 Arab terrorists Sunday.

Prime Minister Levi Eshkol announced Israel will resettle the area on the west bank of the Jordan River between Bethlehem and Hebron where Jewish pioneers lived until the first Arab-Israel war in 1949. Young, army-trained pioneers already are heading into the Golan Heights just beyond Israel's old border with Syria to start a new community. They will live in concrete huts along the Bonias ridge, a protected fortification for Syrian artillery firing at Israeli farms until the six-day June war ended with Israeli occupation of the area.

TERRORIST AREA

The area is within 40 miles of Nablus, an Arab town where Israeli army units said they captured 13 El Fatah terrorists and Soviet automatic arms, Czech mines and Syrian hand grenades Sunday.

Israel Wants Direct Talks

UNITED NATIONS (Reuters)—Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban was expected to stand firm today on his government's refusal to yield any occupied Arab territory until the Arab states dropped their belligerent posture.

First of the protagonists in the Middle East dispute to address the UN General Assembly at its new session, informants said he would again insist settlement of the crisis must be sought through direct talks between the Arab states and Israel.

WALKOUT 'TRADITION'

UNITED NATIONS (CP)—African and Asian delegates walked out of the United Nations General Assembly today when South African Foreign Minister Hilgard Muller went to the rostrum to speak in a general policy debate.

The walkout was the traditional demonstration by the UN's vigorous critics of South Africa's policy of racial separation.

. . . As Some Squeeze Others Are Biting

BELO HORIZONTE, Brazil (Reuters)—Antonio Silverio, 63, served a three-day jail sentence here for biting a mini-skirted girl. On his release Friday, he told the judge: "Pope Paul was right when he considered mini-skirts dangerous." Silverio said he could not resist the temptation to bite her thigh when the girl crossed her legs beside him on a bus.

MINI-SKIRT ESCAPADE UNNOTICED

By EDDY GILMORE

LONDON (AP)—The Englishman is supposed to be the world's most avid reader of newspapers, and this court case may prove it.

It started in the first-class compartment of a London commuter train. It held five men and a shapely, 19-year-old blonde.

All six were reading newspapers.

One, Alphonso Cuypers, 58, was doing something else, too.

Sitting beside the blonde, he gently laid a hand on her mini-skirted knee.

"I thought it was an accident," she told a court hearing the case against Cuypers.

Slowly, the middle-aged man lifted his hand and pinched the girl's thigh.

"I'm sorry," said the girl, "but I'm married."

None of the other four passengers raised his head or so much as glanced her way, the blonde testified.

The girl's reaction didn't discourage the pincher. He went on with his campaign, both in words and pinches.

Their fellow passengers read on.

"Leave me alone," the blonde cried out.

Still no one noticed.

The man then took the girl's hand in his.

"Can I have my hand back?" she asked.

Still no one stirred—except the girl.

Rising to her feet, she denounced her fellow travellers for their indifference to her plight.

Prosecuting Cuypers, lawyer John Craven told the court: "I understand that everybody on this train—from Bromley north to Cannon Street London—buries himself in his newspaper, every morning and every evening."

Pleading guilty to a charge of offensive behavior, the pincher, married and the father of four children, said: "It was completely out of character for me."

He was fined the equivalent of $56.70.

Thet Beulah wuz a big blow in more ways than one.

TODAY'S GRAIN PRICES

WINNIPEG (CP) — A moderate trade was concentrated in oilseeds on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange today.

Flax prices showed a firm undertone as reports of a lower flax acreage in Argentina this year stimulated some demand. There was evidence of overseas support.

Fairly active hedging sales appeared in rapeseed and flax and were well absorbed on the flax market. Rapeseed hedging sales and lower Chicago soybean prices contributed to easier prices in Winnipeg.

Oats and barley trade was light and connected with feed supply. Ships were loading at the lakehead as a result of a settlement in the Great Lakes shipping strike.

Rye prices were easier.

CHICAGO—Soyebans declined up to three cents on the Board of Trade, setting seasonal lows in every contract.

Corn futures, also under pressure of a huge U.S. production this year, also declined to new seasonal levels.

Also a big factor in the corn and soybean selloff was the harvest of the two commodities, now gaining momentum.

Wheat futures also were under selling pressure from the start. Oats and rye trade was light and prices were irregular.

Spending Policies 'Cause of Inflation'

OTTAWA (CP)—Much of the inflation in Canada has been created by the government's free-spending policies, the president of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association said today.

R. A. Engholm, president of Macotta Co. of Canada Ltd., Toronto, told the 50th annual convention of the National Dairy Council, that government spending is bound to grow to provide essential services in a growing country.

But a very real question "hangs over much other government expenditure which cannot be classed as essential."

In a keynote address at the opening of the council's three-day convention, Mr. Engholm warned that government spending was reducing the amount of money available for investment by private industry.

CITES SPENDING

Total spending by the three levels of government was steadily increasing, and has been outrunning the increase in national wealth. It should be remembered "it is the private forces in the economy which are the productive ones, in that they generate by far the greater part of new national wealth."

He welcomed the statement by the Economic Council of Canada that wage parity with the United States would be a long time coming.

"One earnestly hopes that organized labor can be made to understand this and to back away from some of the dangerously unrealistic wage demands that are being made on industry and other sectors of the economy at this time."

The investment in new machinery and techniques required to keep the economy expanding and to provide jobs for a growing labor force depends on adequate corporate profits, Mr. Engholm said.

Profit margins have begun to decline and economic growth rate would probably fall short of the Economic Councils target of 5½ per cent by 1½ per cent.

He praised the trade department's efforts to increase exports, but warned that the Kennedy round tariff cuts, while making it possible to sell more abroad, would also put greater pressure on the home market. There would be more need than ever to emphasize the Buy Canadian program.

It was of "vital importance" to the Canadian economy for both government and industry to place continued emphasis on exports.

Text of Mr. Engholm's address was released to the press in advance.

Kennedy Round Seminar Oct. 11

VANCOUVER (CP) — A regional trade seminar to study results of the recent Kennedy Round talks will be held here Oct. 11, the British Columbia Chamber of Commerce announced today.

The seminar has been organized by the federal government and the provincial government's department of industrial development, trade and commerce.

Trade Minister Winters and Ralph Loffmark, B.C. trade minister, will address the seminar.

Representatives from both the federal and provincial governments will participate in panel discussions and questions-and-answer sessions.

MARKET SUMMARIES

Mines Gain in Vancouver

Gains outnumbered losses on the mining section of the Vancouver Stock Exchange shortly before noon today.

Pine Point gained $1 to $52.50 since the close of trade Friday. Brenda put on 15 cents to $7.10 and Lornex advanced the same amount to $7.40.

Arctic increased six cents to $1.95. Dynasty dropped 10 cents to $7.35 and Silver Titan was off nine cents to $1.42.

In the industrials, Alcan put on 37 cents to $30.37.

IN NEW YORK the market maintained a strong balance in active trading. But prices had fallen below their best levels of the day.

The margin of advances among individual stocks over declines shrank to 7 to 5 from 2 to 1.

Motors, rubbers, aircrafts and oils advanced. Airlines, which had been generally ahead, turned mixed.

Du Pont's early gain of about 5 withered to about 3. General Motors advanced nearly 2 points.

Inco, a blue chip, gained a point among Canadians. Alcan was up ⅝, McIntyre ½ and Dome ¼. Granby lost 1¾, CP ⅝ and Hudson Bay ½.

IN TORONTO the market regained its composure in moderate mid-afternoon trading following a bout of profit taking.

The market was following the trend on the New York exchange.

Brokers say the market's recent strength reflects expected improved earnings for the last quarter of the year. They also say inflationary pressures are buoying prices.

Rockower moved up 2¼ to 11, Dominion Scottish 1¼ to 13¾, Alcan 1⅛ to 30¾ and Inco and Alberta Gas Trunk 1 each to 116¾ and 36¼.

Westcoast Transmission backed off 1¼ to 25 after the United States Federal Power Commission refused permission to El Paso Natural Gas to pay a higher price for gas it gets from Westcoast.

Profit takers trimmed uranium stocks as Denison fell 1¾ to 82¼ and Rio Algom ⅝ to 38½. Last week Denison an- 39. Last week Denison announced it had agreed to sell 21,000,000 pounds of the metal to a group of Japanese utilities. Rio said it agreed to the sale of 10,000,000 pounds to the same group.

D'Eldona fell 15 cents to 1.55 in speculative mines.

AT MONTREAL prices were mixed in moderate trading as the industrial sector balked fractional losses among banks, papers and utilities.

Alcan jumped ⅞ to 30 on trading of 8,510 shares. International Nickel held last week's three-point rise and advanced ¼ to 116¼, still reaching to news of higher nickel prices.

Denison Mines fell 1¼ points to 82¼ after soaring more than five points last week on confirmation of a 10-year contract to sell uranium to Japan. Analysts said today's dip was due to profit-taking.

Among western oils, Union dropped 1 points to 49.

Among speculative mines and oils on the Canadian market, United Asbestos jumped 25 cents to $8 and Consolidated Quebec Smelting gained several cents. James Bay declined seven cents to 70 cents on volume of 93,400 shares.

AT LONDON, current interest rate fears continued to depress British funds.

The falls recorded towards the end of last week were extended by 5-16 or more.

The strength of Friday's Canadian markets brought selective buying of Canadian dollar stocks. Inco jumped 8 points and Canadian Husky 4¼ points. Several other Canadians were easier, particularly Consolidated Paper and Brazilian.

'New Money' Proposal Studied

RIO DE JANEIRO (CP) — World finance leaders begin meeting today to pave the way for the creation of a new kind of money to support international trade.

The new money, devised by International Monetary Fund experts and approved by the 10 largest non-Communist industrial nations in London last month, will be used to supplement gold as a reserve for world commerce.

Approval of the Big Ten, who account for the bulk of world trade, would virtually assure endorsement by the other 96 IMF members, who are gathered here for the annual meeting of the fund's board of governors.

The new "money" is in the form of drawing rights to enable nations in balance-of-payments troubles to draw backing from the IMF in proportion to their participation in the fund.

Drawing rights are designed to cope with the need for extra reserves for world trade, which is normally backed by gold, the dollar and the British pound. Because world trade has been expanding faster than the gold, supply economists are worried about a possible trade slowdown.

Local Paddlers Win Gorge Race By Wide Margin

Two Victorians, leading by 100 yards, finished first in the centennial Gorge canoe race Saturday.

Ronald M. Steele, 27, 855 Ellery, and David R. Thompson, 29, 510 Sturdie, shared $100 in prize money awarded by the Greater Victoria Centennial Society.

Both are experienced paddlers.

They have made canoe trips down the Parsnip, the Peace and Thompson Rivers, as well as the Bowron Lakes — an area known for its scenic beauty and wildlife and reserved for canoeists only.

$60 FOR SECOND

Runner-up were Best Adams and John Adams of Campbell River, who received a $60 prize.

Third place was won by a canoe manned by Ross McRae and Bob Adams, also of Campbell River, while Frans Vanlakerveld and Vic Labelle of Vancouver, came fourth.

Hundreds of spectators lined the causeway to watch the start of the race which was followed by kayak races and an "open" boat event.

The bright-painted canoes—reds, whites, greys, greens, blues—presented a colorful scene as they bobbed up and down in the Inner Harbor.

Entries included several women and husband and wife teams.

The Sea Rangers had three canoes, two from Victoria and one from Vancouver.

Some girls did exceptionally well, out-distancing male entries.

ROVERS ONLY

What surprised many canoeists was the lack of entries from the Boy Scout Association. There was only one manned by rovers.

The weather was perfect for canoeing—a light wind—bright and sunny.

Spectators watched the races from vantage points all along the Gorge Inlet.

There was only one mishap. One canoe tipped near the Gorge Bridge.

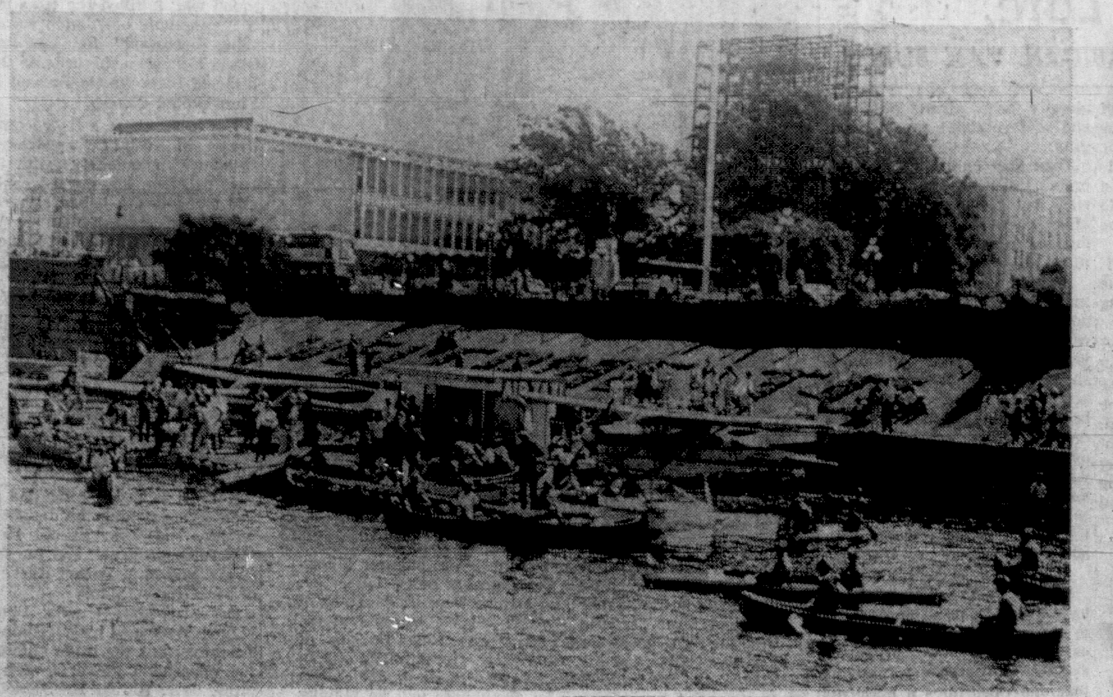
The swift incoming tidal waters under the Gorge Bridge provided some excitement for spectators who cheered and urged on the canoeists as they fought the strong current. For the paddlers on the last lap of the race, it was wearisome work and some just made it.

All in all—the race was a big success, the canoeists enjoying the fun as much as the spectators.

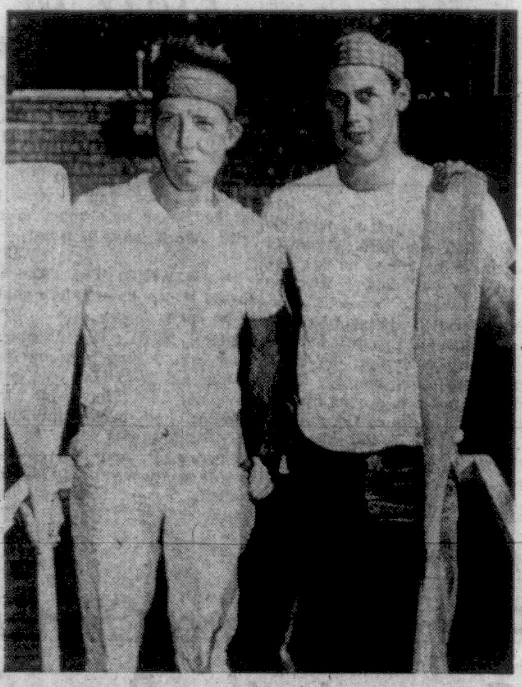
In the kayak single race, Christ Wilkins, 1149 Oliver, placed first; Anthony Wilkins, same address, second; and Ed Haines, 475 Head, third.

Kayaks (two-man), 1, Paula and Mark Pakenham, 1935 Ferndale; 2, Harry Gregson, 2169 Beach, and David Mawie, 2641 Orchard.

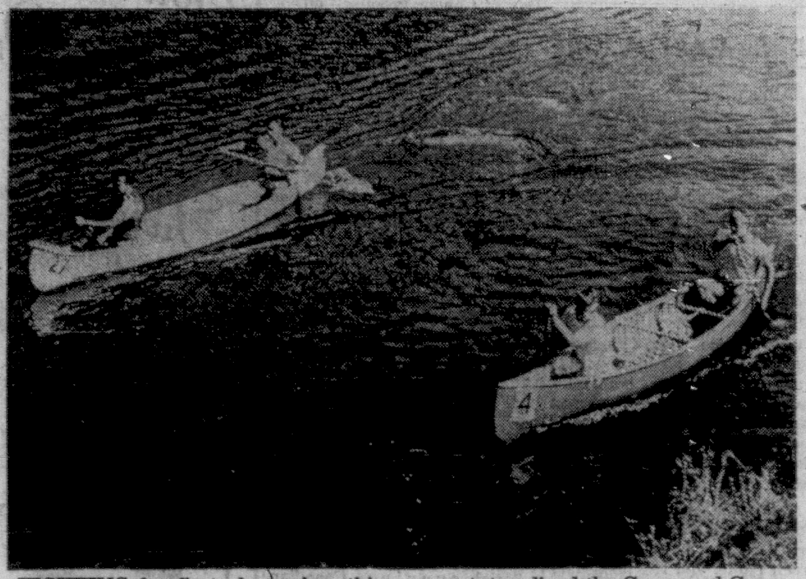
The open boat race was won by Richard Rodd and Kenneth Jones of Sidney, with a decorated dugout. Bert Clayton, 81-year-old prospector, rowing a 12-foot canoe, came second.



VICTORIA VOYAGEURS and their canoes crowded Inner Harbor Causeway Saturday in preparation for Centennial race through Gorge to Portage Inlet and back. Winners are shown in picture at right—



Dave Thomson, left, and Ron Steele, both veteran paddlers. Event recalled days of Gorge regattas and inspired participants to suggest race be held annually.



FIGHTING for first place when this picture was taken by Times photographer Irving Strickland, the canoemen at right soon extended their victory margin to 100 yards. Hundreds of spectators lined the Gorge and Causeway for the race. Boat at left finished in second place. It was paddled by Bert Adamas and John Adams, of Campbell River.

CANOE RACERS SAY:

Let's Do It Every Year

By HUMPHRY DAVY

Why not make the Gorge canoe race an annual event?

The question was put to officials of the Greater Victoria Centennial Society by paddlers at the completion of a nine-mile race from the Inner Harbor to Portage Inlet and back.

The canoeists, mainly from Vancouver Island, said the race would become one of Victoria's major sporting events of the year.

Victoria as a centre for provincial races, was supported by mainland canoeists.

One of the reasons why lower mainland crews preferred Victoria to Vancouver as a prospective site for races was because they considered the Gorge Inlet ideal for racing.

It was sheltered and was neither too wide nor too narrow.

Races could also be enjoyed by spectators from innumerable vantage points along the Gorge Waters.

But the main obstacle to making the Gorge races an annual event was the lack of a canoe club in Victoria to organize the event, they agreed.

"If a canoe club was formed and the race supported by the city, the event would attract hundreds of paddlers from all parts of the province," said Bert Adams of Campbell River.

Frans Vanlakerveld of Vancouver, said canoeing as a sport and form of recreation is making a big come-back in British Columbia.

Membership in Vancouver's Dogwood Canoe Club has increased from 10 to 50 in the past two years. At least four other clubs have been formed in the mainland city this year.

In the interior several clubs have also been formed.

The main objectives of the club is to promote canoeing as a form of outdoor recreation—not racing.

In the summer, week-long canoe trips on lakes and rivers are organized by various clubs.

Weekend outings are also popular, especially down-river excursions.

Oak Bay Race Shapes Up

Coun. Frances Elford will seek re-election to Oak Bay council in December but she is not interested in the reeveship "at the moment."

Reeve Allan L. Cox announced recently that he would not seek another term.

Last week Coun. Fred Hawes announced he would resign his seat in mid-term to contest the reeveship election.

Mrs. Elford said today that she might think of running for the chief council position in the future but not at present.

ANOTHER BID

She said that in addition to Coun. Hawes she expects another council member to seek the reeveship.

"If this is the case and I also was a contender, it would mean council would lose too many experienced people."

She was apparently referring to Coun. J. D. Watts who told the Times this morning that he was "actively considering it."

"It is a question of more than just giving it a lot of thought," he said. "I am making certain inquiries and asking a number of questions. I expect to make a decision one way or the other in the near future."

When They Say 'Don't Drive' Don't Do It

A mootrist who ignored a police officer's "roadside suspension" of his driver's licence was fined $150 in magistrate's court today.

Robert Fiddler, 21, of 1741 Duchess, pleaded guilty to driving while his licence was under suspension.

Court was told police officers suspended his licence early Sunday morning on Pandora Ave.

The accused was told to lock his car and leave it. Three minutes later, he returned to the car and drove off.

Police stopped him a second time and arrested him.

Magistrate Ostler commented people must realize roadside suspensions are "as valid as any other suspension."

Compensation Board Holds New Inquiry

The Workmen's Compensation Board of B.C. will investigate the death earlier this month of a welder in a barge fire at Yarrows shipyard.

A spokesman for the board said today the safety division will study the coroner's jury report and investigate the death on its own behalf.

Steve Williams, 24, died in the fire which caused an estimated $350,000 damage to the barge.

The coroner's jury ruled the death was due to negligence on the part of Yarrows. It recommended that in future all safety regulations be strictly inforced by the shipyard.

A company superintendent testified he was aware welding and fitting had not been completed when spraying of flammable insulation started.

Local shipyard unions earlier sent a telegram to the Workmen's Compensation Board protesting the delay of its inspector in arriving at the accident scene and demanded an inquiry into his attitude and actions.

The unions also protested safety conditions and hired a lawyer to be present at the inquest.

Nine Cars In Crashes

Nine cars involved in three separate collisions at the same time disrupted heavy traffic on the Trans-Canada Highway Sunday.

About 5 p.m., Colwood RCMP were asked to attend a three-car accident at Hamilton Road on the Trans-Canada. On the way, they heard of a second three-car accident one half mile north of the first, and then a third three-car accident at the Thetis Lake overpass.

All three accidents were chain reaction rear-end collisions. Damage was moderate, but there were no serious injuries.

Three wrecking trucks were needed, and the Saanich police were called to assist the RCMP.

Litterbug Habits Thing of Past

The British Columbia ferry fleet plans to end dumping garbage outside B.C. harbors, Monty Aldous, chairman of the government-owned service, said Sunday.

He was replying to Vancouver Harbormaster Capt. Roy Holland who said last week that ships are dumping wastes where harbor pollution laws do not apply and that the B.C. Ferry Authority was one of the culprits.

"It has been true and probably is to some degree still," Mr. Aldous said, "but we have a program under way which will completely eliminate dumping garbage (at sea)."

Stolen Foods Cost Man $150

Patrick Coyle, 48, of 690 Wilson Street, was fined $150 in magistrate's court this morning for shoplifting.

Coyle pleaded guilty to taking $15 worth of groceries from Eaton's Saturday afternoon.

He told the court he went out on to Government Street to look for his wife and "didn't intend to steal" the goods.

CONVENTION ENDS

UBCM Parley Bittersweet For Mayor

By AB KENT

Mayor Hugh Stephen reacted with enthusiasm and disappointment today to the Union of B.C. Municipalities convention at Prince George.

He was enthused about accomplishments of delegates recommending improvements to Municipal Act legislation, and especially with the performance of Victoria aldermen.

But the mayor was disappointed that the convention failed to come to grips with perhaps the most vexing of municipal problems — mounting responsibilities without the economic means to fulfil them.

Mayor Stephen said he still supports the idea of a UBCM-appointed commissioner to look into municipal obligations and financial relationships with the provincial government, even though the government has refused to set up a royal commission for the purpose.

CAN'T AGREE

The UBCM executive, the mayor noted, thinks such a study should be done with the co-operation of the provincial government. He cannot agree with this concept.

"What would the province say if we suggested our city manager be a member of the commission?" he asked.

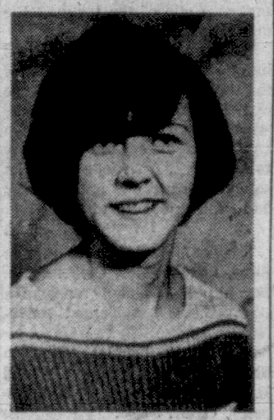
Although it is a "dead issue" for now, "If it is still turned down by the government before next year's convention, I'll bring the same resolution up again," the mayor said.

The commissioner needs to be a man of the stature of Carl Goldenberg, internationally recognized authority on labor-management relations and government financing, the mayor said.

It is 21 years since Goldenberg last made such a study. "I think it's time he did one again."

The government of B.C. has done a good job of providing the organizational means of dealing with difficulties such as hospital costs and other area problems, Mayor Stephen said citing the regional board concept.

But the municipalities are still frustarted by not having the economic means to solve these problems.



HAVE YOU SEEN THIS GIRL? If you have, her parents would like to hear from you. She is Rianne Denluck, 15, of 834 Devonshire Road, missing since Sept. 8. Rianne is 5'7", weights 125 pounds, and has short dark hair. She has been keeping company with hippies and it is believed she may have headed for Vancouver. Anyone with information should contact Esquimalt police or her parents at 385-6992.

Passengers Hurt

A collision at Richmond and Richardson Saturday afternoon sent two people to hospital for emergency treatment.

A car driven by Bertrand Luckovich, 59, of Cobble Hill, was travelling north on Richmond when it collided with a car moving east on Richardson driven by Michael Stirling, 17, of 1662 St. Francis Wood.

Passengers Nancy and Lois Luckovich were released after treatment at Jubilee Hospital.

PHONE A-G

Exhaust Filter Wanted

If anyone invents a device to filter poisons out of car exhausts, tell Attorney-General Robert Bonner.

He said in interview today the provincial government would be interested in legislation for motor vehicle exhaust control.

But so far he doesn't know of any attachment or engine refinement which will effectively do the job.

"A number of experimental devices are on the market, but there is mixed scientific opinion about their effectiveness," said Mr. Bonner.

He said the B.C. Pollution Control Board and the Motor Vehicles Branch both are studying the problem as part of the provincial campaign for cleaner air.

The A-G indicated the search for more information may extend to Los Angeles and Ontario because these areas are both attempting exhaust controls.

The ultimate invention he agreed would be something inexpensive which could be attached to all trucks and cars.

Ferrymen Set To Call Strike

Checkoff Refusal Said Discrimination

By ROGER STONEBANKS
Times Labor Reporter

The possibility of a work stoppage on B.C. Ferries is "imminent", a Canadian Labour Congress official said today.

Tom Godderham, CLC regional director of organization, said the B.C. government has refused dues checkoff in the amount requested by the B.C. Ferry Employees' Union.

"Unlicensed personnel are determined not to be treated this way by the government and are prepared to take whatever action is necessary to win proper recognition," he said.

"The action of the government in refusing to allow payroll deduction of the amount requested is considered by the ferry employees as discrimination agains their organization.

"The CLC has asked the government to reconsider its decision and comply with the employees request to have payroll deductions made in the amounts signed for by each employee on authorization cards.

"The unlicensed ferry employees 1½ years ago came close to taking strike action against the ferry authority and there were some isolated cases of employees walking off the job in their attempt to have the government recognize their organization.

"However, the government's latest action is definitely a refusal to recognize the ferry employees union, therefore action which may be taken will be for recognition and a proper bargaining procedure.

"Talks betwen the ferry authority and representatives of unlicensed personnel are slated for Wednesday and Thursday and it is hoped the government will reconsider its position and recognize the ferry employees rights of association."

Provincial Secretary Wesley Black, the responsible minister in civil service matters, was in his office this morning but did not reply to a newspaper message for comment.

Mr. Gooderham said the B.C. Ferry Employees' Union set its dues at $3 to $4 a month, depending on individual earnings, but the government has stated it will only deduct $2 a month.

STRENGTH BUILDING

For the first time, he disclosed that both this union and the Canadian Merchant Service Guild — which represents ferry masters, mates and engineers — have recently completed negotiations with a third union, the B.C. Government Employees' Association, which has a dues level of $2 a month.

Several months ago, the government re established checkoff of union dues for the association. The checkoff was revoked seven years ago in another dispute.

He said the higher dues rate for the unlicensed personnel was because of additional costs of operation by the branches doing their own servicing, administration and affiliation costs to the government employees' association.

The association once represented ferry employees, but they expressed dissatisfaction. The unlicensed personnel formed their own union and the officers joined the Guild. Later the association was successful in laying a charge of raiding its membership against the Guild, a fellow CLC union.

Mr. Gooderham said both unions now are branches of the association but have their own administrative autonomy on all matters to do with the marine industry.

MEETINGS HELD

Meetings have been held recently involving both unions, the Victoria Labour Council and the B.C. Federation of Labour.

Government employees, as civil servants, do not have the collective bargaining rights available to other workers under the Labour Relations Act.

Last September, 250 ferry officers called off a mass resignation when the government agreed the Canadian Marchant Service Guild could assist the officers in negotiations.

Earlier this year the officers requested arbitration of outstanding differences under the terms of the Civil Service Act but received no action from the government.

In June of last year, more than 500 deck, catering and shore workers called off a strike and said agreement was reached with the ferry authority for "guaranteed recognition."

Neither settlement included full collective bargaining rights because the Labor Relations Act does not apply to government workers.

A. In all three services there are at present 14,200 service personnel stationed outside Canada.

Many Fractures In Bus Crash

A 22-year-old motorcyclist was rushed to Royal Jubilee Hospital at noon today after his machine collided with a B.C. Hydro bus in Esquimalt.

Peter Talas of Work Point Barracks was riding west on Lyall Street when he hit the bus as it turned off Lyall onto Gore Street.

He suffered a broken ankle and kneecap, several fractures of his right hand and abrasions.

Breakfast Ceremony Opens Chest Drive

Mayor Hugh Stephen Tuesday will proclaim October and November United Red Feather-Red Cross Appeal months. A breakfast ceremony will officially start the $600,000 campaign.

He will also present certificates to a number of division chairmen who, due to an early start in canvassing, have already achieved this year's objectives.

About 200 people are expected to be at the Old Forge at 8 a.m. Tuesday for the breakfast.

These will include division chairmen and award winners from last year who have already received certificates.

Chairman at the breakfast will be Mrs. Phoebe Noble, information committee chairman. Speaker will be campaign chairman G. F. Auchinleck.

For the first time this year the Red Cross is part of the Red Feather organization and this group's inclusion plus new membership for the Alano Club and the Handicapped Children's Clinic has increased this year's target by one-third over the 1966 total of $450,000.

Andy Stephen Looks at TV

BITS 'N' PIECES: The husband of Princess Margaret, Lord Snowdon, is completing work on a documentary he is filming in Europe for U.S. television.

The documentary, a film essay on aging, will be aired on CBS-TV, probably later this season. Lord Snowdon's reputation was made as a still photographeer but he was persuaded by CBS News executive producer Don Hewitt to try his hand producer don Hewitt to try his hand at motion pictures.

Stephen

Whether you've noticed or not, Elvis Presley, who hasn't done anything on television for many years, is making the scene with his oldie movies. All three American networks are featuring the hip-gyrating, guitar-plucking singer over the next couple of weeks.

NBC-TV has already played "Fun in Acapulco," and has "Girls, Girls, Girls" set for Oct. 10. Over at ABC-TV, "Paradise, Hawaiian Style" is being shown while CBS-TV has "Viva Las Vegas" on its Friday night movie scheduled Oct. 6.

Jerry Lewis, who has his own hour on NBC, is also being shown around the networks via the movie route. "CinderFella" and "Errand Boy" are two films slotted.

The reason is simple. Both Presley and Lewis are great audience grabbers. The ratings look good after their movies have been shown.

Hockey Night In Canada returns to CBC-TV Saturday, Oct. 14, with Chicago at Toronto. This year, the colorcasts will give Canadian hockey fans a look at the games involving expansion teams.

Don't look for a change in the major ABC-TV newscast slot for a while yet. Ottawa-born Peter Jennings, 29, who became anchorman of the evening news TV show wants out but the network has no one to replace him..

Reports have been rampant that Jennings wants to get out from behind the desk and into the field.

Local Paddlers Win Gorge Race By Wide Margin

Two Victorians, leading by 100 yards, finished first in the centennial Gorge canoe race Saturday.

Ronald M. Steele, 27, 855 Ellery, and David R. Thompson, 29, 510 Sturdie, shared $100 in prize money awarded by the Greater Victoria Centennial Society.

Both are experienced paddlers.

They have made canoe trips down the Parsnip, the Peace and Thompson Rivers, as well as the Bowron Lakes — an area known for its scenic beauty and wildlife and reserved for canoeists only.

$60 FOR SECOND

Runners-up were Bert Adamas and John Adams of Campbell River, who received a $60 prize.

Third place was won by a canoe manned by Ross McRae and Bob Adams, also of Campbell River, while Frans Vanlakerveld and Vic Labelle of Vancouver, came fourth.

Hundreds of spectators lined the causeway to watch the start of the race which was followed by kayak races and an "open" boat event.

The bright-painted canoes—reds, whites, greys, greens, blues—presented a colorful scene as they bobbed up and down in the Inner Harbor.

Entries included several women and husband and wife teams.

The Sea Rangers had three canoes, two from Victoria and one from Vancouver.

Some girls did exceptionally well, out-distancing male entries.

ROVERS ONLY

What surprised many canoeists was the lack of entries from the Boy Scout Association. There was only one manned by rovers.

The weather was perfect for canoeing—a light wind—bright and sunny.

Spectators watched the races from vantage points all along the Gorge Inlet.

There was only one mishap. One canoe tipped near the Gorge Bridge.

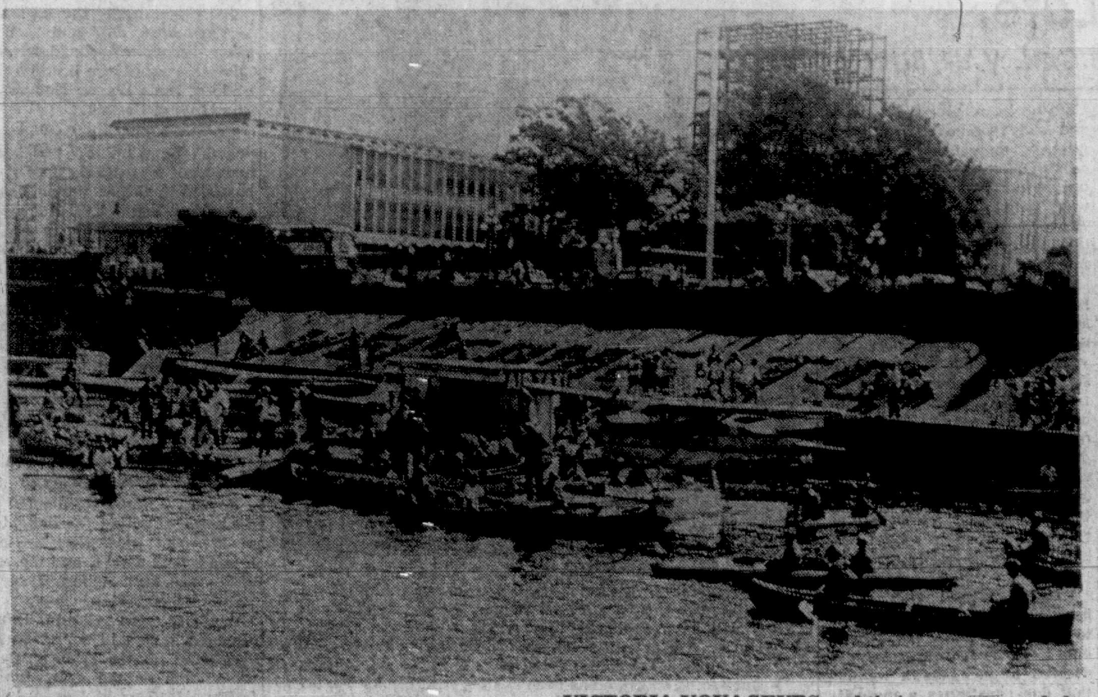
The swift incoming tidal waters under the Gorge Bridge provided some excitement for spectators who cheered and urged on the canoeists as they fought the strong current. For the paddlers on the last lap of the race, it was wearisome work and some just made it.

All in all—the race was a big success, the canoeists enjoying the fun as much as the spectators.

In the kayak single race, Christ Wilkins, 1149 Oliver, placed first; Anthony Wilkins, same address, second; and Ed Haines, 475 Head, third.

Kayaks (two-man), 1, Paula and Mark Pakenham. 1935 Ferndale; 2, Harry Gregson, 2169 Beach, and David Mawie, 2641 Orchard.

The open boat race was won by Richard Rodd and Kenneth Jones of Sidney, with a decorated dugout. Bert Clayton, 81-year-old prospector, rowing a 12-foot canoe, came second.



VICTORIA VOYAGEURS and their canoes crowded Inner Harbor Causeway Saturday in preparation for Centennial race through Gorge to Portage Inlet and back. Winners are shown in picture at right—

FIGHTING for first place when this picture was taken by Times photographer Irving Strickland, the canoemen at right soon extended their victory margin to 100 yards. Hundreds of spectators lined the Gorge and Causeway for the race. Boat at left finished in second place. It was paddled by Bert Adamas and John Adams, of Campbell River.

CANOE RACERS SAY:

Let's Do It Every Year

By HUMPHRY DAVY

Why not make the Gorge canoe race an annual event?

The question was put to officials of the Greater Victoria Centennial Society by paddlers at the completion of a nine-mile race from the Inner Harbor to Portage Inlet and back.

The canoeists, mainly from Vancouver Island, said the race would become one of Victoria's major sporting events of the year.

Victoria as a centre for provincial races, was supported by mainland canoeists.

One of the reasons why lower mainland crews preferred Victoria to Vancouver as a prospective site for races was because they considered the Gorge Inlet ideal for racing.

It was sheltered and was neither too wide nor too narrow.

Races could also be enjoyed by spectators from innumerable vantage points along the Gorge Waters.

But the main obstacle to making the Gorge races an annual event was the lack of a canoe club in Victoria to organize the event, they agreed.

"If a canoe club was formed and the race supported by the city, the event would attract hundreds of paddlers from all parts of the province," said Bert Adams of Campbell River.

Frans Vanlakerveld of Vancouver, said canoeing as a sport and form of recreation is making a big come-back in British Columbia.

Membership in Vancouver's Dogwood Canoe Club has increased from 10 to 50 in the past two years. At least four other clubs have been formed in the mainland city this year.

In the interior several clubs have also been formed.

The main objectives of the club is to promote canoeing as a form of outdoor recreation—not racing.

In the summer, week-long canoe trips on lakes and rivers are organized by various clubs.'

Weekend outings are also popular, especially down-river excursions.

Oak Bay Race Shapes Up

Coun. Frances Elford will seek re-election to Oak Bay council in December but she is not interested in the reeveship "at the moment."

Reeve Allan L. Cox announced recently that he would not seek another term.

Last week Coun. Fred Hawes announced he would resign his seat in mid-term to contest the reeveship election.

Mrs. Elford said today that she might think of running for the chief council position in the future but not at present.

ANOTHER BID

She said that in addition to Coun. Hawes she expects another council member to seek the reeveship.

"If this is the case and I also was a contender, it would mean council would lose too many experienced people."

She was apparently referring to Coun. J. D. Watts who told the Times this morning that he was "actively considering it."

"It is a question of more than just giving it a lot of thought," he said. "I am making certain inquiries and asking a number of questions. I expect to make a decision one way or the other in the near future."

When They Say 'Don't Drive' Don't Do It

A motorist who ignored a police officer's "roadside suspension" of his driver's licence was fined $150 in magistrate's court today.

Robert Fiddler, 21, of 1741 Duchess, pleaded guilty to driving while his licence was under suspension.

Court was told police officers suspended his licence early Sunday morning on Pandora Ave.

The accused was told to lock his car and leave it. Three minutes later, he returned to the car and drove off.

Police stopped him a second time and arrested him.

Magistrate Ostler commented people must realize roadside suspensions are "as valid as any other suspension."

Compensation Board Holds New Inquiry

The Workmen's Compensation Board of B.C. will investigate the death earlier this month of a welder in a barge fire at Yarrows shipyard.

A spokesman for the board said today the safety division will study the coroner's jury report and investigate the death on its own behalf.

Steve Williams, 24, died in the fire which caused an estimated $350,000 damage to the barge.

The coroner's jury ruled the death was due to negligence on the part of Yarrows. It recommended that in future all safety regulations be strictly inforced by the shipyard.

A company superintendent testified he was aware welding and fitting had not been completed when spraying of flammable insulation started.

Local shipyard unions earlier sent a telegram to the Workmen's Compensation Board protesting the delay of its inspector in arriving at the accident scene and demanded an inquiry into his attitude and actions.

The unions also protested safety conditions and hired a lawyer to be present at the inquest.

Nine Cars In Crashes

Nine cars involved in three separate collisions at the same time disrupted heavy traffic on the Trans-Canada Highway Sunday.

About 5 p.m., Colwood RCMP were asked to attend a three-car accident at Hamilton Road on the Trans-Canada. On the way, they heard of a second three-car accident one half mile north of the first, and then a third three-car accident at the Thetis Lake overpass.

All three accidents were chain reaction rear - end collisions. Damage was moderate, but there were no serious injuries.

Three wrecking trucks were needed, and the Saanich police were called to assist the RCMP.

Litterbug Habits Thing of Past

The British Columbia ferry fleet plans to end dumping garbage outside B.C. harbors, Monty Aldous, chairman of the government-owned service, said Sunday.

He was replying to Vancouver Harbormaster Capt. Roy Holland who said last week that ships are dumping wastes where harbor pollution laws do not apply and that the B.C. Ferry Authority was one of the culprits.

"It has been true and probably is to some degree still," Mr. Aldous said, "but we have a program under way which will completely eliminate dumping garbage (at sea)."

Stolen Foods Cost Man $150

Patrick Coyle, 48, of 690 Wilson Street, was fined $150 in magistrate's court this morning for shoplifting.

Coyle pleaded guilty to taking $15 worth of groceries from Eaton's Saturday afternoon.

He told the court he went out on to Government Street to look for his wife and "didn't intend to steal" the goods.

CONVENTION ENDS

UBCM Parley Bittersweet For Mayor

By AB KENT

Mayor Hugh Stephen reacted with enthusiasm and disappointment today to the Union of B.C. Municipalities convention at Prince George.

He was enthused about accomplishments of delegates recommending improvements to Municipal Act legislation, and especially with the performance of Victoria aldermen.

But the mayor was disappointed that the convention failed to come to grips with perhaps the most vexing of municipal problems — mounting responsibilities without the economic means to fulfil them.

Mayor Stephen said he still supports the idea of a UBCM-appointed commissioner to look into municipal obligations and financial relationships with the provincial government, even though the government has refused to set up a royal commission for the purpose.

CAN'T AGREE

The UBCM executive, the mayor noted, thinks such a study should be done with the co-operation of the provincial government. He cannot agree with this concept.

"What would the province say if we suggested our city manager be a member of the commission?" he asked.

Although it is a "dead issue" for now, "If it is still turned down by the government before next year's convention, I'll bring the same resolution up again," the mayor said.

The commissioner needs to be a man of the stature of Carl Goldenberg, internationally recognized authority on labor-management relations and government financing, the mayor said.

It is 21 years since Goldenberg last made such a study. "I think it's time he did one again."

The government of B.C. has done a good job of providing the organizational means of dealing with difficulties such as hospital costs and other area problems, Mayor Stephen said citing the regional board concept.

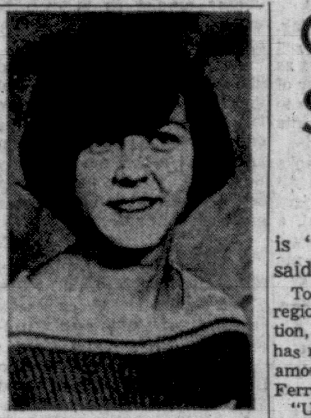
But the municipalities are still frustrated by not having the economic means to solve these problems.

Passengers Hurt

A collision at Richmond and Richardson Saturday afternoon sent two people to hospital for emergency treatment.

A car driven by Bertrand Luckovich, 59, of Cobble Hill, was travelling north on Richmond when it collided with a car moving east on Richardson driven by Michael Stirling, 17, of 1662 St. Francis Wood.

Passengers Nancy and Lois Luckovich were released after treatment at Jubilee Hospital.



HAVE YOU SEEN THIS GIRL? If you have, her parents would like to hear from you. She is Rianne Denluck, 15, of 834 Devonshire Road, missing since Sept. 8. Rianne is 5'7", weights 125 pounds, and has short dark hair. She has been keeping company with hippies and it is believed she may have headed for Vancouver. Anyone with information should contact Esquimalt police or her parents at 385-6992.

PHONE A-G

Exhaust Filter Wanted

If anyone invents a device to filter poisons out of car exhausts, tell Attorney-General Robert Bonner.

He said in interview today the provincial government would be interested in legislation for motor vehicle exhaust control.

But so far he doesn't know of any attachment or engine refinement which will effectively do the job.

"A number of experimental devices are on the market, but there is mixed scientific opinion about their effectiveness," said Mr. Bonner.

He said the B.C. Pollution Control Board and the Motor Vehicles Branch both are studying the problem as part of the provincial campaign for cleaner air.

The A-G indicated the search for more information may extend to Los Angeles and Ontario because these areas are both attempting exhaust controls.

The ultimate invention he agreed would be something inexpensive which could be attached to all trucks and cars.

Ferrymen Set To Call Strike

Checkoff Refusal Said Discrimination

By ROGER STONEBANKS
Times Labor Reporter

The possibility of a work stoppage on B.C. Ferries is "imminent", a Canadian Labour Congress official said today.

Tom Gooderham, CLC regional director of organization, said the B.C. government has refused dues checkoff in the amount requested by the B.C. Ferry Employees' Union.

"Unlicensed personnel are determined not to be treated this way by the government and are prepared to take whatever action is necessary to win proper recognition," he said.

"The action of the government in refusing to allow payroll deduction of the amount requested is considered by the ferry employees as discrimination against their organization.

"The CLC has asked the government to reconsider its decision and comply with the employees request to have payroll deductions made in the amounts signed for by each employee on authorization cards.

"The unlicensed ferry employees 1½ years ago came close to taking strike action against the ferry authority and there were some isolated cases of employees walking off the job in their attempt to have the government recognize their organization.

"However, the government's latest action is definitely a refusal to recognize the ferry employees union, therefore action which may be taken will be for recognition and a proper bargaining procedure.

"Talks betwen the ferry authority and representatives of unlicensed personnel are slated for Wednesday and Thursday and it is hoped the government will reconsider its position and recognize the ferry employees rights of association."

Provincial Secretary Wesley Black, the responsible minister in civil service matters, was in his office this morning but did not reply to a newspaper message for comment.

Mr. Gooderham said the B.C. Ferry Employees' Union set its dues at $3 to $4 a month, depending on individual earnings, but the government has stated it will only deduct $2 a month.

STRENGTH BUILDING

For the first time, he disclosed that both this union and the Canadian Merchant Service Guild — which represents ferry masters, mates and engineers — have recently completed negotiations with a third union, the B.C. Government Employees' Association, which has a dues level of $2 a month.

Several months ago, the government re established checkoff of union dues for the association. The checkoff was revoked seven years ago in another dispute.

He said the higher dues rate for the unlicensed personnel was because of additional costs of operation by the branches doing their own servicing, administration and affiliation costs to the government employees' association.

The association once represented ferry employees, but they expressed dissatisfaction. The unlicensed personnel formed their own union and the officers joined the Guild. Later the association was successful in laying a charge of raiding its membership against the Guild, a fellow CLC union.

Mr. Gooderham said both unions now are branches of the association but have their own administrative autonomy on all matters to do with the marine industry.

MEETINGS HELD

Meetings have been held recently involving both unions, the Victoria Labour Council and the B.C. Federation of Labour.

Government employees, as civil servants, do not have the collective bargaining rights available to other workers under the Labour Relations Act.

Last September, 250 ferry officers called off a mass resignation when the government agreed the Canadian Marchant Service Guild could assist the officers in negotiations.

Earlier this year the officers requested arbitration of outstanding differences under the terms of the Civil Service Act but received no action from the government.

In June of last year, more than 500 deck, catering and shore workers called off a strike and said agreement was reached with the ferry authority for "guaranteed recognition."

Neither settlement included full collective bargaining rights because the Labor Relations Act does not apply to government workers.

Many Fractures In Bus Crash

A 22-year-old motorcyclist was rushed to Royal Jubilee Hospital at noon today after his machine collided with a B.C. Hydro bus in Esquimalt.

Peter Talas of Work Point Barracks was riding west on Lyall Street when he hit the bus as it turned off Lyall onto Gore Street.

He suffered a broken ankle and kneecap, several fractures of his right hand and abrasions.

Q. How many military men has Canada stationed outside her borders? K.C.

A. In all three services there are at present 14,200 service personnel stationed outside Canada.

Breakfast Ceremony Opens Chest Drive

Mayor Hugh Stephen Tuesday will proclaim October and November United Red Feather-Red Cross Appeal months. A breakfast ceremony will officially start the $600,000 campaign.

He will also present certificates to a number of division chairmen who, due to an early start in canvassing, have already achieved this year's objectives.

About 200 people are expected to be at the Old Forge at 8 a.m. Tuesday for the breakfast.

These will include division chairmen and award winners from last year who have already received certificates.

Chairman at the breakfast will be Mrs. Phoebe Noble, information committee chairman. Speaker will be campaign chairman G. F. Auchinleck.

For the first time this year the Red Cross is part of the Red Feather organization and this group's inclusion plus new membership for the Alano Club and the Handicapped Children's Clinic has increased this year's target by one-third over the 1966 total of $450,000.

Newlyweds Now Live in Nanaimo Following Trip to the Interior

Following their wedding in St. Martin-in-the-Fields Mr. and Mrs. Michael Henry Temple Fall left on a honeymoon trip through the interior of the province to Prince George and Dawson Creek. The newlyweds are now making their home in Nanaimo.

The bride, the former Maureen Margaret Fanthorpe, chose a gown of peau de soie topped with a jacket of Swiss floral lace which was fastened with tiny crystal buttons from her mother's wedding gown. Deep inverted pleats enhanced the full skirt of the gown, complemented by her train which was trimmed with appliques of similar lace and swept back from the waistline. Her headpiece of self-fabric flowers held a veil trimmed with matching appliques of lace. She carried a crescent bouquet of white glamelias and ivy.

Parents of the principals are Mr. and Mrs. H. A. L. Fanthorpe, 2934 Cedar Hill Road, and Group Capt. and Mrs. J. S. T. Fall of Cobble Hill.

Baskets of white gladioli decorated the church for the service. The organist, Cmdr. P. F. Fairfull, played Lohengren's "Wedding March" as the processional, and "Wedding March" by Mendelssohn as the wedding party left the church.

Miss Lynne Fanthorpe was maid of honor for her sister and Miss Clare Holmes and Miss Diane Saville were bridesmaids. They wore matching gowns of green satin, encaged in lime green silk chiffon and complemented by organdy headpieces holding short bouffant toning veils. They carried bouquets of yellow chrysanthemums and ivy.

Jeremy Fall acted as best man for his brother. Stu Fall, the groom's brother, and Ron Stubbings ushered the guests.

At the reception following in the War Amputations Hall, a tiered wedding cake centred the head table, which was decorated with arrangements of white daisies. Geoff Venables provided music for dancing and J. W. Groves proposed the toast to the bride.

For travellling, the new Mrs. Fall chose a lemon yellow two-piece linen suit with a yellow paisley blouse which she accented with navy blue accessories. A gardenia corsage completed the ensemble.

A New You

by Emily Wilkens

As honey has long been one of my favorite subjects, I thought I'd like to pass along some sweet suggestions about using it for outside, as well as inside, beauty.

Honey, a wonderfully romantic food, dates back to Biblical times. There are many varieties. Each has a different taste, depending on the particular blossoms upon which the bees have dined. The best honeys are unadulterated with cane sugar or corn syrup and are labelled "organic" or "raw."

Honey is effectively used in all kinds of home-made beauty concoctions. Why not discover some delightful possibilities. Do try the recipes which follow. Many of these ingredients can be purchased at a drug store.

Honey Hand Lotion

Add ¼ c. glycerine, ½ tsp. cider vinegar.

To a mixture of ¾ c. rose water, ½ tsp. honey.

Mix in a glass bottle. Apply after washing hands.

Many refreshing, revivifying masks may be made with honey. Experiment to find the one which works best for your particular type of skin.

These rules apply for all the following masks: After cleansing your face, smooth a thin film of odorless castor oil or your favorite cream under the eyes and on the neck (if it seems dry). Then apply the mask with firm, upward strokes, avoiding the area around the eyes. Leave on face and neck for 10 to 15 minutes. Remove the mask with warm, followed by cool, water. Finish with astringent.

To derive the most benefit from the treatment, recline in a "feet higher than head" (beauty angle) position.

Honey Dry Skin Mask
(SOS for Dryness)

Mix 1 fresh egg yolk, 1 tbsp. dry skim milk powder, about 1½ tbsp. fresh milk (mixture should be creamy).

Add ½ tsp. honey.

Beat to mayonnaise-like consistency.

Honey Bracer Mask
(For Whisking Away Fatigue Lines)

Mix 1 fresh egg white, 1 tbsp. dry skim milk powder, 1 tsp. honey.

Honey Blossom Masks
(For a Beautifying Bloom)

Mix 2 oz. honey, 1 c. milk, or Liquify 1 oz. honey, ½ oz. rose water, 1 oz. blanched almonds.

Honey Astringent Face Lotion
(Quick Refresher)

In a wide-mouthed glass bottle, mix ¼ c. witch hazel, ¾ c. rose water, ½ tsp. white vinegar, ¼ tsp. glycerine, ½ tsp. spirit of camphor, ½ tsp. honey, pinch of alum.

Shake well. Use on cotton pads for refreshing your skin.

Honey is wonderful for "inside" beauty care, too. Use it as a substitute for sugar in coffee, tea and salad dressings.

For a deliciously healthful fruit salad dip, mix 1-3 c. honey with 2-3 c. apple, pineapple or grape juice.

For a skin-beautifying, delicious drink, try soy milk (comes canned), plus 1 tsp. honey and a few drops of vanilla extract. Serve well chilled.

Why not plan right now to make the "NEW YOU" a honey of a beauty?

Just for You

Believe it or not, chewing honey comb until it becomes a ball of wax may very well help clear sinuses. Many swear by it!

DUECK-CHAPMAN

Daughter of Local Couple Wed in Mainland Chapel

Following a honeymoon on Vancouver Island, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Dueck will live in New Westminster.

Rev. Handy officiated at the candlelight service in the Trinity Junior College Chapel, Langley, uniting Marnie Joyce Chapman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Marshall, 1010 Hampshire Road, Victoria, and Peter Allen Dueck, son of Rev. and Mr. J. P. Dueck of Steinback, Man.

White, gold and bronze chrysanthemums decorated the church for the service. Music was provided by organist Mrs. S. Freisen.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of white silk lace fashioned on classical lines. Three bands of Guipure lace bordered the skirt which swept back in a full cathedral train. She carried a bouquet of cream and bronze chrysanthemums.

The bride's only attendant Miss Adele Evans, wore a deep yellow gown fashioned on empire lines with a cowl neckline and matching headpiece. White and bronze chrysanthemums formed her bouquet.

Arnie Friesen was best man and ushering the guests to the pews marked with white heather in satin ribbon bows were Sam Friesen and Henry Dueck, the groom's brother.

The bride's godfather, G. C. Bastedo, proposed the toast to her happiness at the reception following in the chapel wings.

For travelling on honeymoon, the bride chose a gold Austrian import double-knit suit with antelope fronts, which she accented with a Stella original hat in brown crushed velvet and brown accessories.

Outdoor Beauty

That lovely fair complexion of yours was never meant to stand up to the harsh summer weather. Be kind to it, see that it is well protected when you're golfing, lazing on the beach, or anywhere in the great outdoors. Wear a wide, shady hat and sunglasses — this will keep you from squinting your eyes. Before you venture out smooth on your oil of Olay before making-up, and don't forget your neck. Your skin will maintain a milky look despite the drying effect of the summer.

Emergency Debate On Housing Rejected

OTTAWA (CP) — A quick Conservative bid for an emergency debate on housing was ruled out of order in the Commons today as MPs returned to business after a summer recess.

George Chatterton (PC — Esquimalt-Saanich) asked for the regular business of the House to be set aside so MPs could discuss the "deepening of the grave crisis" in housing.

Mr. Chatterton said the housing shortage and the increase in housing costs have reached catastrophic proportions." There had been no move by the government to solve or ease the situation.

Quebec Problem Seen Major Commons Issue

Future Queen of Denmark Visiting Here Two Days

Princess Margrethe, future queen of Denmark, and her husband, Prince Henrik, were due to arrive at Victoria International Airport at 2:25 this afternoon.

The royal couple will be guests of Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. George Pearkes at Government House during their two-day visit.

Talented and vivacious, the 27-year-old princess is visiting Victoria as part of a royal visit to Expo 67 and Western Canada.

A keen archaeologist, she is also a scholar in philosophy and political scence. Her family is the oldest royal line in Europe, descending from the Viking, Gorm the Old, who died about 950 AD.

The princess and her husband were married at Copenhagen last June. Prince Henrik was formerly Count Henri de Laborde de Monpezet, a French diplomat.

The royal couple were to be greeted at the airport this afternoon by Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. Pearkes and Attorney-General and Mrs. Robert Bonner.

At 10 a.m. Tuesday, the couple will drive to the Legislative Buildings along Rockland to Vancouver, Vancouver to Burdette and Humboldt and along Government to Belleville.

At 10:25 a.m., they leave for the City Hall via Belleville, Douglas and Pandora. At 11 a.m. they return to Government House by way of Pandora, Government, Fisgard, Douglas, Fort, Cook and Rockland.

They will leave Government House at 12:15 p.m. to attend a government luncheon at the Empress Hotel and will travel along Rockland Avenue, Quadra, Burdett, Douglas and Belleville, entering the hotel through the main entrance on Government.

At 2:10 p.m. they are to leave for the airport for their trip to Vancouver. Later they will make a flying trip to Tahsis on the west coast of Vancouver Island.

Mexican City in Danger From Rio Grande Flood

HARLINGEN, Tex. (UPI) — The Rio Grande, bearing "one of the greatest floods on record," smashed out dam after dam today along the diversion channels designed to hold in its banks. Mexican officials said the city of Matamoros could be "totally flooded" in 36 hours.

The mighty river, swollen to three times its normal size with the rains of Hurricane Beulah, smashed out a steel-and-concrete dam Sunday night in the Harlingen area and flooded a normally dry diversion channel.

Another barrier gave way today south of Mission, Tex., west of Harlingen near Anzalduas Dam.

Mexican officials at Reynosa said the dikes burst there early today and drove 10,000 persons from their homes. Federal authorities warned that Matamoros downstream could be "totally flooded" within 36 hours.

Ninety blocks of Reynosa, across the border from McAllen, Tex., were flooded. Lowlying farm fields in a 30 mile area from Harlingen to Mercedes, Tex., were flooded Sunday night when the Arroyo Colorado, normally a trickle, erupted into a raging torrent when the Rio Grande smashed through the dam.

The second dam gave way today, imperiling an area about four to five miles wide. Thousands of persons fled their homes in the two Texas areas.

The Rio Grande was going down at Rio Grande City but the weather bureau said it "will experience one of the greatest floods on record during the next few days."

The levees at Brownville, 23 feet high, had been expected to hold, but officials began wording their predictions more cautiously, and the weather bureau said the Rio Grande would crest at Brownsville at between 20 and 21 feet Saturday.

All residents between the levees and the river were warned to flee for miles up from the gulf in case water spilled over the top.

The Rio Grande was flowing at 161,000 cubic feet per second, compared with 50,000 normally, and six other Texas rivers were carrying record or near-record floods to the gulf for 200 miles up the Texas coast, ravaged for five days last week with Beulah's hurricane winds, tornadoes, and floods.

The death toll stood at 40—11 in Texas and 20 earlier in Mexico and Caribbean. The damage total was expected to approximate $1 billion and was still growing. Hundreds of thousands

NEW SESSION BEGINS

It's New Look In Parliament

OTTAWA (CP) — A new-look Parliament reassembled today with John Diefenbaker, J. W. Pickersgill and Guy Favreau gone and Robert L. Stanfield guiding the Conservative Opposition from the galleries.

A rich legislative plate is being served for the occasion by the minority Liberal government, hoping for a new opposition mood with Mr. Stanfield.

Mr. Pearson told a press conference Sunday a statement on housing, a major problem because of lack of mortgage money, may open business.

A couple of minor bills probably would follow, then a few days on departmental spending estimates, with revision of broadcasting legislation to be introduced next week as the first big job.

ESSENTIAL LEGISLATION

With 44 sitting days available before the Christmas recess now set to begin Dec. 22, Mr. Pearson has set out 25 "essential" pieces of legislation he would like dealt with.

Among them are bills on divorce, abortion, birth control and capital punishment, with free votes to release MPs from party loyalties.

Standings in the Commons: Liberals 131; Conservatives 94; NDP 22; Creditistes 8; Social Credit 4; Independent 3; vacant 3—Total 265.

There was laughter and sadness as the Commons picked up where it left off July 7.

There was sadness when the prime minister and other party spokesmen paid tribute to the late Mr. Favreau, former Liberal justice minister.

There was laughter—and loud Liberal applause—a few minutes later when H. A. Olson, MP for Medicine Hat, crossed the floor from his Social Credit seat to join the Liberals.

Mr. Olson said he had resigned from Social Credit and been accepted by the Commons group which supports the government.

"Which group is that?" an unidentified opposition MP shouted.

The seat of deposed opposition leader Diefenbaker remained vacant.

Mr. Stanfield watched the proceedings from the opposition gallery with Gene Rhe-

THANT ON VISIT

Navy Crew Dismantles Expo Bomb

By BORIS MISKEW

MONTREAL (CP) — Secretary - General U Thant of the United Nations ended a weekend trip to Canada Sunday night and showed more concern for the international situation than the discovery of a bomb during his tour of Expo 67.

The bomb — dismantled six minutes before it was scheduled to go off — was found near Expo's 15-nation Africa Place which was on the secretary-general's itinerary.

U Thant's visit to Africa Place was cancelled.

The bomb, consisting of a 3.5-inch rocket launcher projectile, was found on a canal bank about 20 feet from Africa Place and was dismantled by a Canadian navy bomb disposal unit.

A report that a second bomb had been planted at Expo was checked by police and proved to be false.

The report said a bomb would go off at Habitat 67. U Thant had been the guest of Pierre Dupuy, commissioner - general of Expo, who has an apartment at the futuristic urban housing project.

U Thant did not touch on the bomb incident during a brief statement to reporters at Montreal International Airport before his departure for New York.

GREATEST DANGER

The secretary - general said the H-bomb is the greatest danger facing the world today.

"This is the tragedy of our times," he said. "The moral development of man has not been able to catch up with his scientific development."

He praised Canada's support of the United Nations and her achievement in making Expo a success.

"I've been tremendously impressed with Expo," U Thant said, "not only with the exhibition but also with the theme, Man and his World."

The secretary - general visited a number of pavilions during his 28-hour stay in Canada,

IN HOUSE

Starr Named Interim Tory Leader

OTTAWA (CP) — Michael Starr has been named interim opposition leader, Robert Stanfield, new Conservative leader, announced today after a caucus of Conservative MPs.

The 56-year-old former labor minister who was a candidate for the Conservative leadership will also act as House leader for the Conservatives.

Mr. Starr will be interim opposition leader until Mr. Stanfield finds a Commons seat. He will run for the Commons in the Nova Scotia riding of Colchester-Hants in a byelection called for Nov. 6.

Mr. Stanfield might win the seat by acclamation on nomination day, Oct. 23, if no other candidates oppose him.

Mr. Stanfield told reporters that he proposed to the caucus that Mr. Starr, MP for Oshawa, be interim leader.

UNANIMOUS CHOICE

Caucus chairman J. Waldo Monteith said the decision was unanimous.

Mr. Starr said the overseeing of the operations of various government departments had been distributed among several Conservatives so that he would not always be in the forefront in questioning of the government benches.

Separatism Concerns PM

By VICTOR J. MACKIE
Times Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA — Prime Minister Pearson voiced grave concern over separatist developments in Quebec following a federal Liberal caucus here Sunday.

The caucus spent much time discussing how best to challenge separatism and strengthen the bonds of confederation.

"I was struck by how very, very seriously this is being taken," said Mr. Pearson at a press conference. He said he would be making a statement soon on the problem to Parliament and the nation.

Mr. Pearson bluntly pinpointed the Quebec issue as a "major matter" of concern to "the caucus, the cabinet, parliament and the country."

He forecast it would occupy a "great deal" of the time of Parliament over the next month to six weeks. It was obvious that the Liberal members of Parliament at their two-day sessions in advance of today's resumption of the centennial sessions of Parliament spent much time arguing over French-speaking problems and the danger that Quebec may split away from the other nine provinces.

Caucus chairman Russel Honey (Durham) said there was a general agreement on the course the Liberal party should follow. Progress had been made although a consensus hasn't yet been reached.

Strain and Worry at Caucus Meet

The press conference was held Sunday in advance of a reception for Liberal members and senators. The end of the weekend saw an easy relaxed atmosphere replace the strain and worry of the caucus, but the prime minister's concern showed through.

The press conference was called by Mr. Honey, but he only handled the questions until the subject of Quebec separatism came up.

Yes, he said in reply to a question, there had been "concern" expressed over Quebec.

(Some members confided later that there had been some highly emotional debates on the subject of Quebec.)

Mr. Honey said the Quebec discussion was a "continuing debate." He believed some progress had been made. He suggested that the mood of the caucus had been one "generally supporting" the position of Justice Minister Pierre-Elliot Trudeau that a "particular status" for Quebec couldn't be the solution to the problem.

It was at this point that Mr. Pearson intervened to handle reporters' questions about the Quebec discussions. He did not quite accept Mr. Honey's interpretation of the mood of the party's caucus. However he did not explain how they differed.

"All are concerned," said Mr. Pearson "over some of the statements" that have been coming out of Quebec.

He explained that this concern involved not only the caucus but also the cabinet and predicted it would take up much of the time of parliament in the next few weeks. He added:

"When we have crystalized our views in the light of still continuing developments, then I think it will be up to me as prime minister and leader of the party to make a statement."

Such statement might come within the next couple of months, he suggested, and he spoke of wanting to await further developments.

Asked when he would make this statement in Parliament Mr. Pearson replied: "I don't know . . . perhaps before long . . . perhaps there will be a full-dress debate on it in Parliament."

Then he said he would prefer to await the outcome of the November confederation conference of the provinces called by Premier John Robarts of Ontario. Ottawa will assign some top ranking "official observers" to sit in on that conference.

Mr. Pearson would also like to see what happens at the federal-provincial conference he will be calling in January or February, to write into the Canadian Constitution the Bill of Rights. It will direct the use of

New Minster For Cabinet

OTTAWA (CP) — Charles Granger has resigned as Newfoundland's minister of Labrador affairs and will become minister without portfolio in the federal cabinet, Prime Minister Pearson announced today in the Commons.

He will become Newfoundland's representative in the cabinet, succeeding J. W. Pickersgill who resigned as transport minister last week upon his appointment as the $40,000-a-year president of the new Canadian Transport Commission.

Mr. Granger, 55, was Liberal MP for Grand Falls-White Bay-Labrador from 1958 until 1966, when he resigned to join the Newfoundland cabinet.

He is expected to be Liberal candidate in a Nov. 6 byelection called for Bonavista-Twillingate, Mr. Pickersgill's former seat.

MINI-SKIRT ESCAPADE UNNOTICED

Power of Press Protects Pincher

By EDDY GILMORE

LONDON (AP)—The Englishman is supposed to be the world's most avid reader of newspapers and this court case may prove it.

It started in the first-class compartment of a London commuter train. It held five men and a shapely, 19-year-old blonde.

All six were reading newspapers.

One, Alphonso Cuypers, 58, was doing something else, too.

Sitting beside the blonde, he gently laid a hand on her mini-skirted knee.

"I thought it was an accident," she told a court hearing the case against Cuypers.

Slowly, the middle-aged man lifted his hand and pinched the girl's thigh.

"I'm sorry," said the girl, "but I'm married."

None of the other four passengers raised his head or so much as glanced her way, the blonde testified.

The girl's reaction didn't discourage the pincher. He went on with his campaign, both in words and pinches.

Their fellow passengers read on.

"Leave me alone," the blonde cried out.

Still no one noticed.

The man then took the girl's hand in his.

"Can I have my hand back?" she asked.

Still no one stirred—except the girl.

Rising to her feet, she denounced her fellow travellers for their indifference to her plight.

Prosecuting Cuypers, lawyer John Craven told the court: "I understand that everybody on this train—from Bromley north to Cannon Street London—buries himself in his newspaper, every morning and every evening."

Pleading guilty to a charge of offensive behavior, the pincher, married and the father of four children, said: "It was completely out of character for me."

He was fined the equivalent of $56.70.

. . . As Some Squeeze Others Are Biting

BELO HORIZONTE, Brazil (Reuters)—Antonio Silverio, 63, served a three-day jail sentence here for biting a mini-skirted girl. On his release Friday, he told the judge: "Pope Paul was right when he considered mini-skirts dangerous." Silverio said he could not resist the temptation to bite her thigh when the girl crossed her legs beside him on a bus.

TODAY'S GRAIN PRICES

WINNIPEG (CP) — A moderate trade was concentrated in oilseeds on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange today.

Flax prices showed a firm undertone as reports of a lower flax acreage in Argentina this year stimulated some demand. There was evidence of overseas support.

Fairly active hedging sales appeared in rapeseed and flax and were well absorbed on the flax market. Rapeseed hedging sales and lower Chicago soybean prices contributed to easier prices in Winnipeg.

Oats and barley trade was light and connected with feed supply. Ships were loading at the lakehead as a result of a settlement in the Great Lakes shipping strike.

Rye prices were easier.

CHICAGO—Soyebans declined up to three cents on the Board of Trade, setting seasonal lows in every contract.

Corn futures, also under pressure of a huge U.S. production this year, also declined to new seasonal levels.

Also a big factor in the corn and soybean selloff was the harvest of the two commodities, now gaining momentum.

Wheat futures also were under selling pressure from the start. Oats and rye trade was light and prices were irregular.

'New Money' Proposal Studied

RIO DE JANEIRO (CP) — World finance leaders begin meeting today to pave the way for the creation of a new kind of money to support international trade.

The new money, devised by International Monetary Fund experts and approved by the 10 largest non-Communist industrial nations in London last month, will be used to supplement gold as a reserve for world commerce.

Approval of the Big Ten, who account for the bulk of world trade, would virtually assure endorsement by the other 96 IMF members, who are gathered here for the annual meeting of the fund's board of governors.

The new "money" is in the form of drawing rights to enable nations in balance-of-payments troubles to draw backing from the IMF in proportion to their participation in the fund.

Drawing rights are designed to cope with the need for extra reserves for world trade, which is normally backed by gold, the dollar and the British pound. Because world trade has been expanding faster than the gold supply economists are worried about a possible trade slowdown.

AMC Hikes Prices

DETROIT (AP) — American Motors said today its 1968 cars will carry price tags averaging $89 or 3.8 per cent higher than those on comparable 1967 models. AMC thus became the fourth U.S. car maker to increase prices on its 1968 models.

MARKET SUMMARIES

Mines Gain in Vancouver

Gains outnumbered losses on the mining section of the Vancouver Stock Exchange shortly before noon today.

Pine Point gained $1 to $52.50 since the close of trade Friday. Brenda put on 15 cents to $7.10 and Lornex advanced the same amount to $7.40.

Arctic increased six cents to $1.95. Dynasty dropped 10 cents to $7.35 and Silver Titan was off nine cents to $1.42.

In the industrials, Alcan put on 37 cents to $30.37.

IN NEW YORK the market maintained a strong balance in active trading. But prices had fallen below their best levels of the day.

The margin of advances among individual stocks over declines shrank to 7 to 5 from 2 to 1.

Motors, rubbers, aircrafts and oils advanced. Airlines, which had been generally ahead, turned mixed.

Du Pont's early gain of about 5 withered to about 3. General Motors advanced nearly 2 points.

Inco, a blue chip, gained a point among Canadians. Alcan was up ⅝, McIntyre ½ and Dome ¼. Granby lost 1¾, CP ⅝ and Hudson Bay ½.

IN TORONTO the market regained its composure in moderate mid-afternoon trading following a bout of profit taking.

The market was following the trend on the New York exchange.

Brokers say the market's recent strength reflects expected improved earnings for the last quarter of the year. They also say inflationary pressures are buoying prices.

Rockower moved up 2¼ to 11, Dominion Scottish 1¼ to 13¾, Alcan 1⅛ to 30⅝ and Inco and Alberta Gas Trunk 1 each to 116¾ and 36¼.

Westcoast Transmission backed off 1⅛ to 25 after the United States Federal Power Commission refused permission to El Paso Natural Gas to pay a higher price for gas it gets from Westcoast.

Profit takers trimmed uranium stocks as Denison fell 1¾ to 82¼ and Rio Algom ⅝ to 38½. Last week Denison an-29. Last week Denison announced it had agreed to sell 21,000,000 pounds of the metal to a group of Japanese utilities. Rio said it agreed to the sale of 10,000,000 pounds to the same group.

D'Eldona fell 15 cents to 1.55 in speculative mines.

AT MONTREAL prices were mixed in moderate trading as the industrial sector balked fractional losses among banks, papers and utilities.

Alcan jumped ⅞ to 30 on trading of 8,510 shares. International Nickel held last week's three-point rise and advanced ¼ to 116¼, still reaching to news of higher nickel prices.

Denison Mines fell 1¼ points to 82¼ after soaring more than five points last week on confirmation of a 10-year contract to sell uranium to Japan. Analysts said today's dip was due to profit-taking.

Among western oils, Union dropped 1 points to 49.

Among speculative mines and oils on the Canadian market, United Asbestos jumped 25 cents to $8 and Consolidated Quebec Smelting gained several cents. James Bay declined seven cents to 70 cents on volume of 93,400 shares.

AT LONDON, current interest rate fears continued to depress British funds.

The falls recorded towards the end of last week were extended by 5-16 or more.

The strength of Friday's Canadian markets brought selective buying of Canadian dollar stocks. Inco jumped 8 points and Canadian Husky 4¼ points. Several other Canadians were easier, particularly Consolidated Paper and Brazilian.
